SOUTHPAWS' BATTLE LIKELY AT ST. LOUIS

Hallahan and Walberg Are Probable Choices for Pitching Jobs.

CARDINAL SLUGGERS HAVE FAILED IN FRAYS

By SHIRLEY L. POVICH
(Sports Editor of The Post).

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3.—A city that tried to hide keen disappointment in a deliberate display of loyalty to its pennant winner, welcomed to the home heath today their Cardinals who had sallied East earlier in the week to salvage National League prestige and returned bloody with defeat and not unbowed by the weight of two decisive beatings at the hands of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics.

There was none of the spontaneity that greeted the Cardinals' clinching of the National League pennant in late September or none of the wild rejoicing evoked in the halcyon days of 1926 when the Cards rode to world series fame over the prostrate forms of the New York Yankees. The Cardinals were received by an informal crowd at the station and other thousands gathered along the path to their hotel in a manner befitting a team that had carried the name and fame of the city into a world series, but there was no great to-do about it.

Hallahan to Pitch.

Tomorrow, at old-fashioned Sportsman's Park, the new scene of the series and all its play-trappings, the Athletics and the Cardinals resume their battling in the third game. Manager Gabby Street has announced that he will entrust the fading hopes of the Cardinals to the pitching of "Wild Bill" Hallahan, little lefthander, and Connie Mack, as is his wont, has given no inkling as to his starting pitcher, although the experts who successfully foretold his choices for the first two games point a confident finger at George "Rube" Walberg, also left-handed.

Thus there is a prospect of a duel of southpaws in the third game of the series, but no more are Cardinal supporters looking to pitching duels in the light of the cannonading by the heavy artillery of the Athletics compared to the ineffectual sniping by Cardinal batters. Grave fears have supplanted the high hopes of St. Louis, the confidence in the Cardinals bogged down after the first game and was almost completely shattered by the second. Inning by inning, and game by game, the 1930 world series is taking on the appearance of another rout of the National League champions by the Americans.

Deeper and deeper in the role of the Pirates of 1927, the Cardinals of 1928, and the Cubs of 1929, do the Cards of 1930 appear to be cast with their play against the Athletics in the first two games serving to recall in mind the futile performances of the National League pennant winners, who won 12 of 13 world series games of that period, and have added the two games played thus far in the present series.

Southpaw Has Most "Stuff."

Hallahan will be the first lefthander to face the Athletics in the series and he is the Cardinal pitcher with the greatest "stuff." It was Hallahan's 1-0 victory against Vance, of the Robins, in ten innings, in a crucial game in the East, that was regarded as the turning point in the Cardinals' victorious dash to the pennant. Hallahan is a strike-out king, in his own right, and has demonstrated that his soubriquet of "Wild Bill" is more or less of a misnomer.

You will find shots of interest to everyone on this page and possibly you may see some of your neighbors or their children.

Calvin Coolidge

Says: Baseball is our national game. It is peculiarly a local product, with the widest popular appeal of any sport. This is because every play can be seen and the game is so easily comprehended that all its fine points can be appreciated. Moreover, while the expense of maintaining a professional team is very great, attendance is so large that admissions remain at popular prices.

It is natural to enjoy a contest. But the interest in baseball is not only from the matching of the skill of the opposing teams. Although the spectators do not touch the ball they nevertheless play a prominent part. Even a championship match with only one beholder would not be baseball. The outdoor air and relaxation from care are but partly the attraction. We go to the game in the hope that with three men on bases the batter for our team will drive the ball over the fence so that we can revel in the intoxication of crowd delirium. That is the common touch of nature reaching from the street urchin to the President, which lures us all to the ball field.

While the national sport flourishes we can be sure the race is not growing old.

CLARK TO SUCCEED MORROW IN MEXICO

TELLEZ GREETS CHOICE

(Associated Press.)

J. Reuben Clark, of Salt Lake City, was appointed late yesterday to succeed Dwight W. Morrow as Ambassador to Mexico.

Announcement of the appointment at the White House filled a vacancy which has existed for less than a week. Mr. Morrow resigned Tuesday to conduct his campaign in New Jersey for the Senate.

Mr. Clark, who served as counselor for the embassy under Mr. Morrow, is a former Undersecretary of State. He is credited with having a wide knowledge of Mexican affairs, and his appointment was described last night by Ambassador Tellez of Mexico as a "happy one."

The choice was regarded as in line with the announced policy of President Hoover of seeking men with wide experience in Latin-American affairs for those posts. Mr. Clark has been mentioned widely as the likely choice for several months.

Secretary of State Kellogg named Mr. Clark Undersecretary of State in 1928. On March 3, 1929, the eve of President Hoover's inauguration, the last revolution broke out in Mexico. Mr. Clark, who was in Washington, gathered the press dispatches describing the Mexican revolt and worked all night to prepare a memorandum on Mexican conditions which during his first day fo office aided President Hoover in the task of defining a United States policy toward the revolution.

Three months later Mr. Clark gave uphis work as Undersecretary to become personal advisor to Ambassador Morrow. In that capacity he gained an intimate knowledge of Mexico and the problems of that republic.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—J. Reuben Clark, today named United States Ambassador to Mexico, declined to comment on the appointment, pending receipt of official notification.

Mr. Clark is not unfamiliar with the duties incident to his new post, having acted as private counsel for Ambassador Morrow at two periods during the latter's stay in Mexico. He served in that capacity prior to his appointment in December, 1928, as Undersecretary of State and again after his retirement from that post in June, 1929. He returned only recently from Mexico for a short rest at his home here.

Mr. Clark has been in the Government service almost continuously

LEGION WILL EVADE DRY ISSUE DISPUTE

Officer Says Prohibition Is Closed Book and Will Not Be Discussed.

MEMBERS TAKE BOSTON

Boston, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Current reports that prohibition would be an issue before the annual convention of the American Legion here next week were checked today by Scott W. Lucas, national judge advocate, who declared prohibition to be a "closed book" as far as the business of the legion was concerned.

In a prepared statement, Lucas said:

"There frequently prevails in every city where a national convention of the American Legion is held an erroneous idea as to the part the American Legion, as a national organization, plays in practical politics.

"Frequently the question is asked as to what the position of the American Legion will be upon certain partisan issues or candidates seeking political office or preferment. Of course, the answer is obvious—absolutely nothing—and the reason why the American Legion does not participate in political issues or candidates is because of the clause in the national constitution of the American Legion which sets forth in no uncertain tones our standard upon practical politics as it exists in America today."

The clause referred to by Mr. Lucas says the legion "shall be absolutely nonpolitical and shall not be used for the dissemination of partisan principles nor for the promotion of the candidacy of any person seeking public office or preferment."

Mr. Lucas summarized the position of the legion with the statement: "We encourage every eligible voter to go to the polls and vote. We try to instill in his mind to vote intelligently; to study the issues of the day and then cast a vote accordingly."

Campaigns were already under way, with Los Angeles starting its boom to take the 1931 convention to the West Coast. Two of that city's delegates called attention to the fact that Los Angeles was in town by serenading Mayor James M. Curley with six shooters on the City Hall plaza. Another booster for the Pacific Coast city was R. H. Hazel, a native Bostonian, who drove here in his automobile to explain that Los Angeles has no coal wagons, no rain, no cold weather, no, &c., &c. Boston will have to listen to much more similar talk, as 300 more delegates from Los Angeles will arrive Sunday with their 80-piece band.

KELLEY SPURNS OIL LANDS QUIZ BY RICHARDSON

CHARGES JUSTIFIED, SENATOR NYE SAYS

ACCUSER EXPLOITED, IS WILBUR'S BELIEF

Secretary Thinks Man Has Fallen Into Designing Hands of Others.

(Associated Press.)

Ralph S. Kelley held a Justice Department investigation at arms length yesterday while he convinced the chairman of the Senate public lands committee he was "quite thoroughly justified" in his charges of maladministration of Colorado oil shale lands.

The former chief of the Denver Federal land office sent Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson a letter refusing to lay his charges before that official, saying he believed Richardson had prejudged his case. Nevertheless, the Justice Department determined to go ahead with the investigation.

The refusal of Kelley to go before Richardson brought a statement late in the day from Secretary Wilbur expressing belief that Kelley had fallen "into designing hands of those who could use him to their advantage" and was permitting himself to be exploited. The Secretary several days ago refused to accept Kelley's resignation and suspended him pending an investigation.

Charges Held Justified.

Senator Nye, chairman of the lands committee, after an hour's conference with the former Denver official said he believed Kelley was "quite thoroughly justified" in his charges. He added he was equally convinced, however, that Secretary Wilbur was not responsible for the alleged errors.

"Kelley's charges do not go to the door of Secretary Wilbur," Nye said. "There is a door to which his objections lead, however, and this door should be opened.

"I can't help but be impressed with the spirit moving Kelley at this stage. I think he is entitled to a thorough hearing."

The senator added that if the Department of Justice did not proceed with a thorough inquiry of the case he himself would introduce a resolution in the Senate calling for an investigation.

Impartial Inquiry Sought.

In his letter to Richardson Kelley said he had declined to lay the facts and details of his charges before him because he believed "the public interests require an investigation of these charges by an impartial body."

"Is it not true," Kelley asked, "that the opinions you have been reported as expressing are inspired by higher officials of the Interior Department?

"It is my view that members of the President's Cabinet are much too closely bound together to permit impartial investigations of each other."

He said he had made arrangements whereby "the principal facts supporting the allegations" he had made would be placed before the public. He referred to a series of articels he will write for a New York newspaper beginning Monday.

Richardson Expresses Surprise.

Richardson expressed surprise that Kelley had thought his case prejudiced. He recalled that on announcing his investigation he had promised to get all the facts and "let the ball roll where it may." He added, "Kelley would have helped himself and

MARTIAL LAW BILL FOR CUBA NEAR PASSAGE

Machado's Request Will Be Granted, Is Belief, Despite Dissent.

MEASURE LIKELY TO BE IN EFFECT TODAY

Leader of Popular Party Opposes Proposal in Senate.

600,000 AFFECTED BY RIGHTS' SUSPENSION

Loss of All Constitutional Privileges for Month Hangs on Result.

Havana, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—President Gerardo Machado's request for suspension of constitutional guarantees in the Havana region during the forthcoming elections campaign was reported tonight to be meeting with opposition in the Cuban senate but to be almost sure of ultimate passage.

Information obtained by the Associated Press from reliable sources was that the bill embodying the president's desires would be carried by both houses before 2 a. m. Saturday.

The measure, calling for enforcement of martial law until after the November 1 elections, was thought likely to be in effect before daybreak tomorrow.

Measure Affects 600,000.

The official gazette, in which all legislative acts must be published before becoming effective, was prepared to issue a special edition before dawn if it is approved.

In the senate Dr. Jose Manuel Cortina, leader of the Popular party, was said to be actively opposing the bill. His party recently consolidated with the Conservatives and Liberals.

Seventeen votes are necessary for approval, and with 21 of the 24 senators present, approval was expected.

The house of representatives was ordered to be prepared to take immediate action on the bill when it came from the senate.

Suspension of constitutional guarantees, if Congress accepts it, means the citizens of the Havana district, numbering about 600,000, or nearly a fifth of Cuba's population, will lose all constitutional privileges until after the elections.

Freedom of the press and of public speech, the right to assemble and the right to vote will be suspended.

As Emergency Precaution.

The message was drafted by President Machado as an extreme precaution against possible outbreaks of disorder during the forthcoming political campaign.

It was impelled by riots on Tuesday, in which a number of Cuban University students participated. One person was killed and about a dozen others, including six policemen, were wounded.

Usually well-informed sources at the presidential palace today said the president "did not intend to enforce application of the drastic limits afforded by the measure if passed."

It was stated that the Executive, in asking for approval of the plan to impose martial law, wanted full exercise of the power only in case of "extreme emergency."

Confident of Support.

"The President is fully aware of conditions in every part of Cuba," one well-known Government official said. "He merely wants to be fully prepared in the event that something unexpected happens.

"He is confident of the full support of the Army, and should there be any disturbance of a size to cause national concern—an eventuality we do not consider at all likely—it would be suppressed almost as quickly as it started."

It is in Havana that the opposition

PRISONER IN CHICAGO CONFESSES HIS PART IN MURDER OF LINGLE

Former D. A. R. Head Gets Divorce Decree

Mrs. Brosseau Charges Intolerable Cruelty to Husband.

Mrs. Grace Brosseau, former national president of the Daughters of the American Revolution and socially prominent here, yesterday in Bridgeport, Conn., was granted a divorce from her husband, Alfred Joseph Brosseau, president of the Mack Truck Co., and a vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The legal action, according to dispatches, charged "intolerable cruelty." Mrs. Brosseau told the court that on May 14 her husband struck her in the face in their Greenwich home during an argument over keys to their wine cellar. This testimony was corroborated by Mrs. Mary Plunkett and Mrs. Wilson Fielder, who said that they saw a red mark on Mrs. Brosseau's face while attending a dinner party at her home that night.

The Brosseaus were married December 20, 1899, while Mr. Brosseau was a resident of Kankakee, Ill. He was

DROVE GANG CHIEF TO SLAYING SCENE

TWO PUBLIC ENEMIES HIT B YGOVERNMENT

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The belief that there is a "well-established three-cornered alliance between the Chicago police department, the corrupt politicians and the criminal element wa's expressed by the September grand jury as it concluded its investigation into the affairs of racketeers and gangsters tonight.

At the same time, Coroner Herman Bundesen suddenly resumed the inquest into the death of Alfred (JJake) Lingle, Tribune reporter, who was shot to death last June. Dr. Bundesen and other authorities were uncommunicative about their reasons for the step.

Frank Bell, prisoner in the county jail, was called before a coroner's jury tonight to tell his version of who killed Lingle. In suddenly reopening the Lingle inquest, Coroner Bundensen said Bell had confessed taking part in the slaying plot and had named two confederates.

Blond Man Fired Shot.

Coroner Bundensen said Bell had admitted to police that he drove Joe Traum, northern Indiana gang leader, and Richard M. Sullivan to Michigan avenue and Randolph street just before Lingle was killed and the two got out there and met a blonde young man, who fired the fatal shot.

Sullivan according to authorities has been identified as the slayer of Christ Patras, a cafe owner, who is understood to have acted as agent for Jack Zuta, slain Moran gangster, in agreeing to pay $10,000 for the Lingle killing.

Angry at Sullivan.

Bell was arrested late in June, after the Patras slaying. He became angered, police said, because Sullivan did not come to visit him and gave the information which led to the latter's arrest late in July. Both have been in jail since and have confessed to many robberies. Traum is in the Federal prison at Leavenworth.

No comment was forthcoming from police concerning the capture today of a young man giving the name of Lionel Burbe. Identified as a laundry robber, he was described tonight by Police Lieut. William Blaul as fitting the description of the Lingle slayer "more than anyone so far arrested."

The grand jury's statement and the coroner's action came at the close of a day that saw Jack and Sam Guzik, "public enemies" and Capone gangsters, idicted by a Federal grand jury on charges of dodging taxes on incomes aggregating $500,000, thus bringing the pair into an engagement with the Government in addition to the state vagrancy charges they already face.

Business Men Involved.

In a leter to Chief Justice John P. McGoorty the grand jurors blamed the three-cornered alliance" for "the murder of three business men and 11 officials of labor unions during the last three years. They also declared that business men, themselves, had become involved in racketeering through collusive agreements by which they sought to establish them-

LAWYERS IN VIRGINIA FOR DRY ACT REPEAL

1,250 of 2,200 Cast Votes; Voiding of Law Desired 943 to 307.

ASSOCIATION IS POLLED

Richmond, Va., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Virginia lawyers who voted at all by 3 to 1 favored repeal of the eighteenth amendment, it is shown in results of a referendum among all State lawyers, compiled tonight by C. M. Chichester, secretary of the State Bar Association.

There were 1,250 ballots returned of a total of 2,200 sent out, 943 voting for repeal of the prohibition amendment and 307 against.

The referendum was ordered by the Virginia State Bar Association on August 8 during its annual convention at Old Point Comfort after vigorous debates. The vote on adoption of a resolution authorizing the referendum was 92 to 54.

A resolution setting forth reasons in favor of repeal was first introduced, signed by 50 association members, but a shorter resolution which made no statement in favor of either side was later introduced by S. S. P. Patterson, of Richmond, and after amendments was substituted and adopted.

The resolutoin as passed and set forth on the ballots mailed out was as follows:

"Whereas, a resolution has been presented to the association calling for an expression by the members of the bar of Virginia of their opinions on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

"Now, therefore, be it resolved,

"That this association favors the submission of this question to the members of the bar of Virginia before September 1, 1930, a ballot printed under this resolution marked:

"For or against the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

"To be marked and also signed by such member, together with a stamped envelope addressed to the secretary of the association, to be mailed not later than October 1, 1930.

HOOVER'S G. O. P. AID IN NEW YORK HINTED

ANOTHER STRADDLE SEEN

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Accepting renomination tonight, Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt asserted that the reply of Charles H. Tuttle, the Republican nominee, as to signing a State enforcement act, "bears earmarks" of President Hoover's "policy of being wet and dry at the same time."

The governor said Mr. Tuttle's answer was "not forthcoming until my friend had hastened over to Philadelphia and consulted with the President himself."

Saying that Tuttle's reply, when it was made after two days, was evasive, he exclaimed it was "the same old story of Republican hypocrisy."

"Three days ago," the governor went on, "I asked my opponent whether or not he would sign a State enforcement act, a question based on a widespread belief that some agreement of this kind was made to secure the support of Assemblyman Jenks and other dry leaders who have fought for this measure for so many years.

"It required over two days of painful meditation before a reply to this very simple question could be prepared, and it is noteworthy that the answer was not forthcoming until my friend hastened over to Philadelphia and consulted with the President himself. His answer bears earmarks of the Presidents' policy of being wet and dry at the same time. It is characteristic of the way the question was dodged in the national campaign in calling the eighteenth amendment a 'noble experiment.'

"Listen to what he says: 'I believe that legislation extending to counties or other political subdivisions full power within their own borders to use their local courts and police in the enforcement of prohibition should be immediately enacted.' And then he goes on to say: 'I would not approve a state-wide law following the provisions of the Volstead act.' He does not say, 'I would not approve a State enforcement act.' Who is hedging now? Oh, yes, 'wet to the wets and dry to the drys.' The same old story of Republican hypocrisy."

Chewning Will Take Post As Official at Mayflower

Young Bank Clerk Who Eloped With Margo Couzens Will Attend to Society Functions to Be Held at Hotel.

As they say in the success magazines, William Jeffries Chewning, jr., at last has found himself. The erstwhile bank clerk, who last Spring eloped with Margo Couzens, daughter of the enormously rich Senator James Couzens of Michigan, has long believed that his best oportunity for a career lay in the hotel business. He now has entered it.

Wearing a frock coat and light gray trousers, Mr. Chewning will take up his new post in the lobby of the Mayflower Hotel Monday morning.

His title will be assistant manager, and his main duty will be looking after the society affairs that are held in the Mayflower.

Mr. Chewning is not entirely unfamiliar with his new work. As a leader of the Bachelors Cotillion here, he has frequently been called upon to cooperate with hotel officials in making arrangements for various affairs. Nevertheless, Daniel J. O'Brien, president and managing director of the Mayflower, is determined that Mr. Chewning, like all other beginners, must go through a course of training.

In his new job, Mr. Chewning will have to endure hours much longer than those in the banking and brokerage business. He will go to work at 8 in the morning and quit some time in the early evening.

An Outstanding Feature in The Sunday Post—

Borrowing on Automobiles

Thousands of Washington automobile owners pressed for money borrow on their cars. The so-called auto finance companies and other agencies in this business are reaping a harvest.

Official records show that these lenders do a business of approximately $1,000,000 a year on notes secured by automobiles alone, in addition to the vast sums secured by salary attachments or chattel trusts on other property such as furniture.

A study of the records reveals much intensely interesting information about the way in which these money lenders operate, who they are and the tremendous amount of money involved in their transactions.

The Post tomorrow will publish facts and figures showing the extent of this branch of the local loan industry and details describing the methods employed by the lenders.

Dry Agent Aided by Curtis Discharged From Service

Pittsburg, Kans., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—William M. Joerling, special Federal prohibition investigator, today announced the discharge of Willis A. Buck, an enforcement agent, storm center of a recent controversy between Vice President Curtis and Maj. Maurice Campbell, former New York prohibition director.

Buck, who had been a Federal agent for several years, was dismissed September 30, Mr. Joerling said. Dismissal followed his suspension September 27.

Two months ago Buck was transferred from Crawford County, Kans., where he had been stationed most of the past year, to Oklahoma. Joerling said the charges against the agent included being absent from his station without leave, alleged collusion with law violators and an alleged assault without justification on a private citizen in Oklahoma.

The investigator said representatives of the prohibition service were continuing a probe into Buck's activities. A recent investigation of prohibition agents in Crawford County, Joerling announced, resulted in Bucks' dismissal.

In copyrighted articles appearing recently, Maj. Maurice Campbell, former prohibition director for New York, charged that Vice President selves in a preferential position in their respective trades. These business men, the jury charged, have conspired with labor leaders to win excessive profits and have associated with gangsters and corrupt politicians to maintain discipline within the racket and to escape prosecution.

"We are convinced," the letter read, "that the forthright destruction of racketeering is of the utmost importance to the people of Chicago and Cook County. Racketeering strikes at the very fundamentals of liberty of action. To an alarming extent, racketeering has been seized upon by otherwise respectable groups of business men as an accepted method of meeting present-day problems of trade competition."

Citizens Lose $100,000,000.

The grand jurors were responsible for raids on ten labor unions and the resultant seizure of records indicating that hoodlums had forced their way into control of several legitimate organizations.

"Our investigation," the grand jurors concluded, "causes us to believe that this manipulation of trade by conspiracy costs the citizens of Cook County no less than $100,000,000 a year."

The indictment against Jack Guzik, reputed chief collector for Al Capone, charges he had more than $1,000,000 income during the three years for which the tax evasion is alleged. Sam's income for the same period was alleged to have been about $250,000.

President Returns From Trip to Ohio

(Associated Press.)

Back from his two-day trip to Cleveland and Philadelphia, President Hoover has the week-end to spend at home before he departs again tomorrow night to speak twice in Boston on Monday and again on Tuesday at Kings Mountain battlefield, South Carolina.

He was considering going today to his mountain lodge in Virginia, where his son, Herbert Hoover, jr., is taking medical treatment for a tubercular infection.

An accumulation of work lay on the Chief Executive's desk upon his return early yesterday from the Ohio city where he addressed the American Bankers Association. Because of this, he was undecided whether he would be able to motor to the Rapidan river lodge. If he does, he will return late Sunday and leave a few hours later for Boston.

There he is to address the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor, leaving immediately afterward on his special train for a 21-hour run to the sesquicentennial anniversary celebration of the Battle of Kings Mountain.

Key West Boosted By Pilotage Slash

50 Per Cent Cut Made in Charges Exacted From Ships.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—By reducing pilotage charges 50 per cent, Key West has attracted wide attention and bids fair to become an important port of call for ships plying between European countries and South America through the Panama Canal.

Members of the Key West Pilot Commission point out that since the low rates became effective, hundreds of foreign vessels have come to the port for refueling and repairs.

Inquiries concerning the port and harbor have been received from many European countries. American shipping interests have also commended the move.

Aerial "Battleship" Built for England

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Great Britain, restricted in the building of warships by the London naval treaty, has launched the first of a new line of aerial battleships that carries torpedoes, bombs and machine guns with a crew of 20.

Built secretly here, the first of the new type of aircraft has been accepted by the British government. Cooking and heating are done by electricity. Other details of the craft have been kept secret.

BOY SHUNS SCHOOL; PARENTS MAY FACE JUDGE AS RESULT

WOULD HIDE IN CELLAR WHEN TEACHER NEARED

Psychiatrist Urges He Be Excused, but Law Has No Loopholes.

He hates school.

He hates it so much that his parents haven't the heart to make him go, and because of this sympathy they are facing probable prosecution and, possibly, jail.

His name is Earl White, and he's 13 years old. He lives at 501 I street southeast. On October 14, 1927, he was truant from the Dent School, according to a report in the hands of Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou. On October 18 of the same year he was turned over to Friendship House. He ran away. On October 21 he was transferred to St. Theresa's Parochial School at the request of his parents.

Examined by Psychiatrist.

He ran away from this place on October 24. A psychiatrist examined him and recommended that he be excused from school. Then, in October, 1929, his case was referred to the research department of the District school system. The department recommended that his case be submitted to the Juvenile Protective Association. The association sent a tutor to his home three days a week last year.

This tutoring wasn't satisfactory, it developed. Often, when the teacher was in sight of the house, Earl would run away and hide in the cellar.

Law Orders Him to Go.

Nevertheless, school authorities are compelled, under the school attendance law, to see that the boy goes to school. Only children incapable of being educated are excused from school attendance, and Earl is not considered that by the last psychiatrist who examined him.

The parents won't force him to go to school. So Dr. Ballou has appealed to the District Commissioners to invoke the aid of the Corporation Counsel. If the Commissioners concur in this, the parents will be sent to court.

Meanwhile, Earl is staying out of school, and he seems satisfied. Incidentally, he has two brothers who went through school here. They liket it.

25 Per Cent Inarticulate Speech Is Understood

Los Angeles, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Even when he fails to hear correctly 25 per cent of the sounds in speech a normal person understands the conversation. Experiments showing this are reported to the Acoustical Society of America by Vern O. Knudsen, of the University of California.

"Actual tests," he says, "in a quiet open space have indicated that with average speakers and listeners the articulation will be about 96 per cent. A rating of 100 per cent, that is, perfect articulation, can never be attained."

Wrecks, Storms Don't Tie Up "Big Board"

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Wrecks, storms or disasters seldom disorganize the New York Stock Exchange. There is a huge map of the New York metropolitan district in the personnel director's office, with a small tin flag bearing the name of each employe in the exact spot of his residence.

Between 7 and 9 a. m. the exchange is kept informed of wrecks, storms or other occurrences which might delay arrival of employes. If delays occur, workers are quickly shifted so that vacant positions are filled by the time the gong sounds for the market's opening.

WALKER FORCED ISSUE

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Seven Tammany district leaders who also hold city office capitulated today to Mayor Walker's mandate that they withdraw their refusals to waive immunity before the special grand jury investigating charges of judicial corruption here.

Their offer to testify, however, was promptly refused by Special Prosecutor Todd, in charge of the grand jury's inquiry, who said their proffered waivers were "limited or qualified." He said they would have to sign unconditional waivers before the grand jury would accept their testimony.

A few minutes before the 4 o'clock deadline which Mayor Walker set for them to waive immunity or quit their city posts, the Tammany men announced their readiness to accede to the demand.

Seven identical letters were addressed by them to the foreman of the grand jury and seven to Mayor Walker, declaring they were ready to "testify to any of my acts or conduct in the discharge of my official duties and waive immunity with respect thereto."

Todd said he considered it "significant" the offer was "limited to their official acts and conduct, although it has been made clear by Justice McCook in his instructions to the special grand jury that the Attorney General, with his present limited authority from the governor, is not in a position to present to the grand jury any evidence in reference to the official acts or conduct of any persons."

In ordering the grand jury empaneled, Gov. Roosevelt authorized the Attorney General to present only evidence bearing on charges that former Magistrate George F. Ewald paid for his appointment to office. The grand jury, which itself has the broad powers of any grand jury, has requested the governor to extend the power of the Attorney General in presenting evidence.

In was indicated at city hall tonight that no District leader holding office by appointment of the mayor would be in danger of losing his job if he refused to testify on matters apart from his official acts or conduct.

After being shown a copy of Mr. Todd's letter rejecting the offers to waive immunity, the mayor said:

"I am sorry Mr. Todd didn't accept the offers * * * because if there is anything wrong, I am anxious to know of it. If the inquiry is into their domestic affairs, that's different."

Contractors Go To Fall Meeting

Headed by Edward J. Harding, general manager, ten Washington members of the national staff of the Associated General Contractors of America yesterday left the Capital to attend the three-day fall meeting of the executive and advisory boards and presidents' and secretaries' councils of the contractors' organization, which opens Monday at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y.

One of the principal matters to be considered at the gathering is the program of A. E. Horst, of Philadelphia, president of the association, for the revival of residential construction through complete reformation of home financing practices. Mr. Horst is a member of the planning committee of the White House conference on home building and home ownership and will announce at the Rye meeting the program which he submitted at the initial White House meeting two weeks ago.

In addition to Mr. Harding, who is accompanied by Mrs. Harding, those attending the meeting from Washington are S. M. Williams, president of the Bureau of Contract Information, Munsey Building; H. E. Foreman, engineer of the association; Harry J. Kirk, assistant engineer and former director of highways for the State of Ohio; W. R. Richards, safety director; E. J. Brosnan, assistant treasurer; Ralph D. Winstead, editor of the official publication of the association; Charles S. Embrey, manager of the affiliated bureaus; Miss Pauline Grant, secertary to the general manager, and Whitman P. Conn. Col. George B. Walbridge, of Detroit, past president of the association, also accompanied the group from Washington.

Boy Airplane Joyrider Killed as Craft Falls

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Jack Kohler, 15-year-old Plainfield boy, was killed at Hadley Airport today in a 30-foot crash of an airplane he and another boy had borrowed without the owner's permission. His companion, Thomas Davis, 16, was seriously injured.

The plane was owned by John Hooe, of Mount Rainier, Md. Witnesses said the machine climbed about 30 feet before it nose-dived to the ground. The authorities were unable to determine which boy operated the dual controls.

Vare Is Ill at Summer Home With Heavy Cold

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—William S. Vare, Republican leader of Philadelphia, is ill at his summer home on South Berkely square, Chelsea, with a heavy cold.

First reports were that he had suffered another stroke, but these were subsequently denied by his daughter, Miss Beatrice Vare. Dr. John J. Shaw, of Philadelphia, is in attendance.

It is estimated that a 240-acre ranch near Oxnard, Calif., will yield 2,500 tons of onions this year.

To Shrine of Field Many Are Drawn

Popularity of Famous Poet and Columnist Is Undiminished.

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The popularity of Eugene Field, the famous former columnist and children's poet, is growing rather than diminishing, the increasing number of visitors to his burial shrine indicates.

Field is buried in a shaded cloister close beside the Episcopal Church of the Holy Comforter at Kenilworth, a short distance north of Chicago. An iron railing surrounds the tomb, a hundred trees and shrubs make its setting, and a marble altar stands nearby.

The number of visitors to the shrine grows year by year, according to the rector of the church, and the number of children who come there to pay their respects to the memory of the poet, he says, is especially remarkable.

New Statue of Lincoln Rises Where He Fought

Dixon, Ill., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A new Lincoln in bronze, looking out over the Rock River Valley, has taken its place among the hundreds of memorials to the Civil War President.

Beacon to Guide Pilots On South Atlantic Route

Recife, Pernambuco, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Navigators on the regular Europe-Brazil ocean lane and airmen winging their way between the African and South American continents soon will have an air beacon to guide them far out in the Atlantic.

The Brazilian navy is starting construction on a beacon on the rocky islets of Sao Pedro and Sao Paulo, those two dots just north of the equator and 340 miles from Brazil's important penal island of Fernando do Noronha.

Stenog Borrows to Buy Part of Insurance Firm

El Dorado, Ark., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Miss Alice Ruth Wilson is part owner of an insurance business which she began as a stenographer because she borrowed money at the right moment.

When an opportunity came to purchase a half interest in the business she borrowed several thousand dollars. She kept steadily at work pounding keys for the next two years and paid the sum back. Now she is senior member of the firm, which carries an approximate volume of $125,000 in premiums annually.

JUSTICE OIL INQUIRY SCORNED BY KELLEY

us too if he had given us a statement."

The statement given out by the Department of Justice said in part:

"From the time this inquiry was undertaken by the Department of Justice until the receipt of Kelley's letter today, the Assistant Attorney General in charge has made every effort by one means or another to get into communication with Kelley and obtain from him a specific statement, but without success.

"We regret that Kelley has declined to give Department of Justice officials any statement or reference to specific cases which would expedite the inquiry and aid us in ascertaining the facts. Notwithstanding his attitude, the Assistant Attorney General in charge will proceed with his inquiry to ascertain the situation in the Interior Department respecting the administration of this part of the public domain."

Own Recommendations Cited.

Secretary Wilbur, said Kelley, "must base his charges on my official acts, more than three-fourths of which were taken upon his recommendation."

"Of the 62 claims that have gone to patent since March 4, 1929, when this Administration came into office, 50 had come from the Denver office and had been passed on by Kelley himself," he stated. These 62 patents, plus two approved but not yet issued, he said, covered 38,000 acres.

"Kelley has been overruled on but a single one," he added.

"Kelley had written me voluminously in criticism of conditions as he found them in the field and he was brought to Washington that he might be given every opportunity to present to me any facts in his possession regarding the pending claims for patents on oil shale lands. He arrived in Washington in my absence, was not in the department on my return, and made no attempt to see me despite the fact that the purpose in bringing him to Washington was to give him every opportunity to correct the ills of which he complained."

COMMODITY BUYING IS URGED BY GREEN

SEES FAVORABLE SIGNS

(Associated Press.)

Increased purchase of commodities was urged yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as a means of stabilizing business conditions. The suggestion was made in the monthly survey of business issued by the labor federation.

"Business men," Mr. Green said, "can hasten revival and improve their own trade without undue risk by such policies as these:

"1—Cut overhead costs (without reducing wages), by improving equipment and eliminating waste;

"2—Order ahead; start to work up a normal spring supply;

"3—Improve quality of product and reduce prices;

"4—Stimulate trade by advertising and special efforts."

Mr. Green added these measures "will increase employment and put products within reach of this year's low incomes" and wage earners "can help produce better articles at lower cost by improving the quality of their work and increasing efficiency."

"For the first time in many months," Mr. Green said, "business opportunity is opening. Fundamental adjustments have been made, favorable signs are appearing. Our foreign trade shows signs of improving, wholesale prices are more stable, retail prices are down nearer the point where workers can buy, the outlook for employment is better and that means increased workers' buying power. Stores see their customers coming back. Opportunity is here for those who are ready to make the best of it."

Mr. Green asserted that the course of business in the "coming four weeks will determine the prospects for next winter" and that "if we want to avoid a winter like last year's we must plan for it now by using every intelligent means of promoting business revival."

BODY OF MAN FOUND HANGING FROM LIMB

IDENTIFICATION BY WIFE

Knight immediately cut a belt which was holding the body up and called the Fourteenth Precinct station. Godbury was removed to Emergency Hospital in the police emergency car, where he was pronounced dead. Doctors at the hospital stated that death was caused by strangulation and iodine poisoning.

Mrs. Helen Godbury later viewed the body at the District morgue and identified it as that of her husband. She gave despondency as a possible cause of the act, and a certificate of suicide was issued by Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt.

Mr. Godbury came to Washington about ten years ago from Indianapolis, where he is sai dto have been employed in the editorial department of the Indianapolis News. He was a member of the National Press Club.

Taking Mrs. Godbury's pet bull dog "Peggy" with him, he drove his sedan from the garage at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning and was not seen until his body was discovered late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Godbury found the car parked on Connecticut avenue near Garfield street with all windows closed. The dog was inside.

Lord Runs Elevator As Wife Uses Ticket

53-Year-Old Operator in Iowa Has Become Baronet.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Dick Wolseley will continue to operate an office building elevator while his bride does the honors incumbent upon the wife of an English noble-man.

That Dick was Sir Reginald Beatty Wolseley became known this summer when it was revealed that he had married Marian Elizabeth Baker, of Brixham, Devonshire, England. He had been in the United States 33 years.

Wolseley said he married Miss Baker, a companion of his mother, that she might attain a social position only open to those of nobility. The 53-year-old operator became a baronet several years ago when a cousin on his mother's side died without an heir.

CHINA BANDITS KILL TWO BRITISH WOMEN

PAIR CAPTURED IN JUNE

London, Oct. 3. (A.P.).—News which horrified all England was received in a cable to the London headquarters of the Church Missionary Society today, saying two of its women missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor June Harrison, had been shot by the Chinese bandits who held them captive since last June.

The mesage which told of the tragedy was very brief:

"Nettleton and Harrison shot. Consul and Sills returning Foochow."

The envoy referred to is the British consul at Foochow, A. J. Martin, who had gone upriver from Foochow to negotiate the release of the women. Mr. Sills is the Rev. Alfred Sills of the Christian Missionary Society, who accompanied Mr. Martin on his mission.

Tonight the foreign office said it had received a message from Mr. Martin while he was in the interior, stating briefly he had received word from Kienyang saying Miss Nettleton and Miss Harrison had been shot.

The women were captured at Chungan, northern Fukien province, last June while traveling to Kienningfu. There were long negotiations for their release, and at one time the bandits sent what purported to be one of Miss Nettleton's fingers to the British consular authorities, threatening death to the women if $10,000 ransom were not paid. The bandits first asked $100,000, reduced it later to $50,000 and eventually got down to $10,000.

All here who knew the women testified today to the courage and devotion which impelled them to follow their arduous and dangerous work through many years in strife-torn China.

GROUP WILL FIGHT RUSSIAN 'DUMPING'

LAUDS SENATOR ODDIE

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—J. Carson Adkerson, president of the American Manganese Producers Association, announced today the formation of a committee to assemble information and present a united appeal in behalf of American industries affected by Soviet "dumping."

The committee calls itself the joint conference on unfair Russian competition, and Mr. Adkerson said it represented the lumber, match, sausage casing, glue, coal and manganese industries.

Among those attending a series of conferences which resulted in formation of the committee were James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany; Robert E. Dwyer, vice president of the Anaconda Copper Co.; Walter Gordon Merritt and William P. Benz, of the Anthracite Institute; Dr. Wilson Compton, C. W. Bahr and J. H. Simcoe, of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Also H. B. Sweatt, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Glue Manufacturers; Ned G. Begle, president of the Berst-Forster-Dixfield Co.; A. J. Seligman, president of the Butte Copper & Zinc Co.; Harold A. Pumpelly, vice president of the Domestic Manganese & Development Co., and Bernard S. Barron, of Barron, Rice & Rockmore.

The committee's first act today was to send a telegram to Senator Tasker L. Oddie in Washington expressing appreciation of his announced intention to introduce a bill in the next congress to place an embargo on certain commodities now being imported from Russia.

CHARGES NOT YET KNOWN TO BISHOP

Cannon Says, Hoover, He Is Giving Consideration to "New Attacks."

CALLS TERM ILLEGAL

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., said yesterday he was giving careful consideration to "the new attacks" made upon him by four ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, but that he had not been informed of the specific nature of the accusations.

The 63-year-old Methodist churchman said he had con ferred yesterday with Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, with whom the charges were filed, but he declined to discuss the conference. Bishop Ainsworth, who left immediately for Birmingham, is understood to have decided to appoint a committee of twelve clergymen to investigate the complaints.

While the charges have not been made public, they are understood to include the bishop's political and stock market activities, as well as new accusations. Dr. Forrest J. S. Prettyman, of aBltimore, one of the accusers, has said the charges include "all that has been in the newspapers, and more."

Cheerfully attending to his duties as chairman of the church's Board of Temperance and Social Service, Bishop Cannon reiterated that the method employed by the four ministers is contrary to church law. This has been denied by at least two of the ministers.

Bishop Cannon said the conference with Ainsworth was "official" and that "naturally" he would not discuss it. He added that Bishop Ainsworth had not brought with him a copy of the charges.

"I do not knew what they are," he asserted, "but naturally I am giving careful attention to the new attacks."

Under church law, if an investigating committee is appointed it would determine whether a trial would be warranted at the next session of the general conference in 1934. Should it decide for a trial, the bishop would be suspended until that time.

New York Casino May Be Padlocked

Government Moves Aganist Place Because of Rum Brought Into It.

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A suit to padlock the Central Park Casino for a year was begun in Federal court today by the Government as an upshort of a raid several months ago in which liquor said to have been brought in by a patron was seized.

The casino belongs to the city but was leased by it to the Dieppe Corporation in whcih Sidney Solomon and A. J. Drexel Biddle, jr., are officers. It was opened under its present management a year ago last June as 't'he world's finest restaurant. A dining place for society around which the cultured life of the city can rotate."

Federal attorneys said no charges were made that liquor was made or sold at the casino, but that there was precedent for the padlocking of premises where "setups" of ginger ale or mineral water were sold.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

ANY one with the slightest tenderness in his make-up can't help but feel sorry for these political boys whose heads are to be cut off in November. He cannot entirely escape, in fact, the feeling of depression that has come over them as the steadily shortening days and the falling leaves usher in the long wintry political night.

It is the uncertainty of just whose scalp is to fall that makes it all so terrible. The suspense is nerve-racking.

Through the sunshine of summer he moved fearlessly, relentlessly up the hill, pushing aside all opposition, and coming at last to rest with the Republican gubernatorial nomination of Pennsylvania.

And there he is now at the top of that hill with the nomination in his hands but with the summer light fading fast before the onrush of winter, and with the all-important question of whether the Vare Philadelphia machine will support him still unanswered.

* * * *

IT is important that he should have the answer, one way or the other. If the Vare machine is to cut him as reports are rife that it will do, then the fearless Mr. Pinchot could make capital by attacking it from one end of the State to the other.

This is just exactly what he did so successfully in the primary campaign. The voters had to choose then between his decency in government and the indecency of the Philadelphia crowd, he said.

But ordinary prudence prompts Mr. Pinchot to silence on the Philadelphia crowd now. After all they are Republicans and he is their standard bearer.

* * * *

IF they are to cut him on election day, though—then he might very well revert to his attacks of the primary campaign.

It must be sheer devilishness on the part of the Philadelphia boys not to tell him just what they are going to do. They prefer to keep him guessing.

As a result the outspoken Mr. Pinchot is in a quandary as to whether to again hold the vicious Philadelphians up to public scorn or to keep quiet about them in conformity with that old political rule that bygones are bygones.

DRYS ARE SATISFIED WITH WINE DICTUM

BISHOP INTERPRETS LAW

Dry leaders are satisfied with the attitude of Prohibition Director Woodcock on the manufacture and use of wine. The Antisaloon League, the Methodist Board and Bishop James E. Cannon, jr., agree that he stands squarely on the Volstead act, and will prosecute those who make and sell or transport wine for beverage purposes.

Bishop Cannon, chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, said that Mr. Woodcock can not change the law, but "merely indicate the policy of the Government in enforcement and outline difficulties which the Government may have in enforcing the law."

Mr. Cannon said he was one of seven who wrote the prohibition amendment and he knows what it means.

"It distinctly says," he declared, "that the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation, &c., of intoxicating liquor is prohibited. That means anywhere—in the home or anywhere else, and the Volstead act, defines intoxicants as anything containing one-half of 1 per cent alcohol. Nobody can change that fact."

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, executive secretary of the Methodist board, takes a similar view.

Members of the Wickersham Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement are on their way here for the first fall meeting next Wednesday. Kenneth Mackintosh, of the State of Washington, has been here two weeks. He came prepared to urge the other members of the body to make a clear-cut report on prohibition enforcement. He wants the commission to say whether or not, in its opinion, the Volstead act can be enforced. Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School, is also here. He would not comment on the Mackintosh program.

Addressing the Industrial Advisory Council appointed by him to cooperate with the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol in working out problems arising under the prohibition act, Commissioner J. M. Doran promised that "legitimate business will be promoted and safeguarded." He said that "all legitimate users of industrial alcohol are assured an ample supply of alcohol under fair administrative conditions."

In a letter to Attorney General Mitchell yesterday Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, appealed for fair treatment to reputable physicians. He said he had been receiving letters saying that the Prohibition Bureau would reduce the allowance of whisky, now 6 quarts per year, for office use. His informants, he explained, may be in error, but "the Federal Government should not look upon the medical profession of the country as a lot of bootleggers and rumrunners."

Antismoke Law To Be Enforced

District Health Officer Issues Warnings to Violators.

A warning that violators of the antismoke law will be prosecuted in the courts was issued yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer.

"There have been many complaints of violations of the smoke law received in the last few days and our investigations have disclosed that the owners and operators of many buildings are violating the law," Dr. Fowler said. "Violations of the law must stop. The sudden jump in the number of violations has been due, probably, to the fact that numbers of furnaces have been fired in the last few days for the first time in several months. That does not justify careless handling, however."

Owners of two large downtown stores and two downtown apartment houses were given specific warning yesterday by the health officer that any further violation of the smoke law would result in immediate application to the courts for informations for th arrest of those responsible.

Officers of the District of Columbia Chapter, American War Mothers, were elected at a brief meeting held last night in the Hamilton Hotel. No other business was transacted. Mrs. Kate Morrison, president; Mrs. E. C. Wagner, recording secretary, and Mrs. May D. Lightfoot, corresponding secretary, were reelected.

Other officers elected were: Mrs. Lucy Cash, first vice president; Mrs. Ida Smith, second vice president; Mrs. C. B. Douch, third vice president; Mrs. John Spengler, fourth vice president; Mrs. Mary T. Shanahan, treasurer; Mrs. Mary L. Fisher, custodian of records; Mrs. Fannie Smith, historian, and Mrs. Sarah E. Deeds, chaplain.

Speaker Longworth Back From Vacation

(Associated Press.)

Speaker Longworth returned to Washington yesterday after a vacation at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., and at Newport, R. I., to prepare a radio speech he will deliver Monday night.

In his address, Mr. Longworth will discuss the Hoover administration and activities in the Senate and House during the last session of Congress.

has the "welcome" sign out and many of them within the metropolitan area have arranged receptions for the visiting legionnaires. Arrangements had already been made to handle an Ohio delegation of 350. From somewhere came word today that an additional 280 were desirous of sharing in the festivities and those in charge of the affair are scurrying about to find housing facilities for the extra 280.

Reading was getting ready to entertain the band of Victory Post, Washington, D. C., for a week. Somerville, which has a legionnaire mayor, John J. Murphy, was all set to welcome 6,000 legionnaires from Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, New Jersey, Tennessee and California. Lowell will entertain the State adjutants of 48 States and 9 foreign country delegations.

Scores of reunions are being planned and these will take up much of the time of the visitors.

Among the notables who arrived today was Mrs. Donald Macrae, who came from Des Moines, Iowa, prepared to handle the convention of the legion auxiliary of which she is the national president.

DRY CURTIS BACKED IS GIVEN DISCHARGE

Curtis used his political influence to retain Buck in the prohibition service after Buck had been charged with manipulating his expense account.

Explaining his action in the case, the Vice President later said he had interceded for Buck only after he learned that members of the Kansas congressional delegation favored his retention on the ground he had not been given a fair hearing.

LEAHY MAY DEFEND CAMPBELL IN TRIAL

No Agreement Yet Reached to Have Criminal Lawyer Aid in Court Fight.

NOT-GUILTY PLEA SEEN

Overtures have been made to William E. Leahy, District criminal lawyer, to have him represent Herbert M. Campbell when the Arlington County real estate dealer is arraigned in the Supreme Court on Tuesday on a charge of murdering Mary E. Baker.

Several conferences have been held in the past few days between Mr. Leahy and Chief Defense Attorney Charls H. Smith, but according to them, no definite agreement has been reached.

Campbell has returned from Montreal, Canada, where he has been vacationing with his wife since he was released from jail under $30,000 bond by Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner. Campbell dropped in at police headquarters yesterday to pay his respects to Inspector William S. Shelby.

Campbell didn't do much talking except to say that he wished that the trial would come soon. He is anxious to face trial, he said.

At the arraignment on Tuesday Campbell will hear the formal reading of the indictment alleging that he committed the murder and will enter his plea. His attorneys have made no assertion as to the nature of the plea he will make. They have not decided whether to challenge the validity of the indictment or to enter a plea of not guilty. The accused has indicated that he is anxious to enter the not-guilty plea so that a hasty trial might be assured.

Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, will make additional photographs of the test bullets from the gun which the Government alleges was used by Campbell in the commission of the crime. These will be presented to the trial jury.

When the gun is returned from Chicago it will be examined by Albert H. Hamilton, of Auburn, N. Y., the ballistics expert for the defense.

Conference of Circuit Judges Is Adjourned

(Associated Press.)

The conference of senior circuit judges, after spending three days studying conditions in the Federal courts, adjourned yesterday after drafting recommendations aimed to expedite the final disposition of cases.

The changes proposed were based upon the experience of Federal judges throughout the country and suggestions from Attorney General Mitchell and Solicitor General Thatcher, of the Department of Justice. Chief Justice Hughes will make the recommendations public in a few days. The judges called at the White House and paid their respects to President Hoover.

Italian Princess to Be Wed To King Boris of Bulgaria

The betrothal of Princess Giovanni of Italy to King Boris III of Bulgaria was announced yesterday in Rome, meaning that religious differences which have held up the match have been settled.

Giovanna's Betrothal to Ruler Means Solution of Church Problem.

Rome, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A new royal romance in Europe tonight brought about the betrothal of Princess Giovanna of Italy, pretty and dark-eyed daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, and King Boris of Bulgaria, often described as "Bulgaria's bachelor king."

Official announcement of the engagement was made late this evening by their majesties King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. It was conveyed in a brief document that will be published tomorrow.

The royal consent means that all problems of religion and state affairs have been settled. Princess Giovanna is a Roman Catholic and King Boris an Orthodox Greek Catholic.

"Vatican city circles of high authority state that King Boris agreed that despite provisions to the contrary in the Bulgarian constitution, Princess Giovanna should remain a Catholic and their children should be educated as Catholics.

This difference in religion is understood to have held up the match for more than a year, during which the Vatican held out against the pleas of both Italy and Bulgaria for a compromise more favorable to Boris' desires.

"The bachelor king visited Italy in September, but did not come to Rome. It is recalled he was received by Pope Pius when he attended the wedding last January of Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

This visit now is thought to have paved the way for a settlement of the problem of religious differences.

For some years the European excursions of Bulgaria's king have been regarded as having matrimony for their ultimate object. Many eligible royal and princely names have been connected with him.

Announcement of the engagement today follows within less than a year the marriage of Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

Word that the princess was betrothed leaked out in Rome late in the afternono, but though it was known to be true, official circles declined to confirm it. There was even a suggestion that no conclusion had been reached.

The principal hindrance is known to have been the religious differences of the bride and the bridegroom. Bulgaria law requires that the queen be of the Greek Orthodox faith, and it was necessary to adjust this point.

Political circles consider the impending royal alliance of Italy and Bulgaria to be highly important. It is depended upon in Rome to solidify good relations between Italy and a Balkan power in a strategic position along the eastern frontier of Jugoslavia.

The prophecy is made that it will exercise a stabilizing influence in the Balkans.

As is customary, the announcement came from Premier Mussolini's office in the ministry of the interior. But it was simply in the form of a copy of their majesties' brief declaration of consent to the bethrothal.

It read, under dtae of October 4: "Their majesties, the king and queen, have the pleasure of granting their consent to the bethrothal of their daughter, Her Royal Highness Princess Giovanna, to His Majesty Boris III, King of the Bulgarians."

Vatican City, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Religious differences that for more than a year have blocked the betrothal of Princess Viovanna, of Italy, and King Boris, of Bulgaria, were said here tonight to have been settled by the complete capitulation of the king.

Boris promised that the princess could retain the Catholic faith, despite the fact that the constitution of Bulgaria has hitherto prevented any queen of other than the Greek Orthodox faith from occupying the throne.

The children of the marriage are to be educated as Catholics. On this point the Vatican maintained a rigid stand against the efforts of both governments, which were pressing for an alliance politically beneficial to each.

It is understood a solemn promise embodying these conditions was given by the bachelor king last month to a Vatican emissary especially sent to Sofia.

Thereupon Pope Pius, though loath to see a Catholic princess marry into a house of another religion, withdrew his objections to the match. Canon law provides such may be done in extraordinary cases.

Two Hurt in Crash Married in County

Bride's Father Was Killed When Auto Ran Into Bridge on K Street.

A serious automobile crash interrupted but failed to halt the romance of Joseph Earl Owens, of 1321 Belmont street northwest, nad Margaret Frances Wenttang, of 80 Seaton place northwest. The pair were among others riding in an automobile when it smashed into the K street bridge over Rock Creek on August 24. But yesterday they went to Upper Marlboro for a marriage license and were married immediately afterward.

Mrs. Owens' father was killed in the accident and her brother was seriously hurt, though he is reported to be recovering. Her injuries were reported at the time to be serious, but Owens was not badly hurt. The driver of the car was held for manslaughter after he left the hospital, where he, too, was said to have sustained serious hurts.

At Owens' home last night it was said that his whereabouts were unknown, but it was thought that he was spending his hnoeymoon with his bride at her house on Seaton place. Both gave their age as 25 years when procuring the license from the clerk at the Prince Georges County courthouse.

Hoover Congratulates Boris on Anniversary

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover felicitated King Boris of Bulgaria yesterday on the twelfth anniversary of his accession.

"I take great pleasure," the President's message said, "in extending sincere felicitations on behalf of the American people and in my own name on this anniversary on your majesty's accession to the throne."

LABOR HEAD ARRIVES FOR BOSTON PARLEY

DELEGATES POUR IN CITY

Boston, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Preconvention activities of the American Federation of Labor speeded up here today with the arrival of its president, William Green. Scores of delegates arrived and hundreds of others were expected tomorrow and Sunday for the fiftieth annual convention, which opens Monday.

President Hoover will address the labor convention Monday afternoon, soon after the delivery of another address before the American Legion, which also will open its annual convention the same day.

Green jjoined in the work of the various departments of the National body soon after his arrival. In an address before the twenty-fourth convention of the Building Trades Department he urged higher wages for industrial workers as a means of maintaining American standards of living and reducing unemployment. He gave advances in machinery with the subsequent increased production and efficiency as a reason for the present economic situation.

He said if wages could be increased to correspond with increased production, a consuming market would be created that would always be in advance of the producing power of the Nation.

The economic policies of President Hoover were attacked by Arthur M. Huddell, president of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers, in the discussion which preceded Mr. Greene's address. The present economic situation in the United States is due in part, Huddell said, to the failure of President Hoover to force his subordinates to tsart construction work for which appropriations had been available.

The building trades group accepted a report submitted yesterday recommending establishment of a "board of trade claims" to adjust jurisdictional disputes with only one organization, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, recorded against it.

Chicago Legionnaires Stop Off Here on Trip

The Chicago Board of Trade Post, No. 304, American Legion, stopped at Washington yesterday en route to the national legion convention at Boston. The drum and bugle corps of the post, accompanied by twenty additional members of the Board of Trade, took part at services at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Officials of the United States Chamber of Commerce arranged for the stay of the legionnaires in the city. They are entered in the national competition at Boston.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

Packard Motors.

P. W.—I own a few shares of Packard Motors. Will you kindly give me your opinion about this company?

Answer—Company paid its latest dividend September 12, 1930, to stockholders of record August 15. This was 25 cents a share quarterly. In certain quarters it is regarded as quite likely that directors must pay part of the $1 annual dividend this year out of surplus. This it can do without trouble, as surplus account is unusually large

Outlook for remaining months of 1930 as regards automobile industry is not altogetner promising, and belief that recovery in industry may not set in until next year has caused selling of Packard Motor stock recently. Stock may therefore be considered highly speculative.

United Corporation.

G. B. T.—Please give me some facts regarding United Corporation and an opinion of the stock as an investment.

Answer—The company is a large holder of sound public utility stocks, approximately three-quarters of earnings being derived from dividends received, and the balance on the profit from the sale of securities. Stock dividends, which comprise a small part of the total, are not taken into income. The company pays dividends of 50 cents a year on the common stock, which is expected to be increased to 75 cents in 1931.

The principal stock holdings consist of United Gas Improvement, Columbia Gas & Electric and Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. The United Corporation also holds Consolidated Gas of New York, Niagara Hudson Power, Commonwealth & Southern, Electric Bond & Share and other investments. The company is sponsored by the Morgan and Bonbright interests and the stock may be considered a speculative investment with good prospects.

Checker Cab.

R. W.—Do you recommend Checker Cab as an investment? What can you tell me about the outlook for the company?

Answer—The company has experienced considerable ups and downs. First half year earnings fell to $500,074, as against $2,720,567 for the initial half of 1929. Dividends of 35 cents monthly are paid, or on an annual rate of $4.20 per share. Checker is expected to experience some difficulty in covering the dividend this year. Earnings last year were equivalent to $11.41 per share. The same interests in control of Checker Cab also control Parmelee Transportation, and a merger of the two companies is expected. Checker handling the manufacturing of taxicabs and Parmelee the carrying business.

Phillip Morris.

T. N. L.—I have been advised to buy Phillip Morris, but before doing so I would like some information and advice regarding the stock.

Answer—The outlook for Phillip Morris is not considered good. This is because of the limited demand for luxury cigarettes. Sales of the company have been below those of last year and earnings for the year ended March 31, 1931, are not expected to be as good as those for the last fiscal year.

Although the company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents a share, which is payable October 15, continuance of such payments is doubtful. The dividend coverage amounted to only 3 cents a share for the year ended March 31 last, but the company's large cash resources may be used to postpone any change in the dividend. The stock is not considered suitable for long-term investment purposes.

selves in a preferential position in their respective trades. These business men, the jury charged, have conspired with labor leaders to win excessive profits and have associated with gangsters and corrupt politicians to maintain discipline within the racket and to escape prosecution.

"We are convinced," the letter read, "that the forthright destruction of racketeering is of the utmost importance to the people of Chicago and Cook County. Racketeering strikes at the very fundamentals of liberty of action. To an alarming extent, racketeering has been seized upon by otherwise respectable groups of business men as an accepted method of meeting present-day problems of trade competition."

Citizens Lose $100,000,000.

The grand jurors were responsible for raids on ten labor unions and the resultant seizure of records indicating that hoodlums had forced their way into control of several legitimate organizations.

"Our investigation," the grand jurors concluded, "causes us to believe that this manipulation of trade by conspiracy costs the citizens of Cook County no less than $100,000,000 a year."

The indictment against Jack Guzik, reputed chief collector for Al Capone, charges he had more than $1,000,000 income during the three years for which the tax evasion is alleged. Sam's income for the same period was alleged to have been about $250,000.

President Returns From Trip to Ohio

(Associated Press.)

Back from his two-day trip to Cleveland and Philadelphia, President Hoover has the week-end to spend at home before he departs again tomorrow night to speak twice in Boston on Monday and again on Tuesday at Kings Mountain battlefield, South Carolina.

He was considering going today to his mountain lodge in Virginia, where his son, Herbert Hoover, jr., is taking medical treatment for a tubercular infection.

An accumulation of work lay on the Chief Executive's desk upon his return early yesterday from the Ohio city where he addressed the American Bankers Association. Because of this, he was undecided whether he would be able to motor to the Rapidan river lodge. If he does, he will return late Sunday and leave a few hours later for Boston.

There he is to address the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor, leaving immediately afterward on his special train for a 21-hour run to the sesquicentennial anniversary celebration of the Battle of Kings Mountain.

Key West Boosted By Pilotage Slash

50 Per Cent Cut Made in Charges Exacted From Ships.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—By reducing pilotage charges 50 per cent, Key West has attracted wide attention and bids fair to become an important port of call for ships plying between European countries and South America through the Panama Canal.

Members of the Key West Pilot Commission point out that since the low rates became effective, hundreds of foreign vessels have come to the port for refueling and repairs.

Inquiries concerning the port and harbor have been received from many European countries. American shipping interests have also commended the move.

Aerial "Battleship" Built for England

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Great Britain, restricted in the building of warships by the London naval treaty, has launched the first of a new line of aerial battleships that carries torpedoes, bombs and machine guns with a crew of 20.

Built secretly here, the first of the new type of aircraft has been accepted by the British government. Cooking and heating are done by electricity. Other details of the craft have been kept secret.

BOY SHUNS SCHOOL; PARENTS MAY FACE JUDGE AS RESULT

WOULD HIDE IN CELLAR WHEN TEACHER NEARED

Psychiatrist Urges He Be Excused, but Law Has No Loopholes.

He hates school.

He hates it so much that his parents haven't the heart to make him go, and because of this sympathy they are facing probable prosecution and, possibly, jail.

His name is Earl White, and he's 13 years old. He lives at 501 I street southeast. On October 14, 1927, he was truant from the Dent School, according to a report in the hands of Superintendent of Schools Frank W. Ballou. On October 18 of the same year he was turned over to Friendship House. He ran away. On October 21 he was transferred to St. Theresa's Parochial School at the request of his parents.

Examined by Psychiatrist.

He ran away from this place on October 24. A psychiatrist examined him and recommended that he be excused from school. Then, in October, 1929, his case was referred to the research department of the District school system. The department recommended that his case be submitted to the Juvenile Protective Association. The association sent a tutor to his home three days a week last year.

This tutoring wasn't satisfactory, it developed. Often, when the teacher was in sight of the house, Earl would run away and hide in the cellar.

Law Orders Him to Go.

Nevertheless, school authorities are compelled, under the school attendance law, to see that the boy goes to school. Only children incapable of being educated are excused from school attendance, and Earl is not considered that by the last psychiatrist who examined him.

The parents won't force him to go to school. So Dr. Ballou has appealed to the District Commissioners to invoke the aid of the Corporation Counsel. If the Commissioners concur in this, the parents will be sent to court.

Meanwhile, Earl is staying out of school, and he seems satisfied. Incidentally, he has two brothers who went through school here. They liket it.

25 Per Cent Inarticulate Speech Is Understood

Los Angeles, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Even when he fails to hear correctly 25 per cent of the sounds in speech a normal person understands the conversation. Experiments showing this are reported to the Acoustical Society of America by Vern O. Knudsen, of the University of California.

"Actual tests," he says, "in a quiet open space have indicated that with average speakers and listeners the articulation will be about 96 per cent. A rating of 100 per cent, that is, perfect articulation, can never be attained."

Wrecks, Storms Don't Tie Up "Big Board"

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Wrecks, storms or disasters seldom disorganize the New York Stock Exchange. There is a huge map of the New York metropolitan district in the personnel director's office, with a small tin flag bearing the name of each employe in the exact spot of his residence.

Between 7 and 9 a. m. the exchange is kept informed of wrecks, storms or other occurrences which might delay arrival of employes. If delays occur, workers are quickly shifted so that vacant positions are filled by the time the gong sounds for the market's opening.

NEW YORK IMMUNITY WAIVERS REJECTED

WALKER FORCED ISSUE

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Seven Tammany district leaders who also hold city office capitulated today to Mayor Walker's mandate that they withdraw their refusals to waive immunity before the special grand jury investigating charges of judicial corruption here.

Their offer to testify, however, was promptly refused by Special Prosecutor Todd, in charge of the grand jury's inquiry, who said their proffered waivers were "limited or qualified." He said they would have to sign unconditional waivers before the grand jury would accept their testimony.

A few minutes before the 4 o'clock deadline which Mayor Walker set for them to waive immunity or quit their city posts, the Tammany men announced their readiness to accede to the demand.

Seven identical letters were addressed by them to the foreman of the grand jury and seven to Mayor Walker, declaring they were ready to "testify to any of my acts or conduct in the discharge of my official duties and waive immunity with respect thereto."

Todd said he considered it "significant" the offer was "limited to their official acts and conduct, although it has been made clear by Justice McCook in his instructions to the special grand jury that the Attorney General, with his present limited authority from the governor, is not in a position to present to the grand jury any evidence in reference to the official acts or conduct of any persons."

In ordering the grand jury empaneled, Gov. Roosevelt authorized the Attorney General to present only evidence bearing on charges that former Magistrate George F. Ewald paid for his appointment to office. The grand jury, which itself has the broad powers of any grand jury, has requested the governor to extend the power of the Attorney General in presenting evidence.

In was indicated at city hall tonight that no District leader holding office by appointment of the mayor would be in danger of losing his job if he refused to testify on matters apart from his official acts or conduct.

After being shown a copy of Mr. Todd's letter rejecting the offers to waive immunity, the mayor said:

"I am sorry Mr. Todd didn't accept the offers * * * because if there is anything wrong, I am anxious to know of it. If the inquiry is into their domestic affairs, that's different."

Contractors Go To Fall Meeting

Headed by Edward J. Harding, general manager, ten Washington members of the national staff of the Associated General Contractors of America yesterday left the Capital to attend the three-day fall meeting of the executive and advisory boards and presidents' and secretaries' councils of the contractors' organization, which opens Monday at the Westchester Country Club, Rye, N. Y.

One of the principal matters to be considered at the gathering is the program of A. E. Horst, of Philadelphia, president of the association, for the revival of residential construction through complete reformation of home financing practices. Mr. Horst is a member of the planning committee of the White House conference on home building and home ownership and will announce at the Rye meeting the program which he submitted at the initial White House meeting two weeks ago.

In addition to Mr. Harding, who is accompanied by Mrs. Harding, those attending the meeting from Washington are S. M. Williams, president of the Bureau of Contract Information, Munsey Building; H. E. Foreman, engineer of the association; Harry J. Kirk, assistant engineer and former director of highways for the State of Ohio; W. R. Richards, safety director; E. J. Brosnan, assistant treasurer; Ralph D. Winstead, editor of the official publication of the association; Charles S. Embrey, manager of the affiliated bureaus; Miss Pauline Grant, secertary to the general manager, and Whitman P. Conn. Col. George B. Walbridge, of Detroit, past president of the association, also accompanied the group from Washington.

Boy Airplane Joyrider Killed as Craft Falls

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Jack Kohler, 15-year-old Plainfield boy, was killed at Hadley Airport today in a 30-foot crash of an airplane he and another boy had borrowed without the owner's permission. His companion, Thomas Davis, 16, was seriously injured.

The plane was owned by John Hooe, of Mount Rainier, Md. Witnesses said the machine climbed about 30 feet before it nose-dived to the ground. The authorities were unable to determine which boy operated the dual controls.

Vare Is Ill at Summer Home With Heavy Cold

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—William S. Vare, Republican leader of Philadelphia, is ill at his summer home on South Berkely square, Chelsea, with a heavy cold.

First reports were that he had suffered another stroke, but these were subsequently denied by his daughter, Miss Beatrice Vare. Dr. John J. Shaw, of Philadelphia, is in attendance.

To Shrine of Field Many Are Drawn

Popularity of Famous Poet and Columnist Is Undiminished.

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The popularity of Eugene Field, the famous former columnist and children's poet, is growing rather than diminishing, the increasing number of visitors to his burial shrine indicates.

Field is buried in a shaded cloister close beside the Episcopal Church of the Holy Comforter at Kenilworth, a short distance north of Chicago. An iron railing surrounds the tomb, a hundred trees and shrubs make its setting, and a marble altar stands nearby.

The number of visitors to the shrine grows year by year, according to the rector of the church, and the number of children who come there to pay their respects to the memory of the poet, he says, is especially remarkable.

New Statue of Lincoln Rises Where He Fought

Dixon, Ill., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A new Lincoln in bronze, looking out over the Rock River Valley, has taken its place among the hundreds of memorials to the Civil War President.

Recife, Pernambuco, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Navigators on the regular Europe-Brazil ocean lane and airmen winging their way between the African and South American continents soon will have an air beacon to guide them far out in the Atlantic.

The Brazilian navy is starting construction on a beacon on the rocky islets of Sao Pedro and Sao Paulo, those two dots just north of the equator and 340 miles from Brazil's important penal island of Fernando do Noronha.

Stenog Borrows to Buy Part of Insurance Firm

El Dorado, Ark., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Miss Alice Ruth Wilson is part owner of an insurance business which she began as a stenographer because she borrowed money at the right moment.

When an opportunity came to purchase a half interest in the business she borrowed several thousand dollars. She kept steadily at work pounding keys for the next two years and paid the sum back. Now she is senior member of the firm, which carries an approximate volume of $125,000 in premiums annually.

The statement given out by the Department of Justice said in part:

"From the time this inquiry was undertaken by the Department of Justice until the receipt of Kelley's letter today, the Assistant Attorney General in charge has made every effort by one means or another to get into communication with Kelley and obtain from him a specific statement, but without success.

"We regret that Kelley has declined to give Department of Justice officials any statement or reference to specific cases which would expedite the inquiry and aid us in ascertaining the facts. Notwithstanding his attitude, the Assistant Attorney General in charge will proceed with his inquiry to ascertain the situation in the Interior Department respecting the administration of this part of the public domain."

Own Recommendations Cited.

Secretary Wilbur, said Kelley, "must base his charges on my official acts, more than three-fourths of which were taken upon his recommendation."

"Of the 62 claims that have gone to patent since March 4, 1929, when this Administration came into office, 50 had come from the Denver office and had been passed on by Kelley himself," he stated. These 62 patents, plus two approved but not yet issued, he said, covered 38,000 acres.

"Kelley has been overruled on but a single one," he added.

"Kelley had written me voluminously in criticism of conditions as he found them in the field and he was brought to Washington that he might be given every opportunity to present to me any facts in his possession regarding the pending claims for patents on oil shale lands. He arrived in Washington in my absence, was not in the department on my return, and made no attempt to see me despite the fact that the purpose in bringing him to Washington was to give him every opportunity to correct the ills of which he complained."

COMMODITY BUYING IS URGED BY GREEN

(Associated Press.)

Increased purchase of commodities was urged yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, as a means of stabilizing business conditions. The suggestion was made in the monthly survey of business issued by the labor federation.

"Business men," Mr. Green said, "can hasten revival and improve their own trade without undue risk by such policies as these:

"1—Cut overhead costs (without reducing wages), by improving equipment and eliminating waste;

"2—Order ahead; start to work up a normal spring supply;

"3—Improve quality of product and reduce prices;

"4—Stimulate trade by advertising and special efforts."

Mr. Green added these measures "will increase employment and put products within reach of this year's low incomes" and wage earners "can help produce better articles at lower cost by improving the quality of their work and increasing efficiency."

"For the first time in many months," Mr. Green said, "business opportunity is opening. Fundamental adjustments have been made, favorable signs are appearing. Our foreign trade shows signs of improving, wholesale prices are more stable, retail prices are down nearer the point where workers can buy, the outlook for employment is better and that means increased workers' buying power. Stores see their customers coming back. Opportunity is here for those who are ready to make the best of it."

Mr. Green asserted that the course of business in the "coming four weeks will determine the prospects for next winter" and that "if we want to avoid a winter like last year's we must plan for it now by using every intelligent means of promoting business revival."

BODY OF MAN FOUND HANGING FROM LIMB

IDENTIFICATION BY WIFE

Knight immediately cut a belt which was holding the body up and called the Fourteenth Precinct station. Godbury was removed to Emergency Hospital in the police emergency car, where he was pronounced dead. Doctors at the hospital stated that death was caused by strangulation and iodine poisoning.

Mrs. Helen Godbury later viewed the body at the District morgue and identified it as that of her husband. She gave despondency as a possible cause of the act, and a certificate of suicide was issued by Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt.

Mr. Godbury came to Washington about ten years ago from Indianapolis, where he is sai dto have been employed in the editorial department of the Indianapolis News. He was a member of the National Press Club.

Taking Mrs. Godbury's pet bull dog "Peggy" with him, he drove his sedan from the garage at 11:30 o'clock yesterday morning and was not seen until his body was discovered late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Godbury found the car parked on Connecticut avenue near Garfield street with all windows closed. The dog was inside.

Lord Runs Elevator As Wife Uses Ticket

53-Year-Old Operator in Iowa Has Become Baronet.

Waterloo, Iowa, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Dick Wolseley will continue to operate an office building elevator while his bride does the honors incumbent upon the wife of an English noble.

That Dick was Sir Reginald Beatty man.

Wolseley became known this summer when it was revealed that he had married Marian Elizabeth Baker, of Brixham, Devonshire, England. He had been in the United States 33 years.

Wolseley said he married Miss Baker, a companion of his mother, that she might attain a social position only open to those of nobility. The 53-year-old operator became a baronet several years ago when a cousin on his mother's side died without an heir.

CHINA BANDITS KILL TWO BRITISH WOMEN

PAIR CAPTURED IN JUNE

London, Oct. 3. (A.P.).—News which horrified all England was received in a cable to the London headquarters of the Church Missionary Society today, saying two of its women missionaries, Miss Edith Nettleton and Miss Eleanor June Harrison, had been shot by the Chinese bandits who held them captive since last June.

The message which told of the tragedy was very brief:

"Nettleton and Harrison shot. Consul and Sills returning Foochow."

The envoy referred to is the British consul at Foochow, A. J. Martin, who had gone upriver from Foochow to negotiate the release of the women. Mr. Sills is the Rev. Alfred Sills of the Christian Missionary Society, who accompanied Mr. Martin on his mission.

Tonight the foreign office said it had received a message from Mr. Martin while he was in the interior, stating briefly he had received word from Kienyang saying Miss Nettleton and Miss Harrison had been shot.

The women were captured at Chungan, northern Fukien province, last June while traveling to Kienningfu. There were long negotiations for their release, and at one time the bandits sent what purported to be one of Miss Nettleton's fingers to the British consular authorities, threatening death to the women if $10,000 ransom were not paid. The bandits first asked $100,000, reduced it later to $50,000 and eventually got down to $10,000.

All here who knew the women testified today to the courage and devotion which impelled them to follow their arduous and dangerous work through many years in strife-torn China.

GROUP WILL FIGHT RUSSIAN 'DUMPING'

LAUDS SENATOR ODDIE

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—J. Carson Adkerson, president of the American Manganese Producers Association, announced today the formation of a committee to assemble information and present a united appeal in behalf of American industries affected by Soviet "dumping."

The committee calls itself the joint conference on unfair Russian competition, and Mr. Adkerson said it represented the lumber, match, sausage casing, glue, coal and manganese industries.

Among those attending a series of conferences which resulted in formation of the committee were James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany; Robert E. Dwyer, vice president of the Anaconda Copper Co.; Walter Gordon Merritt and William P. Benz, of the Anthracite Institute; Dr. Wilson Compton,, C. W. Bahr and J. H. Simcoe, of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association.

Also H. B. Sweatt, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Glue Manufacturers; Ned G. Begle, president of the Berst-Forster-Dixfield Co.; A. J. Seligman, president of the Butte Copper & Zinc Co.; Harold A. Pumpelly, vice president of the Domestic Manganese & Development Co., and Bernard S. Barron, of Barron, Rice & Rockmore.

The committee's first act today was to send a telegram to Senator Tasker L. Oddie in Washington expressing appreciation of his announced intention to introduce a bill in the next congress to place an embargo on certain commodities now being imported from Russia.

CHARGES NOT YET KNOWN TO BISHOP

CALLS TERM ILLEGAL

(Associated Press.)

Bishop James Cannon, jr., said yesterday he was giving careful consideration to "the new attacks" made upon him by four ministers of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, but that he had not been informed of the specific nature of the accusations.

The 65-year-old Methodist churchman said he had con ferred yesterday with Bishop W. N. Ainsworth, with whom the charges were filed, but he declined to discuss the conference. Bishop Ainsworth, who left immediately for Birmingham, is understood to have decided to appoint a committee of twelve clergymen to investigate the complaints.

While the charges have not been made public, they are understood to include the bishop's political and stock market activities, as well as new accusations. Dr. Forrest J. S. Prettyman, of aBltimore, one of the accusers, has said the charges include "all that has been in the newspapers, and more."

Cheerfully attending to his duties as chairman of the church's Board of Temperance and Social Service, Bishop Cannon reiterated that the method employed by the four ministers is contrary to church law. This has been denied by at least two of the ministers.

Bishop Cannon said the conference with Ainsworth was "official" and that "naturally" he would not discuss it. He added that Bishop Ainsworth had not brought with him a copy of the charges.

"I do not know what they are," he asserted, "but naturally I am giving careful attention to the new attacks."

Under church law, if an investigating committee is appointed it would determine whether a trial would be warranted at the next session of the general conference in 1934. Should it decide for a trial, the bishop would be suspended until that time.

New York Casino May Be Padlocked

Government Moves Aganist Place Because of Rum Brought Into It.

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A suit to padlock the Central Park Casino for a year was begun in Federal court today by the Government as an upshort of a raid several months ago in which liquor said to have been brought in by a patron was seized.

The casino belongs to the city but was leased by it to the Dieppe Corporation in whcih Sidney Solomon and A. J. Drexel Biddle, jr., are officers. It was opened under its present management a year ago last June as 't'he world's finest restaurant. A dining place for society around which the cultured life of the city can rotate."

Federal attorneys said no charges were made that liquor was made or sold at the casino, but that there was precedent for the padlocking of premises where "setups" of ginger ale or mineral water were sold.

The Listening Post

—By CARLISLE BARGERON—

ANY one with the slightest tenderness in his make-up can't help but feel sorry for these political boys whose heads are to be cut off in November. He cannot entirely escape, in fact, the feeling of depression that has come over them as the steadily shortening days and the falling leaves usher in the long wintry political night.

It is the uncertainty of just whose scalp is to fall that makes it all so terrible. The suspense is nerve-racking.

* * * *

Through the sunshine of summer he moved fearlessly, relentlessly up the hill, pushing aside all opposition, and coming at last to rest with the Republican gubernatorial nomination of Pennsylvania.

And there he is now at the top of that hill with the nomination in his hands but with the summer light fading fast before the onrush of winter, and with the all-important question of whether the Vare Philadelphia machine will support him still unanswered.

* * * *

IT is important that he should have the answer, one way or the other.

If the Vare machine is to cut him as reports are rife that it will do, then the fearless Mr. Pinchot could make capital by attacking it from one end of the State to the other.

This is just exactly what he did so successfully in the primary campaign. The voters had to choose then between his decency in government and the indecency of the Philadelphia crowd, he said.

But ordinary prudence prompts Mr. Pinchot to silence on the Philadelphia crowd now. After all they are Republicans and he is their standard bearer.

* * * *

IF they are to cut him on election day, though—then he might very well revert to his attacks of the primary campaign.

It must be sheer devilishness on the part of the Philadelphia boys not to tell him just what they are going to do. They prefer to keep him guessing.

As a result the outspoken Mr. Pinchot is in a quandary as to whether to again hold the vicious Philadelphians up to public scorn or to keep quiet about them in conformity with that old political rule that bygones are bygones.

DRYS ARE SATISFIED WITH WINE DICTUM

BISHOP INTERPRETS LAW

Dry leaders are satisfied with the attitude of Prohibition Director Woodcock on the manufacture and use of wine. The Antisaloon League, the Methodist Board and Bishop James E. Cannon, jr., agree that he stands squarely on the Volstead act, and will prosecute those who make and sell or transport wine for beverage purposes.

Bishop Cannon, chairman of the Board of Temperance and Social Service of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, said that Mr. Woodcock can not change the law, but "merely indicate the policy of the Government in enforcement and outline difficulties which the Government may have in enforcing the law."

Mr. Cannon said he was one of seven who wrote the prohibition amendment and he knows what it means.

"It distinctly says," he declared, "that the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation, &c., of intoxicating liquor is prohibited. That means anywhere—in the home or anywhere else, and the Volstead act, defines intoxicants as anything containing one-half of 1 per cent alcohol. Nobody can change that fact."

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, executive secretary of the Methodist board, takes a similar view.

Members of the Wickersham Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement are on their way here for the first fall meeting next Wednesday. Kenneth Mackintosh, of the State of Washington, has been here two weeks. He came prepared to urge the other members of the body to make a clear-cut report on prohibition enforcement. He wants the commission to say whether or not, in its opinion, the Volstead act can be enforced. Dean Roscoe Pound, of the Harvard Law School, is also here. He would not comment on the Mackintosh program.

Addressing the Industrial Advisory Council appointed by him to cooperate with the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol in working out problems arising under the prohibition act, Commissioner J. M. Doran promised that "legitimate business will be promoted and safeguarded." He said that "all legitimate users of industrial alcohol are assured an ample supply of alcohol under fair administrative conditions."

In a letter to Attorney General Mitchell yesterday Representative Fred A. Britten, of Illinois, appealed for fair treatment to reputable physicians. He said he had been receiving letters saying that the Prohibition Bureau would reduce the allowance of whisky, now 6 quarts per year, for office use. His informants, he explained, may be in error, but "the Federal Government should not look upon the medical profession of the country as a lot of bootleggers and rumrunners."

Antismoke Law To Be Enforced

District Health Officer Issues Warnings to Violators.

A warning that violators of the antismoke law will be prosecuted in the courts was issued yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer.

"There have been many complaints of violations of the smoke law received in the last few days and our investigations have disclosed that the owners and operators of many buildings are violating the law," Dr. Fowler said. "Violations of the law must stop. The sudden jump in the number of violations has been due, probably, to the fact that numbers of furnaces have been fired in the last few days for the first time in several months. That does not justify careless handling, however."

Owners of two large downtown stores and two downtown apartment houses were given specific warning yesterday by the health officer that any further violation of the smoke law would result in immediate application to the courts for informations for th arrest of those responsible.

LEAHY MAY DEFEND CAMPBELL IN TRIAL

No Agreement Yet Reached to Have Criminal Lawyer Aid in Court Fight.

NOT-GUILTY PLEA SEEN

Overtures have been made to William E. Leahy, District criminal lawyer, to have him represent Herbert M. Campbell when the Arlington County real estate dealer, is arraigned in the Supreme Court on Tuesday on a charge of murdering Mary E. Baker.

Several conferences have been held in the past few days between Mr. Leahy and Chief Defense Attorney Charls H. Smith, but according to them, no definite agreement has been reached.

Campbell has returned from Montreal, Canada, where he has been vacationing with his wife since he was released from jail under $30,000 bond by Federal Judge D. Lawrence Groner. Campbell dropped in at police headquarters yesterday to pay his respects to Inspector William S. Shelby.

Campbell didn't do much talking except to say that he wished that the trial would come soon. He is anxious to face trial, he said.

At the arraignment on Tuesday Campbell will hear the formal reading of the indictment alleging that he committed the murder and will enter his plea. His attorneys have made no assertion as to the nature of the plea he will make. They have not decided whether to challenge the validity of the indictment or to enter a plea of not guilty. The accused has indicated that he is anxious to enter the not-guilty plea so that a hasty trial might be assured.

Col. Calvin Goddard, ballistics expert, will make additional photographs of the test bullets from the gun which the Government alleges was used by Campbell in the commission of the crime. These will be presented to the trial jury.

When the gun is returned from Chicago it will be examined by Albert H. Hamilton, of Auburn, N. Y., the ballistics expert for the defense.

Conference of Circuit Judges Is Adjourned

(Associated Press.)

The conference of senior circuit judges, after spending three days studying conditions in the Federal courts, adjourned yeaterday after drafting recommendations aimed to expedite the final disposition of cases.

The changes proposed were based upon the experience of Federal judges throughout the country and suggestions from Attorney General Mitchell and Solicitor General Thatcher, of the Department of Justice. Chief Justice Hughes will make the recommendations public in a few days. The judges called at the White House and paid their respects to President Hoover.

The betrothal of Princess Giovanni of Italy to King Boris III of Bulgaria was announced yesterday in Rome, meaning that religious differences which have held up the match have been settled.

Giovanna's Betrothal to Ruler Means Solution of Church Problem.

Rome, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A new royal romance in Europe tonight brought about the betrothal of Princess Giovanna of Italy, pretty and dark-eyed daughter of King Victor Emmanuel, and King Boris of Bulgaria, often described as "Bulgaria's bachelor king."

Official announcement of the engagement was made late this evening by their majesties King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Helena. It was conveyed in a brief document that will be published tomorrow.

The royal consent means that all problems of religion and state affairs have been settled. Princess Giovanna is a Roman Catholic and King Boris an Orthodox Greek Catholic.

"Vatican city circles of high authority state that King Boris agreed that despite provisions to the contrary in the Bulgarian constitution, Princess Giovanna should remain a Catholic and their children should be educated as Catholics.

This difference in religion is understood to have held up the match for more than a year, during which the Vatican held out against the pleas of both Italy and Bulgaria for a compromise more favorable to Boris' desires.

"The bachelor king visited Italy in September, but did not come to Rome. It is recalled he was received by Pope Pius when he attended the wedding last January of Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

This visit now is thought to have paved the way for a settlement of the problem of religious differences.

For some years the European excursions of Bulgaria's king have been regarded as having matrimony for their ultimate object. Many eligible royal and princely names have been connected with him.

Announcement of the engagement today follows within less than a year the marriage of Crown Prince Humbert, of Italy, and Princess Marie Jose of Belgium.

Word that the princess was betrothed leaked out in Rome late in the afternono, but though it was known to be true, official circles declined to confirm it. There was even a suggestion that no conclusion had been reached.

The principal hindrance is known to have been the religious differences of the bride and the bridegroom. Bulgaria law requires that the queen be of the Greek Orthodox faith, and it was necessary to adjust this point.

Political circles consider the impending royal alliance of Italy and Bulgaria to be highly important. It is depended upon in Rome to solidify good relations between Italy and a Balkan power in a strategic position along the eastern frontier of Jugoslavia.

The prophecy is made that it will exercise a stabilizing influence in the Balkans.

As is customary, the announcement came from Premier Mussolini's office in the ministry of the interior. But it was simply in the form of a copy of their majesties' brief declaration of consent to the bethrothal.

It read, under dtae of October 4: "Their majesties, the king and queen, have the pleasure of granting their consent to the bethrothal of their daughter, Her Royal Highness Princess Giovanna, to His Majesty Boris III, King of the Bulgarians."

Vatican City, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Religious differences that for more than a year have blocked the betrothal of Princess Giovanna, of Italy, and King Boris, of Bulgaria, were said here tonight to have been settled by the complete capitulation of the king.

Boris promised that the princess could retain the Catholic faith, despite the fact that the constitution of Bulgaria has hitherto prevented any queen of other than the Greek Orthodox faith from occupying the throne.

The children of the marriage are to be educated as Catholics. On this point the Vatican maintained a rigid stand against the efforts of both governments, which were pressing for an alliance politically beneficial to each.

It is understood a solemn promise embodying these conditions was given by the bachelor king last month to a Vatican emissary especially sent to Sofia.

Thereupon Pope Pius, though loath to see a Catholic princess marry into a house of another religion, withdrew his objections to the match. Canon law provides such may be done in extraordinary cases.

Two Hurt in Crash Married in County

Bride's Father Was Killed When Auto Ran Into Bridge on K Street.

A serious automobile crash interrupted but failed to halt the romance of Joseph Earl Owens, of 1321 Belmont street northwest, nad Margaret Frances Wenttang, of 80 Seaton place northwest. The pair were among others riding in an automobile when it smashed into the K street bridge over Rock Creek on August 24. But yesterday they went to Upper Marlboro for a marriage license and were married immediately afterward.

Mrs. Owens' father was killed in the accident and her brother was seriously hurt, though he is reported to be recovering. Her injuries were reported at the time to be serious, but Owens was not badly hurt. The driver of the car was held for manslaughter after he left the hospital, where he, too, was said to have sustained serious hurts.

At Owens' home last night it was said that his whereabouts were unknown, but it was thought that he was spending his hnoeymoon with his bride at her house on Seaton place. Both gave their age as 25 years when procuring the license from the clerk at the Prince Georges County courthouse.

Hoover Congratulates Boris on Anniversary

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover felicitated King Boris of Bulgaria yesterday on the twelfth anniversary of his accession.

"I take great pleasure," the President's message said, "in extending sincere felicitations on behalf of the American people and in my own name on this anniversary on your majesty's accession to the throne."

LABOR HEAD ARRIVES FOR BOSTON PARLEY

DELEGATES POUR IN CITY

Boston, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Preconvention activities of the American Federation of Labor speeded up here today with the arrival of its president, William Green. Scores of delegates arrived and hundreds of others were expected tomorrow and Sunday for the fiftieth annual convention, which opens Monday.

President Hoover will address the labor convention Monday afternoon, soon after the delivery of another address before the American Legion, which also will open its annual convention the same day.

Green jjoined in the work of the various departments of the National body soon after his arrival. In an address before the twenty-fourth convention of the Building Trades Department he urged higher wages for industrial workers as a means of maintaining American standards of living and reducing unemployment. He gave advances in machinery with the subsequent increased production and efficiency as a reason for the present economic situation.

He said if wages could be increased to correspond with increased production, a consuming market would be created that would always be in advance of the producing power of the Nation.

The economic policies of President Hoover were attacked by Arthur M. Huddell, president of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers, in the discussion which preceded Mr. Greene's address. The present economic situation in the United States is due in part, Huddell said, to the failure of President Hoover to force his subordinates to tsart construction work for which appropriations had been available.

The building trades group accepted a report submitted yesterday recommending establishment of a "board of trade claims" to adjust jurisdictional disputes with only one organization, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, recorded against it.

Chicago Legionnaires Stop Off Here on Trip

The Chicago Board of Trade Post, No. 304, American Legion, stopped at Washington yesterday en route to the national legion convention at Boston. The drum and bugle corps of the post, accompanied by twenty additional members of the Board of Trade, took part at services at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Officials of the United States Chamber of Commerce arranged for the stay of the legionnaires in the city. They are entered in the national competition at Boston.

groups have their stronghold and that most of the anti-Government demonstrations and other activities have taken place in the past.

For this reason the measure is to be applied first to the Havana region. But if circumstances warrant, it is understood that the suspension of rights will be extended to the entire country.

Central High Sponsors Interclass Swimmnig

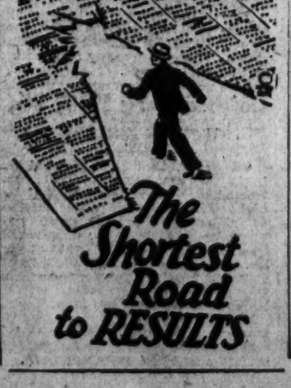

In an interclass swimming meet yesterday at Central High School, which Swimming Coach Bruner hopes to make an annual event, representatives of the junior class swam away with the gold medals offered, garnering 38 points while the sophomores, seniors and freshmen were attaining 14, 12 and 9 points, respectively.

Alvaredo, a first-year youth, showed promising form in winning the 100-yard breast stroke and finishing second in the 220 free style, using the breast stroke all the way.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM.

Packard Motors.

P. W.—I own a few shares of Packard Motors. Will you kindly give me your opinion about this company?

Answer—Company paid its latest dividend September 12, 1930, to stockholders of record August 15. This was 25 cents a share quarterly. In certain quarters it is regarded as quite likely that directors must pay part of the $1 annual dividend this year out of surplus. This it can do without trouble, as surplus account is unusually large.

Outlook for remaining months of 1930 as regards automobile industry is not altogetner promising, and belief that recovery in industry may not set in until next year has caused selling of Packard Motor stock recently. Stock may therefore be considered highly speculative.

United Corporation.

G. B. T.—Please give me some facts regarding United Corporation and an opinion of the stock as an investment.

Answer—The company is a large holder of sound public utility stocks, approximately three-quarters of earnings being derived from dividends received, and the balance on the profit from the sale of securities. Stock dividends, which comprise a small part of the total, are not taken into income. The company pays dividends of 50 cents a year on the common stock, which is expected to be increased to 75 cents in 1931.

The principal stock holdings consist of United Gas Improvement, Columbia Gas & Electric and Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. The United Corporation also holds Consolidated Gas of New York, Niagara Hudson Power, Commonwealth & Southern, Electric Bond & Share and other investments. The company is sponsored by the Morgan and Bonbright interests and the stock may be considered a speculative investment with good prospects.

Checker Cab.

R. W.—Do you recommend Checker Cab as an investment? What can you tell me about the outlook for the company?

Answer—The company has experienced considerable ups and downs. First half year earnings fell to $500,074, as against $2,720,567 for the initial half of 1929. Dividends of 35 cents monthly are paid, or on an annual rate of $4.20 per share. Checker is expected to experience some difficulty in covering the dividend this year. Earnings last year were equivalent to $11.41 per share. The same interests in control of Checker Cab also control Parmelee Transportation, and a merger of the two companies is expected. Checker handling the manufacturing of taxicabs and Parmelee the carrying business.

Phillip Morris.

T. N. L.—I have been advised to buy Phillip Morris, but before doing so I would like some information and advice regarding the stock.

Answer—The outlook for Phillip Morris is not considered good. This is because of the limited demand for luxury cigarettes. Sales of the company have been below those of last year and earnings for the year ended March 31, 1931, are not expected to be as good as those for the last fiscal year.

Although the company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 35 cents a share, which is payable October 15, continuance of such payments is doubtful. The dividend coverage amounted to only 3 cents a share for the year ended March 31 last, but the company's large cash resources may be used to postpone any change in the dividend. The stock is not considered suitable for long-term investment purposes.

Funeral Set Today For Air-Crash Trio

Special to The Washington Post.

Cumberland, Md., Oct. 3.—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for the three victims of the airplane crash at the old Cumberland airport, near Cresaptown, late yesterday afternoon. Frederick G. Lease, 33, this city, was burned to death in the machine. William M. Skelly, Cresaptown, pilot and owner of the plane, and Clendon L. Hoff, 24, died at Allegany Hospital within a few hours. All three leave widows. Skelly is survived by seven children, Lease two and Hoff one.

Skelly's death occurred on his birthday. He was not a regularly licensed pilot and his manner of stunt flying over the city at low altitude had been such that he had been warned to stay away from the Government field at Mexico Farms. He had been using the abandoned Cumberland airport.

The authorities decided an inquest was unnecessary. George and Firman Barton, brothers, and Richard Summerfield, World War veterans, who were about 250 feet from the spot where the plane crashed, were running toward it when Hoff and Skelly emerged. The trio chased them and tore off the burning clothing.

FOUR YOUTHS HELD AFTER 'GUN BATTLE'

BOYS BLAME BACKFIRE

Four Silver Spring youths were arrested early yesterday following complaints by residents of North Woodside that a gun battle was in progress near the water towers. The youths gave their names as Turner Wooten, Perry Griffith, Calvin Brockdorff and Walter Fallon, all living near Silver Spring.

The youths were arrested after they entered the Silver Spring substation of the Montgomery County police. As they entered the door, one of the residents who had repaired to the police station to report the gun battle shouted, "They are the ones." The youths turned and ran from the building, followed by county policemen, who captured them as they were attempting to enter their car outside. They were charged with disturbing the public peace.

Shortly before midnight the police telephone at the substation began to ring. Within a few minutes 28 citizens had reported the affair. Three men in an automobile were pursuing a man on foot, firing at him in rapid succession, the excited residents reported. The race continued around and around the water tower and through nearby fields.

When police arrived, however, the men were gone. The youths explained that they were just playing and that the shots had been the backfiring of their automobile.

Montgomery County teachers yesterday received their first salary checks for the new school year. The checks are out ahead of time this year because of the overtime work of the clerical staff which labored until nearly midnight Thursday to get the checks out on time. Ordinarily the checks for the first month are several days late.

The pay roll of the schools this year is $45,[illegible], which includes an increase of $12,000 in teachers' salaries under the step up plan whereby salary increases under the new plan are divided into yearly increases. The pay roll includes 420 persons, of whom 350 are teachers and the rest bus drivers, janitors and other school employes.

There were 597 instruments filed in the office of the clerk of the Montgomery County Circuit Court in the month of September, according to the report of Preston B. Ray, clerk of the circuit court. The instruments were divided as follows: 162 deeds, 133 mortgages and releases, 96 trusts and 206 bills of sale.

The Bethesda Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday night at the county building in Bethesda. Election of a president to succeed J. J. Miller, who resigned when he went to Berlin, Germany, to direct a branch of his firm there, will be the principal business.

Bids for paving of the strip of land between the present road on the east side of Wisconsin avenue and the street car tracks in the center have been asked by the Montgomery County Commissioners. The bids will be received Tuesday at which time the awards probably will be made as the commissioners are anxious to have the work completed before the cold weather sets in.

The cost of the work is to be shared equally by the county and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. The section to be paved is a part of the right of way of that company but has not been used for some years. The stretch to be paved is 3,000 feet long and will require the laying of 4,400 square yards of 8-inch cement and 2,850 feet of curbing. The curbing will be laid along the west side adjacent to the street car tracks.

Construction of the paving will serve as a safety factor as well as a beautification feature. The right of way in some places is as much as a foot below the level of the roadway.

Retired Farmer Dies In Martinsburg Area

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 3.—Ephraim R. Mason, a lifelong resident of this county and a well-known retired farmer, died yesterday at his home in the Tuscarora section as the result of a stroke of paralysis.

He was 70 years of age and is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Fannie Barrett, and the following children: Henry, Winchester, Va.; Harry, this city; Elmer, Willis and Mrs. Sarah Canby, this county; Miss Edith, Arlington and Marvin, at home. Two brothers and a sister also survive.

Marvin Will Speak At U. of Virginia

President of G.W.U. Will Give Chief Address at Opening Wednesday.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 3.—Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of George Washington University, will be the principal speaker at the formal opening of the one hundred and seventh academic year of the University of Virginia. Dr. J. J. Luck, chairman of the committee in charge, has announced that these exercises will be held in Cabell Hall Wednesday at 11 o'clock.

Before coming to George Washington University in 1927, Dr. Marvin was president of the University of Arizona for five years. He is a Phi Beta Kappa and a member of various other honor societies. During the World War he saw active service as a captain in the aviation corps and was honored for distinguished service in that capacity.

At these exercises intermediate honors will be conferred upon those who fulfill the necessary requirements. There were many recipients of this honor last year.

Gaithersburg Man, 75, Severely Hurt by Auto

George W. Glover, 75-year-old resident of Gaithersburg, Md., was treated at Walter Reed Hospital last night for severe injuries received when he was knocked down near Woodside, Md., by a car operated by Charles F. Barrett, of that town. Mr. Barrett told police that lights on an approaching car pervented him from seeing the aged pedestrian until he was almost upon him.

Mr. Glover was later removed to Emergency Hospital. He suffered a deep cut over his right eye and bruises about the face and body.

SEVEN-COUNTY FAIR AT ORANGE CLOSES

Agricultural Exhibit Said to Have Exceeded Those Held in Past Years.

FANCY WORK IS FEATURE

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., Oct. 3.—The governor's party, headed by Lieut. Gov. J. H. Price, saw the close of the Seven-County Fair, formerly the Orange County Fair, here today.

The party stopped on its way to Richmond from the Hoover lodge on the Rapidan River, which was visited during the day. Heads of department's of State government, senators and their ladies made up the party. Upon their arrival at the fair members were taken on a tour of inspection by E. V. Breeden, manager of the fair association.

The fair this year was exceedingly satisfactory, officials report, considering the severe drought in the Piedmont section of Virginia for the last four months. Economies were made by the fair association to meet the expected shortage in gate receipts.

Cattle Exhibits Omitted.

Entries were well filled in all departments, excepting the cattle department, which was omitted by request of exhibitors, due to the poor condition cattle were left in by the drought.

The agricultural exhibit exceeded those of previous years.

Floral and horticultural exhibits, though not as large as usual, showed a superior quality. Sheep and swine departments equaled those of last year. Among the latter departments entries was the grand champion 840-pound Poland China hog from the recent State fair.

Demonstrations by Children.

Much fancy work, hand work and canned goods was to be seen in the home demonstration booths of Orange, Madison and Greene counties. These booths arranged activities each day for its club members from the various surrounding communities. These activities, put on by small children, included instruction in salad preparations, sandwich making, metal cleaning and measurements.

The school department, supervised by Mrs. S. D. Bray, rural supervisor, was considered better than that of last year.

Among its entries were illustrations of Indian and Eskimo life, done in salt and flour by grade pupils.

High school pupils prepared papers, charts and posters on general fields of mathematics, English, history and science.

Dr. Darby in 9th Year As Federation Executive

Dr. W. L. Darby has begun the ninth year of his service as executive secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches. During this period the organization has grown to large proportions and it wields a helpful influence in the religious life of Washington and the surrounding territory.

Many of the leading clergymen of the city have been identified with it in some official capacity and have rendered fine service.

Second Baptist Church Will Hold Homecoming

Home-coming day is always a good day, whether it be a family gathering or a clan meeting of a church union.

At the Second Baptist Church the doors will be thrown wide open tomorrow, and the pastor, the Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, will be standing there to greet all those who come home. It should be a pretty service.

Pollard to Attend Gen. Lee Services

Last Surviving Member of Staff Will Be Speaker at Stratford.

Fredericksburg, Va., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Gov. John Garland Pollard and his daughter, Miss Suzanne Pollard, will be guests of honor at the sixtieth anniversary of the death of Gen. Robert E. Lee, to be observed here, Sunday, October 12.

Gov. Pollard will speak, and Miss Pollard, the official hostess of the Executive Mansion, whose engagement was recently announced to Herbert Lee Boatright, will accompany him at the exercises.

Other speakers on the memorial program will be Maj. Giles B. Cooke, the last surviving member of Gen. Lee's staff, Dr. Henry Louis Smith, past president of Washington and Lee University, and Judge Robert Bingham, Louisville, Ky., publisher. The services will be held at Stratford-on-the-Potomac, conducted by the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation.

LEGION HEAD BOOM FOR VIRGINIAN SEEN

IS STATE GROUP CHIEF

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 3. (A.P.)—As Legionnaires of the Virginia Department were gathering here tonight, preparing to embark tomorrow for the national convention beginning Monday in Boston, a final reminder was given that Col. B. M. Roszel, retiring commander, will be nominated for national commander.

The announcement made to the Virginia delegation by W. Glenn Elliott, department adjutant, follows:

"A boom for Col. B. M. Roszel, retiring state commander, as national head of the Legion, is gaining momentum and now has extended far beyond the borders of the Old Dominion. Not only have district conventions and individual posts of Virginia indorsed him for this high post, but persons prominent in Legion affairs in many sections of the nation have placed their stamp of approval on his candidacy.

"A soldier, speaker, writer and scholar with a notable list of achievements in the war, as a legionnaire and as an educator, Col. Roszel is a man well qualified to occupy this place of honor."

He quoted Virginia newspapers as saying, "In backing Col. Roszel for national commander of the American Legion, the Virginia Legion is offering a man exceptionally qualified for this high and responsible office. His training, education, military record, leadership and his patriotism equip him as few other men are equipped to head the great body of World War veterans of the Nation. Col. Roszel is a profound student of history. He is steeped in the traditions of America, and there is no more zealous advocate in this country of maintaining true American traditions and honor. He has no patience with 'peace at any price' pacifists. His burning patriotism is an inspiration to everyone. He is a brilliant writer, scholar, speaker and soldier of proven ability.

"As commander of the department of Virginia, Col. Roszel has been an inspiration to the Virginia veterans and has demonstrated his ability to lead the legionnaires of the Nation.

VIRGINIA OFFICIALS VISIT HOOVER CAMP

Nearly 125 Make Auto Tour From State Capital to Rapidan.

MARINES ACT AS GUIDES

Special to The Washington Post.

Culpeper, Va., Oct. 3.—Nearly 125 of the highest officials of the State of Virginia were guests of William E. Carson, on a tour of inspection at the President's Rapidan fishing lodge. The party left Richmond at 9 o'clock in private cars and buses, arriving in Culpeper shortly after noon, and were there joined by a large group from northern Virginia.

At Criglersville there was a stop for lunch, served at the request of Mr. Carson, at the home of E. E. Chapman, where the Chief Executive and Mrs. Hoover stopped on their first trip to the Rapidan.

After the lunch, former Representative George Perry asked Mr. Carson to tell the party something of the circumstances leading to the establishment of the camp. Mr. Carson complied, telling of the strict conditions laid down by the President and how these were met.

Lauds Highway Work.

He lauded J. C. Albright, of the State Highway Department, for his ability in building a mountain road which other engineers had deemed impracticable.

The trip over the mountain was made after lunch, all going over with ease, except the largest bus, which had difficulty taking one of the short curves on the first mountain.

The guests were given the freedom of the camp, only a few buildings being closed to them. Officers from the Marine camp acted as guides.

Herbert Hoover, jr., who is resting at the camp, was not present while the State officials were there, being at one of the cabins higher up. Maj. Long, commanding officer of the Marine guard, left shortly before the party arrived.

Gov. Pollard Absent.

Gov. Pollard was unable to make the trip because of a speech at Lynchburg tonight. Among the State officials present were:

Lieut. Gov. and Mrs. James Price, William Meade Fletcher and George F. Peery, of the corporation commission; Judges Browning, Gregory and Reynolds, of the Virginia Supreme Court; Tax Commissioner Morresette, Harris Hart, superintendent of education; Dr. McIlwane, State librarian; Benjamin Purcell, State treasurer; Dr. Eckenrode, Rufus G. Roberts, William E. Carson, William T. Pleasants, of conservation and development commission; Wade H. Massie, of Highway Commission, and C. S. Mullen, chief engineer of that organization; Dr. Ennion G. Williams, of State Board of Health; Col. Dan Porter of the legislature; Carter Wormley, State publicity director.

Others in the party were Capt. and Mrs. M. H. Calfee, C. M. Waite, James Frank, Col. and Mrs. Carroll Menefee, and Mr. and Mrs. Hooker, of Richmond. Many of the officials were accompanied by their wives.

Mother and Child Hurt In Intersection Crash

Mrs. ettie Toney, of Alexandria Va., and her 6-year-old daughter, Lucille, were cut and bruised about the body yesterday afternoon when a car driven by Walker Toney collided with a machine at Connecticut avenue and M street northwest. Miss Virginia L. Roberts, of 2318 Ashmead place northwest, the driver of the other car, was not injured.

TAX EQUALIZATION BOARD READY TO SIT

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

After several weeks of study and a survey of the county, the Arlington County Board of Tax Equalization now is prepared to hold public hearings in the County Board of Supervisors rooms at the courthouse on the following days at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, according to an announcement made yesterday by Chairman Emery N. Hosmer. The dates for the hearings are October 14, 16, 17, 21, 23, 24, 27, 28, 29, and 31.

As stated by the chairman these hearings will be held for the purpose of equalizing real estate assessments and for the purpose of hearing all complaints of inequalities, including errors in acreage in such real estate assessments.

The notice which went out yesterday provides that any taxpayer may apply to the board for the equalization of his assessment.

The term of the board expires December 31 of this year, during which time, insofar as it is able to do so, the board desires to accomplish the end that the burden of taxation shall rest equally upon all taxpayers within the county.

Prompt action on the part of interested parties having cause for complaint will facilitate the accomplishment of this end, Chairman Hosmer stated.

Attention is called to all persons wishing to participate in the coming election for the selection of members to Congress and to vote on the question of whether there shall be a change in the form of county government that today will be the last opportunity to register. Registrars in all of the voting precints will sit today from sunrise to sunset.

The Arlington Rotary Club meeting yesterday at the Washington Golf and Country Club had as its guests, Ernest F. Cox, J. Lazard and William Leitch.

Mr. Leitch, executive officer of the Boys Scout movement addressed the club on the value of the Boy Scout movement and congratulated the club on learning that it was its purpose to sponsor a movement in Arlington County to make it a permanent organization in the county.

Following Mr. Leitch, Mr. Lazard, one of the teachers at the Washington-Lee High School, spoke of the needs for support for athletics at the school, and hoped that the club would give the subject its serious consideration.

Robert Kelly, 27 years old, giving his address as 1104 Morse place northeast, Washington, narrowly escaped serious injury when struck by the engine of the East Arlington Colored Fire Department yesterday afternoon at the intersection of Mount Vernon avenue and Columbia Pike.

Kelly was rushed to the Emergency Hospital, where he was treated for many cuts about the body. His automobile was wrecked.

According to the firemen, the machines met in the intersection as the engine was proceeding to the county property yard to have the battery charged. The engine was in charge of Fred Brooks, driver. No arrests were made.

The Arlington County Democratic committee will hold a special meeting next Wednesday night in the offices of A. L. Kelley at Clarendon at 8 o'clock.

Judge Howard W. Smith, the Democratic candidate for Congress from the Eighth Congressional District, of which Arlington County is a part, will address the meeting.

It is stated that the meeting has been called for the purpose of discussing plans for the campaign prior to the election to be held Tuesday, November 4.

Morning and evening services at the Clarendon Baptist Church tomorrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell.

The newly organized United Baptist Church of Cherrydale will hold both morning and evening services tomorrow in the Masonic Temple. The services will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Elmer Lucas.

Services tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at St. George's Episcopal Church will be in the form of a public reception to new members and will be followed with the celebration of Holy Communion conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Henry J. Miller.

The Rev. George H. Fielding, who for the past five years has been the pastor of the Clarendon Methodist Church, and who leaves for his new charge at Waynesboro, Va., during the coming week, will conduct services at the church tomorrow. His subject for the morning service will be "The Race and the Prize." In the evening he will preach on "The Sin of Failing to Pray."

Confederate Veteran Dies in Shepherdstown

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., Oct. 3.—Volney Purcell Hill, a Confederate veteran, died yesterday at the home of his son, Craven Hill, in Shepherdstown, W. Va. He was 88 years of age and the son of the late James Washington and Mary Lodge Hill. He was born in Frederick County, Va.

During the Civil War he served in Company A, Eighth Virginia Regiment. Besides his son, Craven, another son, Percy Hill, of Hagerstown, Md., survives. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Sarah C. Beans, of Round Hill, Va. Funeral services will be held at the residence in Shepherdstown, W. Va., Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with burial at Charles Town, W. Va.

Relatives Get $300,000 E. B. Moseley Estate

Danville, Va., Oct. 3.—The will of the late E. G. Moseley, prominent Virginia Methodist layman, who died here a few days ago, has been submitted to probate in the corporation court. He left an estate valued at approximately $300,000, represented by stocks, bonds and real estate. All of the estate was willed to his widow, daughter, sisters and several nephews and nieces.

The last testament of Mrs. Fred R. Clarke also has been probated, disposing of an state valued at $50,000, which is bequeathed to her three sons, Arthur Harris Clarke, of Hinton, W. Va.; John Alfred Clarke, of Elon College, and Walter Fieldhouse Clarke, of Washington, D. C.

A. A. A. GROUP HOLDS ALEXANDRIA SESSION

Function of Advisory Body Is Explained; Capital Is Represented.

CADETS ARE PROMOTED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

The organization meeting of the American Automobile Association's northern Virginia advisory committee, composed of certain residents of Alexandria and the counties of Arlington and Fairfax, was held yesterday in the George Mason Hotel. State Senator Frank L. Ball, of Clarendon, chairman of the committee, presided, and short talks in explanation of the aims and purposes of the committee were made by C. P. Clark, national chairman of the A. A. A., and George W. Offutt, jr., chairman of the District of Columbia division.

The professor of military science and tactics at the Alexandria High School has announced these appointments and promotions in the corps of cadets:

To be cadet first lieutenants, J. Moriarty, C. H. Fletcher and M. Violette; to be acting cadet second lieutenant and ordnance officer, R. Cohen; to be cadet second lieutenant and supply officer, L. Jacobs; to be acting cadet sergeant major, G. Craten; to be acting cadet supply sergeant, W. Clagett.

Henry T. Moncure, principal, of the Alexandria High School, has donated a medal, to be known as the Moncure Military Medal, to be awarded the cadet of the local high school who is reported as being the neatest and most soldierly in appearance, bearing and conduct at stated inspections, the cadet receiving the greatest number of favorable reports at the end of the contest receiving the medal.

The fourth annual trade exhibit and style show now being held in the armory under the auspices of Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, continues to attract large crowds each night. Last night was designated as "school night," and a large number of pupils of the public schools attended. There were fourteen prizes awarded, these being donated by the various merchants who have booths.

The entertainment program last night included selections by Alfred O'Down's, boy tenor of Washington; the Pierpont twin sisters in ukelele and song numbers, little Miss Margaret Eddington in songs and dances, trio numbers by the Harlow sisters, xylophone selections by George Huntington, acrobatic dance by Aubrey Shepherd and songs by Lawrence Roland.

The city has just completed the improvement of the Mount Vernon avenue roadway from Hume Station to the northern end of the city limits, a distance of approximately 1 mile. The section from the city line to the intersection with Russell road has been open for some time, but that part lying between Russell road and Hume was opened to traffic for the first time yesterday evening.

The new roadway is 28 feet wide, of bituminous macadam, and was constructed at a cost of $35,000. The old roadway was only 18 feet wide, and very rough. One of the most important improvements was the removal of the old Hume Spring, which was in the center of the roadway, and was regarded as a decided menace to traffic. This was moved just north of its former location, on property belonging to the Hume estate.

Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, was host yesterday to 120 members of the legion post of the Chicago Board of Trade, en route to the legion national convention in Boston, which opens Monday. Before stopping in Alexandria, the Chicago delegation paid a visit to Mount Vernon, and on their return to Alexandria were welcomed at historic Gadsby's Tavern, the home of the local post, by Mayor Carroll Pierce and Sidney Weil, commander of the local post, who made short addresses of welcome.

A delegation from the Far West, also en route to the Boston convention, will be entertained at Gadsby's today by the local post.

The proposed three-day excursion to the lower Potomac, Chesapeake Bay and York River, sponsored by the Rotary, Kiwanis and Shrine Clubs, which was to have started yesterday, was called off owing to the inability of the committee to obtain the required number of persons to make the trip. It was necessary to have 150 in the party, and only 60 had signified their intention of going on the trip.

A deed of conveyance of the city gas plant to the Alexandria Gas Co., Inc., for a consideration of $750,000, was recorded yesterday with the clerk of the corporation court, this being the largest property transaction recorded here for many years past. The recording fee was $360, which accrues to the State of Virginia.

"Mother" Jones Alive Largely by Own Will

(Associated Press.)

"Mother" Mary Jones remained alive yesterday largely because of her will to live, Dr. H. H. Howlett, attending the 100-year-old labor protagonist, said she had continued to grow weaker until she would fall asleep in the midst of a conversation.

Little nourishment is necessary to keep alive a person of her age, he said, but she has not been able to assimilate enough food to gain strength.

CITZEN UNITS PLAN ROSE-TEST GARDEN

ORCHID SHOW IS LISTED

Six citizens associations, a parent-teacher association and two women's clubs will sponsor a plan of the Montgomery Suburban Garden Club to plant a climbing rose test garden at the Somerset School, it was revealed at a meeting of the garden club last night in the school. The plan is to utilize the fence along the school grounds as a test garden.

Fifty varieties of climbing roses will be planted and each variety labelled so that residents can visit the test garden and decide on the variety they wish to utilize in their own gardens.

The names of the organizations which make possible the test garden, which will add a lovely spot of beauty to the school grounds, according to Aubrey B. Carter, president of the garden club, also will be permanently labelled on the fence. They are the Friendship, Somerset, Drummond, Chevy Chase Terrace, Chevy Chase Gardens and Kenwood Citizens Associations, the Somerset Parent Teacher Association, the Somerset Women's Club and the Friendship Heights Woman's Club.

Announcement of the fourth annual Orchid Society, which is to be held October 16 to 18 at the Willard Hotel, also was made at the meeting.

B. Y. Morrison, editor of the National Horticultural Magazine, lectured on "Fall Preparation of the Garden for Spring Flowering Bulbs," and exhibited colored views of various bulb plants. The lecture was given as an aid to the residents of the section who have banded together to order 10,000 tulip, hyacinth, crocus and other spring flowering bulbs direct from Holland so that they might be prepared to care from the bulbs which are expected to arrive within two weeks.

Maryland Farmer Dies After Fall From Porch

John McLane Brown, 65-year-old farmer of Nanjemoy, Charles County, Md., died at Providence Hospital yesterday afternoon, fifteen minutes after he was admitted for treatment of a fractured skull.

He was brought to the hospital by Ardie Brown, a nephew, who told authorities that his uncle had fallen from the porch of his home about 12:30 o'clock yesterday morning. Maryland authorities were investigating the case last night.

Man Injured by Train Is Dead in Lynchburg

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 3.—Rawley A. Younger, 45, who was struck by a Chesapeake & Ohio train and knocked into the canal which parallels the track, died at Lynchburg Hospital from shock.

He is survived by his widow and six brothers, among whom are L. B. Younger, Baltimore, and M. B. Younger, coach of Davidson (N. C.) College.

Danville Tobacco Sales Light.

Danville, Va., Oct. 3 (Special).—Sales of tobacco here since the new marketing season began have been unusually light, chiefly because the growers are still busy curing. The initial offerings have been of poor quality, and the belief generally is that the drought of the last summer has resulted in a crop far below par.

LAMAR'S FORMER WIFE TO REMARRY

Bride-to-Be Was Divorced Last Year From Well-Known Pugilist.

CEREMONY IS TONIGHT

Once the bride of Henry Nicholson Lamar, grandson of a late United States Supreme Court justice and twice Amateur Athletic Union light-heavyweight boxing champion, from whom she was divorced last November, Mrs. Phyllic Moore Lamar tonight will wed Bernard J. Gallagher, well known young attorney.

The marriage will be solemnized at her home at 1744 Riggs place northwest in the presence of 200 invited guests by the Rev. C. Ernest Smith, rector of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, with a reception following.

The elopement and secret marriage of Lamar and Phyllis Moore at Marlboro, Md., in 1922 while both were students at Western High School here attracted considerable prominence at a time when the young man was carving out a career in sports.

A star football and basket ball player at the school when the couple staged it srunaway marriage, Lamar in his senior year won the A. A. U light-heavyweight crown. In attending the University of Virginia the next year he duplicated the feat at matches in Boston, where he moved to make his permanent residence shortly afterward in resigning from the university he was listed as a professional fighter.

Shortly after issuance of the divorce in Concord, Mass., Lamar was married last New Year's Eve in Boston to Miss Juanita Mae Galvin, of Newton, Mass., a graduate of Radcliffe College. He has continued in pugilism under the same management in Boston with Jack Sharkey, world's heavyweight championship contender.

Both Lamar and Mrs. Lamar had long resided in Washington. Grandson of the late Supreme Court Justice L. Q. C. Lamar, he had lived here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. C. Lamar, and his two brothers, Jan and Mirabo Lamar.

Mrs. Lamar attended American University for two years and recently returned from an extensive trip abroad.

She will be attended at her wedding by two matrons of honor, Mrs. Ralph Bang and Mrs. D. C. Buffield, while Mr. Gallagher will have as best man George Elliott, a Washington attorney. Mr. Gallagher resides at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Oct. 3.—The Page County School Teachers Association has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: George S. Blanton, Shenandoah, president; Mrs. Elsie Judy, Stanley, secretary, and Murray Corder, of Rileyville, treasurer.

At a meeting held in the Luray High School building addresses were delivered by G. W. Peters, State superintendent of secondary education; E. B. Graves, State superintendent of physical education, and Miss Frieda Koonth, junior secretary of the Cooperative Education Society of Virginia.

MRS. JEANIE WALSH DIES.

Suffered From Paralytic Stroke Since April of This Year.

Mrs. Jeanie Patterson Walsh, widow of the late Dr. Ralph Walsh, of Washington, died yesterday at her home, 1710 N street northwest. Mrs. Walsh, who was 80 years of age, had been suffering from a paralytic stroke which occurred in April of this year.

Born in Mississippi, Mrs. Walsh spent her girlhood in Port Gibson and Vicksburg, coming to Washington as a young woman. A son, Dr. Ferdinand C. Walsh, of San Antonio, Tex., and a daughter, Miss Jean L. Walsh, of this city, survive her.

Retired Farmer Found Dead.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Oct. 3 (Special).—Michael Ramsburg, 63, a retired farmer, was found dead in the yard at his home here by members of the family. Death was laid to a sudden heart attack. Surviving are the widow, three daughters, one son, one sister and three half brothers. Burial Saturday.

Retired Merchant Succumbs.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 3 (Special).—Charles B. Harris, sr., a retired merchant, died Tuesday evening at Scottsville, after a long illness. He is survived by his widow and three daughters and two sons.

BASEMENT SCHOOL PLAN ABANDONED

LIQUOR FINES IMPOSED

Use of the basement auditorium of the District Line School to augment classroom space because of overcrowded conditions has been abandoned by the Prince Georges County board of education following a protest by patrons.

A delegation consisting of Mrs. W. F. Miller and Mrs. Francis Carmody, trustees of the school, and Mrs. Marian Baden, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, yesterday visited County Superintendent of Schools Nicholas Orem at Upper Marlboro to protest against the plan. Mr. Orem later announced that the propose i utilization of the auditorium would be abandoned and part-time classes for the first-grade children substituted to relieve congestion.

The county board of education had decided to have the cement floor of the auditorium covered with a wooden floor and movable partitions built so that a portion of the auditorium could be used as classroom space. Unit heaters were planned to provide heat for the classroom.

The parents objected to the use of the room because the walls were not plastered, but are of brick, and the delegation informed Supt. Orem that the patrons would be better satisfied with part-time classes than with the use of the room as a classroom.

Enrollment at the school had reached a figure of 358 children and the eight teachers are to be augmented by the addition of Miss Rachel Dudley, a graduate of the Frostburg Normal School, who has been appointed a teacher.

First grade children are to be divided into two classes, each of which will attend school for a half day. The teacher relieved of classroom work will teach music.

Clarence L. Taylor, of District Heights, was fined $75 in Prince Georges County Police Court at Upper Marlboro yesterday after he had been convicted of possessing 15 gallons of liquor. The contraband beverage was found in his car after it was in a collision with another machine.

Taylor told Judge J. Chew Sheriff that he was taking the liquor home to keep for Christmas. He also was fined $5 on a charge of reckless driving, and $10 for driving without a license. No one was hurt in the collision, which involved a car belonging to Thomas D. Wilson, of Upper Marlboro. Taylor was arrested by Constable W. E. Brown.

A fine of $50 also was placed against Lawrence Spencer, colored, who was convicted of having a case of liquor in his car. Spencer said that his car had been damaged in an accident with another machine, and that the driver of the other car gave him the liquor in place of damages.

William Jones, colored, was sentenced to six months in the House of Correction upon his conviction on a charge of assault and battery on his wife. He was arrested by Sheriff Charles J. Early.

Only 11 cases of typhoid fever were reported in Prince Georges County during September, as against 15 during August, according to the monthly report of the health officer. So far, however, the origin of the disease in the county has not been found. A theory that some of the cases had come from contaminated milk was checked, but nothing was found to indicate that this might be the case.

In one case disposal of sewage in a dry creek is thought to be responsible, and in another polluted water is believed to be the source of the infection. Most of the cases have been removed to hospitals outside the county, and there is small danger of infection from those at present suffering from it.

In spite of the fifteen cases during August, no deaths were reported due to this cause, the report shows. In Hyattsville, where three cases were reported, 187 persons were inoculated at the first clinic, and many more injections of the serum were given by private physicians.

Only one case of measles has been reported in the county.

PROGRAM PLANNED BY LEE ASSOCIATION

Free Entertainment Tonight in Fairfax County to Further Aims.

SCHOOL LEAGUE ELECTS

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

The Lee District Improvement Association will give a free entertainment this evening at 8 o'clock in the Sydenstricker Schoolhouse. Several prominent speakers and a musical program will be the main features of the evening.

The leaders of the association state that this rally is being held to acquaint the people of the district with the aims and purposes of the organization, which was founded last spring as the Rolling Road Improvement Association when the question of a bond issue for hardsurfacing several roads in that district arose. The parent association gradually enlarged the scope of its endeavors and the name was changed to include the residents of the entire district.

It is planned to hold several of these meetings in the different communities of the district.

The Ladies' Guild of the Episcopal Church at Falls Church will hold a food sale this afternoon from 1 to 5 o'clock in East Falls Church. Mrs. L. H. Hiett and Mrs. A. M. Wheeler are the joint chairmen in charge of the sale.

The Fairview School League has elected O. W. Chesley president, Emmett Day vice president and Mrs. Troy Hubbard secretary-treasurer. The most important question discussed at the meeting was the overcrowded conditions existing at the school this term. It was pointed out by the members that when the consolidation schedule was announced last summer by the school board, it was stated then that should the closing of the schools at Popes Head and Oak Grove result in a crowded condition a room would be added to the present building and another teacher be employed.

A committee composed of O. W. Chesley, Aleck Haight, Claude Riggles, N. W. Stabler, R. Makley, A. Hampton, Miss Ludema Sayre, Mrs. L. Demory, Mrs. M. M. Scott and A. Wells was appointed to attend the meeting of the county school board Monday to present a resolution requesting that such relief be granted.

Today was set as "Clean Up" day and every family represented in the school was asked to meet at the schoolhouse at 9 o'clock this morning and bring rakes, hoes, &c., to participate in the work of making the school grounds a credit to the Fairview community. Cement steps are to be built as an approach to the building, material being promised by those present at the meeting.

The report of the Fairfax County engineer, F. N. Larkin, on the amount of money spent last month on the roads shows that $878.45 was spent in Centerville district on roads Nos. 4, 11, 13, 20, 23 and the various district roads. In Dranesville district $1,670.95 was expended on roads Nos 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and the different district roads. The roads in Falls Church district were improved to the extent of $603.87. They include roads Nos. 2, 16, 25, 26 and 28.

Roads No. 8, 13, 14 and 16 were improved in Lee District at a total cost of $1,315.35. In Mount Vernon district $1,561.28 was spent on roads No. 16, 17, 18, 19, 118 and the Gunston Hall road. Providence district road improvements cost $768.09, which was expended on roads No. 2, 6, 7, 13, 21, 22, and the Franklin Park Road. The above figures include the total cost of all labor and material used.

Divisional Superintendent of Schools Wilbert T. Woodson reports that he has received a letter from the State Department of Education saying that only one-fourth of the State appropriation for county schools will be available for use at present. This is a departure from the State's policy of previous years, when one-half the money was made available for county use during the first month of the school term. It was first reported last week that none of the State's school funds would be ready for distribution to the counties before December. The action of releasing one-fourth for immediate use will save many counties money, as it would have been necessary for the school boards to borrow enough funds to meet the teachers' pay rolls.

Rites Are Planned For Capt. Doyle

Funeral Services Will Be Held Tuesday Afternoon; Burial in Cedar Hill.

Funeral services for Capt. Robert Emmett Doyle, of the Eighth Precinct, who died Thursday, are being planned for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church, with burial at Cedar Hill Cemetery. The Rev. Moses R. Lovell, pastor of the church, will officiate.

Six members of the Police Department will be selected to act as honorary pallbearers. Active pallbearers will be named by the Doyle family. As many members of the Eighth Precinct as can be relieved from duty will attend the funeral. Flags at all precincts are to remain at half-mast for 30 days.

It was at first planned to hold the funeral on Monday, but a delay has been decided on so that relatives living in California may reach here in time for the final rites. Inspector Louis J. Stoll is in charge of the arrangements for the funeral, and further details are to be announced. Capt. Doyle was one of the veteran commanders of the Washington police force. He was attacked with heart failure while in a lunchroom.

Nye to Make Bay State Campaign Study Soon

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Nye, of the Senate campaign funds committee, will make his personal survey of the Massachusetts senatorial campaign expenditures the first of next week, and upon basis of that study will determine whether a committee inquiry will be undertaken.

The committee chairman plans to be in Boston Monday. Meanwhile, the committee members are preparing to go to North Carolina October 14. Charges that "outside money" was used in behalf of the successful campaign of Josiah W. Bailey for the Democratic senatorial nomination in North Carolina will be aired there.

Alcohol Council Meets in Capital

(Associated Press.)

The industrial advisory council appointed by Commissioner Doran to cooperate with the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol in working out problems arising under the prohibition law perfected its organization here yesterday and discussed the new alcohol regulations. Henry S. Chatfield, president of the National Oil, Paint, and Varnish Association of New York, was chosen chairman.

The committee of sixteen was named by Mr. Doran to advise the bureau regarding the new regulations drawn up under the Williamson law, which placed supervision of the Industrial Alcohol Bureau jointly upon the Treasury and the Department of Justice. After considering the new regulations under which industrial alcohol will be manufactured and sold, the committee had Assistant Attorney General Youngquist, Assistant Secretary Lowman and Commissioner Doran as its luncheon guests.

Mr. Doran told the committee that all legitimate users of alcohol will receive adequate supplies and said that the Government dealings with doctors, druggists and manufacturers were based upon the principle of a square deal.

William A. Hall Dies at Age of 60

Tobacco Merchant for 35 Years to Be Buried on Monday Morning.

William A. Hall, 60 years old, who engaged in the wholesale and retail tobacco business here for 35 years and the maker of Hall Star cigars, died yesterday at his home, 634 G street southeast, after an illness of more than two years.

He was born in St. Marys County, Md., and came to this city when a boy. At an early age he started his tobacco business at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue, which he continued until his retirement ten years ago.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie M. Hall; a son, Wade P., and a daughter, Mary, all of this city. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Peter's Church, where a requiem mass will be sung. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery.

THE CRISIS IN CUBA.

President Machado of Cuba has asked the Congress to suspend constitutional guarantees in Havana and its environs until after the national election on November 1. This step is made necessary by the efforts of disaffected elements to stir up public disorder and prevent the holding of the elections.

Economic distress in Cuba has been seized upon by communistic and rebellious elements as a means of organizing movements against the Machado government, of such formidable proportions that strong-arm methods must be employed if public order is to be maintained. College students and other impressionable folk have been inflamed by cunning agitators, who lay great stress upon the charge that Gen. Machado procured an amendment of the constitution whereby he might extend his term of office.

As usual, the United States Government is roundly denounced by two sides in Cuba—by those who are disappointed because this Government does not intervene and set the Machado government aside, and by those who are afraid that the United States will intervene.

The position taken by the Washington administration toward Cuba is one of noninterference, so far as has been disclosed. That position is the only one that can be properly taken. The Platt amendment would be intolerable to both countries if its plain intent were distorted into a warrant for interference by the United States in quarrels among the Cubans. Nothing short of a collapse of government there would justify intervention. The amendment is intended to bring the United States to the aid of Cuba whenever Cuba is unable to maintain public peace and order. The objective always is government of, by and for the Cuban people.

Cuba has a government. There is no reason why it should be forced to defend itself against violence, but if violence is threatened there is only one course to pursue. The preservation of law and order is the first duty of every government. President Machado has taken prompt and decisive measures to forestall disorder, as he is bound to do.

If the Machado government does not command the approval of the majority of Cubans they have the right to vote it out of office. The elections on November 1 afford an opportunity for voters to express themselves. Charges that opposition voters are intimidated and their votes suppressed are always current, even in the United States, but there is no evidence that the elections in Cuba will not be fairly conducted. Cubans who prefer to resort to violence rather than register their opposition at the ballot box are striking at the independence of their country, and can not expect to win the sympathy of the American people and government.

The government of Cuba has a right to call upon all loyal Cubans to cooperate in meeting the emergency that has arisen because of economic adversities. Gen. Machado is doing his best to extricate Cuba from its misfortune. He has at his command the best men in the country, and the hearty cooperation of Americans. Public disorders and frustration of the elections would be a step toward anarchy and American intervention. Rallying all law-abiding Cubans to his side, the President of Cuba is fully warranted in making it known that he will suppress disorder at any cost.

CENSUS DATA CONFIDENTIAL.

Attorney General Mitchell has ruled that data gathered for the census must be kept strictly confidential. The decision is particularly interesting because it means that the States and societies interested in the eradication of illiteracy will no longer be able to secure lists of illiterates from the Census Bureau.

In so far as this policy tends to make the promotion of literacy more difficult it is to be regretted. Nevertheless, the rule is fundamentally sound, and ought to be administered rigorously. The law provides that information given to census enumerators shall be used only for the statistical purposes for which it was supplied. Only sworn employes of the bureau are allowed access to the files, and the census authorities are forbidden to make public data furnished by any individual or establishment in such a way that it could be identified.

It is necessary to keep this information absolutely confidential, not only to safeguard private rights but to preserve the dignity and the usefulness of the census. In his census proclamation President Hoover said: "There need be no fear that any disclosure will be made regarding any individual person or his affairs." The people responded to the census under the assurance that all the information they gave would be guarded from the public gaze. Otherwise it would have been impossible to have taken an accurate and complete census.

Many people who have been denied the advantages of an education are sensitive about their inability to read and write. It is unfair to them to divulge this information when they have given it in confidence. If the rightful function of the census as the basis of national statistics is to be preserved, all personal data gathered by the enumerators must remain confidential.

AT ST. LOUIS TODAY.

The world series of 1930 goes into its second phase this afternoon. The Philadelphia Athletics already have won two games and rule the favorites. Today, however, the St. Louis Cardinals will be playing on their home field before a friendly multitude, and it may be that they will rise to the greatness for which the preseries prognosticators gave them credit. Certainly in the first two games of the series the Cardinals gave no hint of unusual ball-playing ability.

In the two games of the series the Athletics amassed a total of 11 runs as against the Cardinals' 3. St. Louis pitchers fanned 11 men while the Philadelphia hurlers struck out 13. Philadelphia batters scored 3 home runs while only 1 St. Louisan hit a four-bagger. The fielding average for the two teams is about on a par, standing at .970 for Philadelphia and .969 for St. Louis. The Athletics have a batting average of .207 and the Cardinals .239.

It is obvious from the record that what St. Louis lacks is the ability to score men once they are on the bases. The Cardinals are not conquered by the Athletic pitchers, as is proved by their superior batting average, but they left 14 men on bases during the two games, while Philadelphia scored all but 7 of her men.

This afternoon, a different story may be written. There will be inspiration for the Cardinals in the friendly crowd that will gather in the St. Louis ball park. Even though Philadelphia rules an outstanding favorite to win in short order, nothing is certain in baseball.

A STUDY OF SCHOOL PROBLEMS.

The National Education Association has opened a drive for $1,000,000 to be used as an endowment fund for educational research. Each State has been given a quota to be filled in the coming three months. The money is to be raised under a novel system of issuing insurance guarantees. Contributors will pay on bequest policies for ten years, at the end of which time the entire sum and interest will be turned over to the association for permanent investment. In this way the association hopes to make $40,000 annually available for research.

"The greatest need that confronts educational research at present," says Dr. Randall J. Condon, chairman of the fund committee, "is the establishment of agencies national in scope, adequately financed and with properly trained staffs to make comprehensive studies of fundamental problems common to all schools." Research that is being carried on under present conditions is usually too localized to be of general value. It is the purpose of the association to coordinate these efforts, and to facilitate the solution of problems that confront educational authorities throughout the country.

Among the subjects that will be given first attention in these Nation-wide studies are parental education, local community life and the interrelationship between general and vocational education. From the public viewpoint the most interesting of these studies will concern the fruition of education in the commercial, social and cultural life of the community. What is the effect of scholastic training on the life of the individual and, therefore, upon society in general? Some colleges in the United States are giving attention to this question, and attempting to associate their courses more closely with the realities that are encountered after students leave school. The elementary schools and high schools are also dealing with the question in their own way. But the public is conscious of the fact that curricula are still too remote from human experience and that they contain too many unessential or technical details of learning which the student soon forgets with no loss to himself.

The National Education Association is in a better position than any other agency, not excluding the Federal Government, to make these studies and to disseminate the useful information that will be assembled. Its project for an endowment fund should have the support of every patron of education.

LOSING FIGHT ON WATERWAYS.

Speaking before the American Bankers Association, Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago Northwestern Railway Co., vigorously assailed the Government's inland waterways development policy.

Occasionally of recent years a spirit antagonistic to waterways has revealed itself among railroad executives. Not many months ago a movement was organized for the purpose of fighting waterways appropriations, but cooler heads were able to dissuade the originators of the movement, and it died a natural death. Unquestionably, however, many railway executives are opposed to the development of waterways.

Competent authorities assert that the time is approaching when rail facilities will be insufficient to provide the transportation requirements of the country. More and more, as population increases, the railways must turn to the carrying of passengers and freight requiring expeditious delivery, leaving to supplementary carriers the burden of transporting heavy, bulky commodities, the value of which is not affected by relatively slow delivery. It is this function that the waterways are destined to fulfill. They will supplement the facilities of the railways rather than compete with them.

It is a short-sighted policy that leads railway men to fight the expansion of the Nation's waterways. Mr. Sargent's argument that the Government's financial interest in waterways is contrary to the spirit of the Constitution is without merit. The railways were enabled to take their first faltering footsteps and to develop to maturity as a direct result of the Government's financial interest in their success. Their early life was made possible through Government land grants. Now the Government is again rendering an actual service to the railways by fostering the development of inland waterways. On these waters will be borne a great volume of traffic that will be loaded in freight cars for final distribution at water-rail terminals, one of which has recently been completed on the banks of the Ohio near Cincinnati. Moreover, the railways will be called upon to gather in for waterway distribution produce and other commodities from sections that have heretofore been isolated by economic factors as raw-material producing centers.

The railroads can not afford to carry on a war against waterways. Public opinion would not countenance such tactics. Supporters of inland waterway development have carried on a long and fruitful campaign for public support, with the result that any opposition to the expansion of the system will be looked upon as selfishly inspired. Development of the waterways will go on whether the railways fight them or not. The rail carriers have nothing to gain and everything to lose by impeding the progress of waterway development.

A seventeenth century divine calculated that "man was created on October 23, 4004 B. C., at 9 o'clock in the morning." Unhappy moment that 9 o'clock in the morning is, the divine's theory seems quite reasonable.

COUNTING BUFFALOES

From the Milwaukee Journal.

When George Brown, of Port Edward, can't get to sleep nights, he counts buffaloes—buffaloes going single file down to drink at a stream, wearing a path six or eight inches deep in the hard ground in a few hours; buffaloes grazing over the prairies as far as eye can see.

The old hunter does not count imaginary buffaloes. He lives again the scenes of his young manhood. He was a buffalo hunter in Colorado, western Kansas, Nebraska and Indian Territory from 1871 to 1876, ranging the prairies between the Platte and Arkansas Rivers.

"There was no kick in hunting buffaloes," he said. "It was just like killing so many domestic cattle. Buffaloes can't see very well. We used to walk almost up to them, lie down on the ground and start pegging away. It wasn't a question of how many a man could kill, it was a question of how many his skinners could handle.

"My partner and I would shoot maybe 30 a day apiece, and our skinners would follow along and stake down the hides right where they took 'em off. Nobody ever bothered our hides. We'd go along with the wagon a few days later, after the hides had dried, and pick 'em up.

"As long as a hunter would stay on the windward side of the buffaloes they wouldn't scatter. He could bowl 'em over one after the other and they'd just look at the fallen animals and move along a few feet. The idea was to kill them as close to camp as possible to save work. It wouldn't do to have hides pegged out 30 miles around.

"We made big money in 1871. The French and the Germans were fighting and there was a big demand for buffalo hides. We got $2.50 and up. Later, however, we got $1 and $1.50. At that, a man could make big money.

"The Indians were the worst bother. The Army was supposed to see that they stayed on the reservations, but some of the young bucks would pass the word around quietly and slip off the reservation one at a time and meet somewhere and start raising hell. A band wiped out our camp one time while we were out hunting—and it's just as well we weren't there or we'd probably had our scalps lifted.

"We rode into Fort Wallace and reported our loss. A trader there staked us to a new outfit. We owed him $3,000 or $4,000. Well, sir, in three months we didn't owe him a cent. We had about 600 or 800 hides staked out drying when the Indians burned our camp, and with that start we soon paid up for the new outfit.

"How many buffaloes did I see? Well, I've seen so many you couldn't begin to count 'em. I've stood on a butte and seen buffaloes grazing for miles around—not solid, you understand, but scattered around, a dozen here and 50 there and a couple hundred somewhere else. Just like the cattle got to be later. I remember a narrow place where the passing of buffalo hoofs for years had worn a path 18 inches deep in the rock. I've seen them file down to water and wear a path 6 or 8 inches deep in the ground in a short time. Buffaloes go in one side of the river, drink, and go out the other side so the ones behind can get to the water.

"The scent of man used to stampede them—and the scent of horses. Wild horses caused us some trouble. Let a bunch of them come along and away went the buffaloes. You see, the Indians used to hunt buffaloes on horseback and the buffaloes couldn't see whether the wild horses had Indians on 'em or not. A horse scent meant trouble.

"Sometimes we'd go to sleep at night with buffaloes all around the camp, thousands and thousands of them. Then maybe some wild horses would come along or the buffaloes on the leeward would get close enough to smell the camp and they'd stampede. We'd hear the roar of their hoofs in the night and in the morning there wouldn't be a buffalo as far as you could see."

DR. COULTER'S APPOINTMENT.

The selection of Dr. John Lee Coulter to be a member of the new United States Tariff Commission meets with whole-hearted commendation in the Northwest, says the Fargo Forum. It is received as additional evidence of President Hoover's determination to give agriculture the tariff parity with other industries that he promised in his campaign speeches and urged in his message to the extraordinary session of Congress, for there is no doubt that Dr. Coulter was selected because of his ability as an agricultural economist and his familiarity with farm conditions in the country, particularly the great spring wheat section.

But there was another reason for Dr. Coulter's appointment, and that is found in his work as chief economist of the Tariff Commission. He knows the science of tariff making and administration perhaps as well as any man in the coutnry, and certainly far more thoroughly than most men who have served on the commission.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: While the Bookharis were here yesterday some mention was made of prominent persons recently jailed for stealing money entrusted to their care and Avery said: "I don't believe any intelligent man will steal. He might be tempted, for any man who handles money has opportunities to take it without immediate risk, but he won't do it if he has sound sense. Those who take a chance may be smart in some ways, but they aren't really intelligent."

That is true, of course. A man of sound sense doesn't pay ten dollars for a lead pencil. Nor does he exchange his liberty, his reputation and a year of his time for a few hundred dollars. The man who steals money entrusted to him loses much more than he can possibly gain, and that proves him a simpleton. The surest evidence of a weak mind is to pay more than a thing is worth—whether the thing is a gold brick, a stolen fortune, an accumulated million or a good time.

That is sufficient answer to the modern argument, frequently appearing in public prints designed for morons, that there is no harm in "petting" or in doing any of the things now done by girls who demand a "kick."

As in the old days most of the "fallen women" were feeble-minded, so now the girls who exchange their purity for a momentary thrill are the ones who lack sufficient intelligence to measure the cost.

You have seen and heard enough to know that boys worth having as friends feel an amused contempt for girls who are easy playthings. Almost any boy will kiss and fondle a girl if he can, but he will leave her with the conviction that she is either simple or too experienced to be trusted.

That is the first cost. Then there is the fact that boys and older people talk, and their talk makes the reputation that determines the girl's future.

Finally, there is the effect on the girl—the first little breach in the wall that defends her purity; the second so much easier; the quick crumbling of all defenses, and the agony of shame and remorse when she realizes that she has surrendered everything and has nothing but bitter humiliation in return.

I'm not uneasy about you. You've never shown any sign of being feeble-minded or lacking self-respect. I mention the matter only because you are leaving home and may meet and exchange ideas with other girls, apparently of sound mind, who haven't sense enough to realize that the willingness to exchange much for little is proof of mental weakness. Love, DAD.

PRO AND CON

Various Aspects of Political Issues Discussed by the Press.

No "Wooden Nutmeg."

Louisville Courier-Journal.

Connecticut Yankee produces all their figurative "wooden nutmegs" for export, in the opinion of Dr. Wilbur Cross, the Democratic nominee in that State for governor. He has made it plain that he doesn't intend to be accused of palming off any spurious goods on the electorate in his campaign against "Rorabackism."

Dr. Cross is the former dean of the Yale Graduate School and editor of Yale Review. He accepted the nomination on the issue of rescuing Connecticut from the rule of J. Henry Roraback, Republican boss, whose reign has provoked a popular revulsion. No sooner was he nominated than Dr. Cross demanded the resignations of the Democratic State chairman and secretary, a couple of old style politicians whose presence didn't harmonize with an air of sincerity in the council of reform.

Thus at one stroke Dr. Cross divested his candidacy of the traditional academic abstraction and stood before the people a man of decision and action. His audacity won from the Republican Hartford Courant this encomium: "He is unquestionably able, courageous and independent. His personality is both delightful and forceful. Although a distinguished educator, there is nothing pedagogic about him. He has a much better understanding of government and politics than many men who have made office-holding their business and politics their profession. He knows how to present his ideas with clarity and grace and to keep them within the grasp of any voter of average intelligence."

Nye Asks Too Much.

Baltimore Sun.

It is easy enough to understand Senator Nye's irritation at the constant repetition of charges by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, of Illinois, to the effect that agents of the Senate investigating committee rifled her private files and tapped her telephone wires. But only pique and failure to see all the implications in his words can explain his warning to the press which seems to say that he will bring libel actions against newspapers which again print these charges, even with Mrs. McCormick's authority.

Conceivably the law gives Senator Nye some technical justification for such an attitude, but as a matter of practice such procedure as he outlines would make it virtually impossible to carry on a democratic government.

In view of the immunity of a senator from liability for statements made by him in his official capacity it is difficult to take seriously Senator Nye's warning that he will hold newspapers responsible for what Mrs. McCormick may say in rebuttal, as well as newspapers which make similar assertions on their own responsibility. In a rough-and-tumble political fight charges and counter-charges are constantly being made. If a newspaper is to be compelled to ascertain positively the truth of every one of them and be prepared to submit legally competent proof in court, obviously public discussion will be subjected to an unjustifiable handicap. And public discussion will become absurd if newspapers may only print what senators have to say.

Prohibition and the Parties.

New York World.

Prohibition has never been and can not really be made a partisan issue. The eighteenth amendment was put into the Constitution by both parties and it will have to be taken out by both parties. It is utterly impossible to identify either party with either side of the question. Senator Sheppard, who introduced the eighteenth amendment, is a Democrat. Mr. Volstead is a Republican. The pioneers of the coming change have been Eastern Democrats, Gov. Smith of New York and Gov. Ritchie of Maryland; the man who made repeal of the amendment practical politics was Mr. Morrow, an Eastern Republican. Finally, the repeal of the amendment will certainly require the cooperation of both national parties, for neither is likely to control two-thirds of both houses of Congress or the ratifying machinery of three-fourths of the States.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Women Start a Bank by and for Women—They Make Headway in Business.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A prominent psychologist in New York recently said that it is only an idle dream to consider women even winning a place in business. Instead of an idle dream, it seems to be more of a reality, as many women occupy important places in the world of business today and they are gaining new recruits to their ranks every day. Shortly after the New York psychologist made that remark, Mrs. A. Barton Hepburn, whose husband was an active business man for many years, announced plans for a new bank in Wall Street to be owned and officered by women.

The plan of the new bank is to cater principally though not exclusively to women. If pretty girls act as tellers the bank will probably be pestered by young men who will take up much of the clerks' time with idle conversation. Should the bank cater to women in particular it will mean that only a portion of the community will be served, whereas, in order to insure success, a bank should serve the community as a whole.

However, it will be a novel undertaking, and may make high business officials sit up and take notice. If women keep going into business it will be a nightmare and not an idle dream. ALFRED SANDBOY.

Promises of Billboard Reform Not Kept—Outdoor Advertisers Called to Account.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: May I express my appreciation of your editorial in the Sunday issue entitled "Billboards Must Go." You hit the nail squarely on the head when you state that the "cooperation" which the outdoor advertisers seek means "compromises whereby their signs can remain in place."

Why does not the Outdoor Advertising Association carry out its own widely proclaimed reform programs, instead of repeatedly crying for cooperation?

In 1925 the O. A. A. asked for the cooperation of the General Federation of Women's Clubs to put over a reform program. The federation gave the required cooperation, which was a complete cessation of their publicity campaign for six months. The O. A. A. in October, 1925, adopted the much boasted new standards and the five-year program of reform. It promised that by October, 1930, there would not be left standing any billboards in residential districts, any boards around residential parks, any boards "which interferred with the view of a beauty spot," or any boards "to which reasonably minded people could object." What has it done toward carrying out this program?

Birthday of St. Francis of Assisi a Reminder of Duty of Kindness to Animals.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Although few may realize it, October 4 is the anniversary of the birth of St. Francis of Assisi, who, renouncing the world, went about with his humble followers, with God's love in his heart, doing good. He gave the words of life to discouraged men and women, and stretched his arms in blessing to little children, and to every living creature, domestic or of the woods, which crossed his path. Because his love had such power over even those termed "wild" beasts, recalling the great wolf which followed him like a dog and became as gentle as one, people interested in the welfare of these humbler creatures have come to regard him as their special saint. His birthday has been designated as World Animal Day, and we ask that the memory of him whose very name brings up a vision of arms outstretched in mercy may be revered by each one making a special effort, going out of his way, if need be, to render a deed to or speak a word in defense of some abused friend or helper of the animal world.

VIRGINIA W. SARGENT.

Labor Banks With Big Deposits a Result of Prohibition, Says John R. Coffin.

To the Editor of The Post:—Sir: The Union Labor Advocate of Chicago recently pointed out that before prohibition there was not a single labor bank in the United States, whereas since and under prohibition 30 such banks have been established with deposits crowding $300,000,000. The Advocate argues that it is the sober, industrious men who add to the wealth of the country.

There would seem to be little room for argument on that proposition. There are few people who would be rash enough to claim that an engineer is a better engineer or an automobile driver a safer driver or a surgeon a more skillful practioner when he is "three sheets in the wind."

Drinking and the drink traffic have never rendered any helpful service either to the individual or to society.

Many Taxi Drivers Are Solicitors for Lawless Resorts.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Taxis are getting so numerous that they are overcrowding our streets and avenues. The city authorities would be justified in weeding out some of the more objectionable ones. It is not generally known that some of these drivers are actually solicitors for law violating resorts, many of which are located in the suburbs around Washington. Some of these actually distribute cards and other literature for these places. These are the fellows that should be driven out of the business.

The police are nearly powerless to detect these fellows, because they have run up against the law on other occasions and know the ropes. They usually carry prospective customers to other jurisdictions, beyond the beats of our cops.

DOMINION ENVOYS MONARCHS' GUESTS

WORK HAS BEEN HARD

London, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The dominion premiers and ministers who are discussing the grave problems of empire at the imperial conference were entertained by the king and queen tonight in a brilliant setting of white and gold in the banquet hall of Buckingham Palace.

There were no speeches or other formalities at the banquet. Instead, the guests were able to enjoy a bit of relaxation after several days of hard work.

What progress has been made in the conference thus far is largely veiled by a cloud of official secrecy, but it is known that the economic committee, at least, has had a strenuous time debating such varied topics as old age pensions, the export of books and printed matter, and the adequacy of shipping services within the empire.

Two Issues Brought Up.

Information is almost totally lacking about weightier problems of the empire, but well-informed commentators have no doubt that the conferees debated at least two important questions—the problem of who has the final word in appointing a governor general for a dominion, in which Australia is particularly interested, and the question as to the privy council remaining the supreme legal tribunal of the empire, which especially concerns the Irish Free State.

The conference work now is being handled in committee, with the next plenary session scheduled for Wednesday.

The Saturday Review, commenting on the conference, says that Prime Minister MacDonald in his opening speech endeavored to sidetrack the fiscal issue when he said the conference program would be, first, constitution; second, problems of foreign policy, and third, economics and trade.

Others Reverse Agenda.

"In vain, however, was the net spread for the bird," continued the Review. "Although the Irish representative played up to Premier MacDonald's lead, the other premiers summarized the agenda in reverse order, which made a significant contrast.

"Prime Minister Scullin spoke definitely of Australia and Britain guaranteeing each other markets. Prime Minister Hertzog specifically mentioned South Africa's desire for Commonwealth trade agreements.

"This frankness has naturally alarmed the Liberal and Labor press, which has pretended for months that trade preference was a newspaper stunt."

Australian to Leave U. S. Post.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The federal ministry today granted the request of Herbert Brookes, Australian Commissioner General in the United States, to be relieved of his post at the end of the year. In view of the need for economy no successor will be appointed.

London Explosion Rocks Mail Depot

Scotland Yard Investigates Mystery Blast Which Injured Four.

London, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The most astute minds of Scotland Yard lent their aid tonight to postal inspectors in an effort to track persons responsible for a puzzling explosion which occurred today at Mount Pleasant, London's greatest postal depot, wherein four persons were injured, a mail truck was blown to pieces, and letters were strewn over a wide area.

An official statement said the blast originated in a bag among mail consigned to southwestern London, which area includes government buildings as well as Buckingham Palace.

All of the injured will recover. The police aided in checking up on a report that the mail bag in which the explosives, whatever their nature, arrived had been sent from Ireland. Officials discredited this report, but stated that every means known to British criminology was being used to trace those responsible.

Y.W.C.A. Holding Bible Study in Native Tongues

Bible classes for foreign-speaking girls and women are now being conducted in their native tongue every week at the Young Women's Christian Association, at Seventeenth and K streets, under the direction of the industrial department of the association here.

All Greek women and girls are invited to join the class conducted by Mrs. Elfsiades, on Tuesday afternoons from 3 to 5 o'clock, when the Gospel of St. John is being studied. Another group for study of the Bible in German is meeting on Thursday afternoons from 5 to 6 o'clock. Other groups will be formed upon request at the association building.

Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce Returns From Europe

Dr. Ulysses G. B. Pierce has returned from a prolonged stay in Europe and will be in his pulpit at All Souls' Unitarian Church Sunday morning, when he begins a series of special sermons on "The Expansion of Religion—the Growth of Spiritual Values."

Sunday afternoon the Florence L. Pierce class will hold a reception in honor of Mrs. Pierce and Miss Alice Evans, who will both speak briefly. The Washington chapter, Unitarian Laymen's League, meets Thursday evening.

Grace Lutheran Church To Get New Members

Grace Lutheran Church will receive a number of new members tomorrow morning, and the pastor, the Rev. Gerhard E. Lenski, will resume his night services. His Sunday School will also launch an interesting membership campaign, to end December 21.

Prizes will be awarded to those who bring in the largest number of new members. These will be given to individuals and to classes. Grace Lutheran has a live wire minister, who is up and coming.

Members to Study Lutherans' Hymns

Keller Memorial Church to Be Scene of Study October 24.

Lutherans of Washington are planning a meeting to study the hymns and historic liturgical services of their church. It will be held at Keller Memorial Lutheran Church, Maryland avenue and Ninth street southeast, Friday, October 24. Dr. S. T. Nicholas, pastor of this church, will be the host.

Three sessions daily will be the rule, at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. A combined chorus of 50 voices, taken from the various Lutheran choirs of the city, will demonstrate the music. This choir begins its rehearsals next Wednesday evening at Keller Church.

This convocation is being sponsored by the Lutheran ministers of the city and will be under the direction of the committee on church music of the United Lutheran Church in America. The chairman of this committee, who will be in attendance, is Prof. Luther D. Reed, of the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Mount Airy, Philadelphia. The local committee is composed of the Rev. Henry Manken, the Rev. S. T. Nicholas, the Rev. Henry W. Snyder and the Rev. Charles H. Butler.

Greek Orthodox Church To Greet New Pastor

Archbishop Damaskenos has sent to Washington as pastor of the Greek Orthodox Church, St. Sophia, Eighth and L streets northwest, the Rev. John Papanicolaou, D. D. The Rev. Papanicolaou was born in Siatista, Macedonia, Greece, 56 years ago. He graduated from the University of Athens and he was a college professor in Greece for about twenty years. He was ordained as priest in 1912 and after a service of about seven years in his home town he came to the United States in 1919 and was pastor of the Greek Othodox parish in Buffalo, N. Y., until his appointment to Washington.

The Rev. Papanicolaou will say his first mass in St. Sophia Church tomorrow.

Evangelist to Continue Baptist Church Revival

The Texas evangelist, the Rev. Joe Jeffers, who is conducting revival services at Temple Baptist Church, will continue there until arrangements are made for a tent. A number of Baptist churches are cooperating in these meetings.

Mr. Jeffers charges heavily upon the devil and all his works when he gets in action and pretty soon the smoke of battle will be seen rising up to the heavens.

Question-Box Answers Delivered Same Day

Some ministers, who have a question box, gather up the questions on Sunday night and answer them the following Sunday night; but the Rev. George E. Schnabel takes up the questions on Sunday morning and answers them on Sunday evening.

If he reads them out at the morning service, that will draw the inquiring ones out to hear the answers at night.

GOVERNMENT COST IS CUT $67,899,000

PLANS OTHER SAVINGS

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover announced yesterday that the October 1 estimate of the cost of operating the Government during the present fiscal year showed a decrease of $67,899,000 under the estimate made last July 1 of $4,202,754,000.

The President said revised estimates by the Treasury indicated the cost of Government during the remainder of the 1931 fiscal year would be $4,134,855,000. He said other cuts were in prospect, but did not enumerate them.

The September 30 statement of the Treasury showed a surplus of $52,292,000 for the first three months of the 1931 fiscal year. At the end of business on October 1 total receipts of the Government for the three months were $868,940,213, while total expenditures were $816,647,958.

The statement showed customs receipts had declined from $161,000,000 in the three months of 1930 to $94,937,161 in the same period of the present year. Income tax receipts had declined from $609,000,000 a year ago to $554,000,000 in the present year, while miscellaneous internal revenue had dropped from $161,000,000 to $156,000,000.

The receipts of the Government this year were approximately $150,000,000 less than in the three months last year, but expenditures also were about $150,000,000 less than a year ago.

University of Nancy Awards Edge Degree

Paris, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—When Ambassador Walter E. Edge and Mrs. Edge sail for the United States on October 16 on the envoy's regular two months' vacation, he will take with him the title of doctor honoris causa of the Nancy University, which will be conferred upon him October 12.

Albert Blum, of New York, president of the Association of Alsatians in America, will receive the same honor. After these ceremonies the ambassador will dedicate a pavilion of the Botanical Institute of Nancy.

Dr. Sizoo to Deliver Sermons on Travels

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo, minister of New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, following his usual custom, will give a series of sermons at his October evening services on his travels during the past summer. The general theme to be discussed is "America and the State of Religion." His subjects will be:

October 5—"The Golden West;" 12—"The Great Divide;" 19—"The Portals of the Past;" 26—"Main Street." November 2—"The Land of the Sky." 9—"The New Outlook for Religion."

Dr. Newton P. Patterson, associate minister of the Church of the Covenant and the First Presbyterian Church, will have charge of the Thursday evening service at this church and will discuss the Oberammergau Passion Play.

ARGENTINA RENEWS WORK WITH LEAGUE

COMMITTEE POST SEEN

Geneva, Oct. 3. (A.P.)—The league of nations assembly will wind up its annual fall meeting tomorrow, holding the final session in the morning.

Most of the work today consisted of the adoption of routine reports, but two references to the renewal of Argentine cooperation with the league aroused wide attention here.

In the first place it was learned the South American republic would be represented at the fifteenth session of the governing body of the international labor office, which is to be held in Brussels October 7-12 on invitation of the Belgian government. Thus Argentina will resume attendance at sessions of this body after a lapse of two years.

The second reference came in an official communique which said the league council, at a private session, had decided to appoint J. A. Barbosa Carneiro, of Brazil, to the consultative economic committee, as he is "about to be replaced on the economic committee by an Argentine member."

The economic committee is one of the regular league organs, while the consultative committee was the outcome of a conference in 1927 at which the United States was represented. Robert Olds of the State Department is the American member.

League officials have felt that Argentina would become active since a provisional government headed by Gen. Jose Francisco Uriburu overthrew Hipolito Irigoyen. Uriburu expressed himself as friendly to the league, whereas Irigoyen paid little attention to it.

Furniture Man Named As Congress Candidate

Asheboro, N. C., Oct. 3. (A.P.)—John Walter Lambeth, Thomasville furniture manufacturer, today was nominated as representative from the Seventh North Carolina District for the regular term by the district's Democratic executive committee. The nomination for the short term created through the death of Representative W. C. Hammer was given to Hinton James, of Laurinburg.

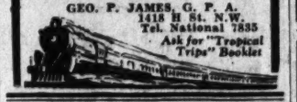

The nomination for the short term previously had been proffered to Representative Hammer's widow, but she declined, asserting she believed the best interests of the party demanded that some one else be given the nomination. Representative Hammer, who died last Thursday, was the party's nominee for the regular term. He was unopposed in the June primary.

Woollens and Jerseys Are Subtly Handled in These Fashions

Jerseys and woollens continue, but the actual interpretation has changed. Perhaps it is the general tendency toward more feminine fashions. At any rate, jersey tunics make their appearance and velveteen is combined with jersey. Witness the new trend as exemplified in these ensembles.

ROCK CREEK CHURCH DISPUTES AGE CLAIM

Georgetown Lutheran May Not Be Washington's Oldest, After All.

RECORDS ARE CONSULTED

Some time ago the church page referred to the Georgetown Lutheran Church as being the oldest in the District of Columbia. This statement was promptly challenged by the Rock Creek Protestant Episcopal Church. It is necessary now, for the truth of history, and in order that three excellent gentlemen shall have undisturbed sleep, that this question be settled. Those gentlemen are the Rev. Harold E. Beatty, pastor of Georgetown Lutheran Church; Mr. H. Lawrence Choate, warden of St. Paul's Church, and the editor of the church page.

To be sure a lot of correspondence has passed back and forth on this important matter. The editor wrote Mr. Choate, who doubted the correctness of the statement: "My authority for the statement * * * was a lecture delivered January 20, 1859, at Georgetown by the Rev. T. B. Balch, son of the noted Dr. Stephen Bloomer Balch, who organized the Georgetown Presbyterian Church in 1780 and was for 52 years its pastor.

"In this lecture Mr. Balch said, 'The first church founded in this town was German Reformed, and stood up High street, but a short distance from the Presbyterian graveyard. It has disappeared in the lapse of time, and among those changes to which every town is exposed. The lecturer can recall nothing about it but the last tinkling given by its simple bell.'"

Mr. Choate Replies.

In answer to this Mr. Choate said: "I have been told by various people that my own parish church, St. Paul's Episcopal, the owner of Rock Creek Churchyard or Cemetery, is the rightful claimant to this title. The churchyard itself was given by Col. John Bradford about 1712. There was a church there at that time called Rock Creek Church, because it was for all the people living up toward Rock Creek, in the same way that Falls Church over in Virginia was named for Great Falls, although it was not really at the falls. Three walls of the present Rock Creek Church date back to 1775. By the way, it was the rector and some of the parishioners of Rock Creek that founded the oldest Episcopal Church in Georgetown, viz, St. John's."

Not satisfied with his own intimate knowledge of the history of this matter, Mr. Choate brings another advocate into the case in the person of Mr. Arthur S. Browne, who, in reviewing the correspondence, delivers this judgment:

"I gather that all that Mr. Balch intended to say was that the German Reformed Church was the oldest in Georgetown. His lecture was delivered January 20, 1859, at which time Georgetown and Washington were separate cities and the County of Washington, outside of the cities, was an wholly independent organization.

Church of England Rites in 1712.

"The services of the Church of England were first conducted within the territory of the District in May, 1712. The property of Rock Creek Parish was given to it by Col. John Bradford in 1719.

"The parish was organized by a Special Act of the Assembly of Maryland in 1726, at which time a chapel was built.

"In 1868 the church was remodeled and there was a disastrous fire a few years ago. The east, south and west walls of the church as it now stands were erected in 1775.

"The original records of the parish are at the Cathedral. As these original records were gradually becoming illegible through age a copy was made under my own supervision over 30 years ago and this copy is now at the parish offices."

Mr. Beatty is now engaged in looking up the records of the German Reformed Church of Colonial times. Until he finds them Rock Creek has won the first round.

Bell-Ringers to Take Part in Baptist Rites

Gospel bell ringers will hold forth at Fifth Baptist Church Sunday night. This troupe, known as the Charles English family, comes from California and has appeared in many churches throughout the country.

Using a stereopticon to illustrate the sermon and hymns, they accompany the latter with Swiss handbells, four-in-hand bells, musical glasses, autoharp and other instruments.

Illustrated Sermon On India to Be Given

Illustrated sermons are becoming more and more the vogue. In some churches they have moving pictures and in others stereopticons.

Using the latter, the Rev. William Earl La Rue, pastor of Takoma Park Baptist Church, will deliver a lecture on "Building With India" at his church tomorrow evening. This is part of the program of mission studies for the year.

Family Day Planned At Albright Memorial

Improving upon an annual custom, the Rev. George E. Schnabel, pastor of Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, will have a family day at his church tomorrow morning. If any family is absent, woe unto it.

Awards will be made to the largest family in attendance, and also to the oldest and the youngest persons.

Sunday School Mark Is Set by Methodist

From 1859 to Present, Isaac Birch Has Been Serving His Church.

These Methodist people are not going to let the Lutherans carry off all the Sunday school banners and prizes, if they can help it. Just when the disciples of old Martin Luther in Washington were getting puffed up over their Mr. Lehmann, of Grace Church, who started going to Sunday school at 80, and Mr. Fox, of St. Paul's Church, who started at 6 and is still going strong at 84, the disciples of old John Wesley who live in Georgetown asked: "What about our Isaac Birch?"

Well, what about him?

In 1859, on a certain day in May, Joseph F. Birch took his small son, aged 5 years, to the Georgetown Methodist Church, then located on Cumberland street, and entered him in the infant class.

"How do you know when you started to Sunday school?" another old-timer in Georgetown recently asked Mr. Isaac Birch.

"I've got my credentials," was the reply. And so he has.

On the day he entered Sunday school he was given a certificate, signed by Benjamin H. Steinmetz, long a hatter located at the corner of Pennsylvania avenue and Thirteenth street. So proud was the father of his little son Isaac that he placed that certificate in the repository of all such records, the family Bible, and there it lay for a long time.

Framed Entrance Certificate.

About the time he married and established a home of his own, Mr. Isaac Birch removed that certificate from the family Bible, had it framed and for nearly half a century it has had its own niche on the wall above the piano in his home on Dumbarton avenue. The Post is permitted to reproduce this unique record, probably the only one in existence and also probably the oldest Sunday school entrance card that any one knows anything about.

From 5 years of age to now Mr. Birch has never missed a single Sunday going to Sunday school, unless he was prevented by a funeral, for he is an undertaker, carrying on the oldest business in Georgetown. In years this does not equal the record of Mr. Fox, but in continuous service it probably is a record.

There were only two departments in a Methodist Sunday school when he entered, the infant class and all the others. The infants had a room to themselves, and the others were herded together in one large room, sitting in groups about a small table and buzzing like children will when assembled in that fashion.

Mr. Birch has lived to see all of that change, as well as the system in vogue in secular schools. Now the Sunday school is divided up into departments, each with its assembly hall and classrooms, its superintendent and officers and teachers, each a unit in itself, and all under the direction of a general superintendent, who also has his staff.

Father Was Born in District

It would have been strange if Mr. Birch had not been steadfast in his attendance upon Sunday school. His father and mother were Methodists, and so were his grandparents, all residents of Georgetown and all members of the Methodist Church in that ancient city. The grandparents came from Stafford County, Virginia; Joseph F. Birch, their son, was born in Alexandria, D. C. This one family goes back to the early years of the last century in Georgetown and the oracles and records of Methodism in that spot on the globe were placed in their care. Mr. Isaac Birch has the records of this church going back to 1802, an invaluable historical collection.

Joseph F. Birch married Miss Anna Dunham of Clear Spring, Washington County, Maryland, also of an old Methodist family, so their son has two strains of Methodism in his blood line.

When Isaac Birch came to manhood, he entered business with his father, who had established the undertaking firm in 1841 in the very building at 3034 M street northwest, in which it is now being carried on. His home was just across the street, a street then known as Bridge street, which was the main thoroughfare in Georgetown for 100 years or more. About this time the son married and, like the great man for whom he was named, his helpmate was wisely chosen.

Wife Became Methodist.

Her mother and Mr. Birch's mother sang in the Methodist choir and had been singing there for many years. Her grandmother was one of the old-time pewholders of that parish. But the young lady was a Presbyterian and was teaching in the Presbyterian Sunday School. She didn't know she was going to become a Methodist so soon, and that's a beautiful story.

When they got back from their honeymoon, young Isaac Birch carried his bride to the Methodist Sunday School and then ushered her into the family pew, and there has never been a break in that early-formed habit. He says he said nothing to her about it, and was not surprised when she got her letter and gave it to the Methodist minister.

Sunday school certificate given Isaac Birch in 1859 and Mr. Birch.

Immediately she took charge of the infant class and identified herself with the Sunday School. In a little while her husband was elected treasurer and, one day, in 1895, before he could say no, he was chosen superintendent, an office he filled honorably for 25 years. Now he confines himself to the men's Bible class, but every Sunday he is there.

This fine old couple live immediately across the street from the Dumbarton Methodist Church, and they never miss a service. For more than 40 years Mrs. Birch has been organist, and for many years Mr. Birch has been "singing in the choir," as he phrases it. There are not many choristers in Washington 76 years of age who can h'ist a tune and keep it without a thin note appearing unexpectedly. It is of such material that the noted choir of Dumbarton Church is constituted.

Doesn't Look His Age.

Although he is 76 years of age, Mr. Birch has the youthful appearance of a man 20 years younger. He accounts for his good health from his normal way of living, and does not fail to say that the best part of his life has been spent in devoted service to his church and Sunday school. There isn't a person now living who was in that Sunday school or church in 1859 when he entered, but he has a vivid picture in his mind of those who were there on that fateful day in his life.

Of the superintendent, Mr. Steinmetz, who came into Georgetown on a canal boat and built himself up into a position of prominence, he speaks with a devotion that is most beautiful, and his earliest teacher, Miss Louise McNeir, was one of those remarkable women who leave their impress on children in such a way that it is never effaced.

A quiet, humorous man, a gentle man, a kindly man, and a neighborly man is this old Sunday school scholar of Georgetown. He is probably typical of the best product the Methodist Church mints, and if he is not, then the church is hiding out its saints.

The Church Page is interested in all kinds of interesting Sunday school scholars. They don't have to be old to be interesting. Whoever they are, let us know about them—whether they are children, youths or adults.

Dr. Pierce Back Home From Sojourn Abroad

Dr. Jason Noble Pierce, minister of the First Congregational Church, has returned home after a prolonged vacation spent in Europe and in San Francisco, and will be in his pulpit tomorrow.

At the evening services during October he will give a series of talks on "Greatest Plays," the Oberammergau play being the first in the series.

Rally Day Tomorrow For Sunday Schools

Rally day will be observed tomorrow in the Sunday schools of the following churches: Washington Heights Presbyterian, Albright Memorial Evangelical, Chevy Chase Presbyterian; Central Presbyterian, Chevy Chase Baptist, New York Avenue Presbyterian, and others.

Special programs have been arranged and the children will be promoted from one grade to a higher one.

BLESSING OF ROSES RITES ARE PLANNED

MEN'S RETREAT LISTED

St. Dominic's Church, Sunday, will be the scene of a traditional ceremony that is more than 600 years old—the blessing of the roses. This service is the property of the Dominicans, with whom it originated. At it the priest blesses the roses and distributes them among the worshipers, who prize them highly.

In honor of the feast of the most holy Rosary a solemn high mass will be sung at the 11 o'clock service, at which the Very Rev. Raphael M. Burke, O. P., will be the celebrant, assisted by the Very Rev. John A. Cowan, O. P., deacon, and the Rev. John J. Durkin O. P., subdeacon. The choir will give Ferber's Mass.

It is at the afternoon service, at 3:30 o'clock, that the feast will culminate with a special sermon by the pastor, followed by a procession in which the children will form a living Rosary. Then will come the blessing and the distribution of the roses.

Father Burke will have a full day tomorrow. If he did not more than shake hands with those who will crowd his church he would still have a very full day.

At the Monastery.

The well-known Monastery of the Franciscans in Brookland will be the scene of a colorful ceremony today. The solemn services will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and again at 3:30 in the afternoon. This day will be the 704th anniversary of the death of St. Francis, "Everybody's Saint."

The Dominican friars will take charge of the services, thus commemorating the great friendship which existed between St. Dominic and St. Francis. The preacher for the festivity will be the Very Rev. Claude Vogel, superior of the Capuchin House at the Catholic University. In the sanctuary will be the Right Rev. Mgr. Edward Buckey, pastor of St. Matthew's Church. Representatives of religious communities will be present, and a large crowd of people.

RETREAT FOR MEN.

A retreat for the men in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, Chevy Chase, will be conducted by the Rev. John C. Smyth, C. S. P., director of the Paulist Station, WLWL, New York. Services will begin Sunday, October 12 and will close the following Wednesday at 8 p. m. Masses will be said at 6:30, 7 and 8 o'clock, with sermon and benediction at 8 p. m.

The sermon topics are: October 12, "Changing Faith"; October 13, "Changing Morals"; October 14, "Changing Home Life," and October 15, "Unchanging Faith."

These services are open to Catholics and those who are not Catholics.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY.

The October quarterly meeting of the Washington Section of the Baltimore Archdiocesan Union of Holy Name Societies will take place at the Church of the Nativity, 6000 Georgia avenue northwest on October 20, at 8 p. m. Reports will be made at this meeting from the officers of the executive committee and from the presidents of 52 parish branches of the Holy Name Society.

The Rev. John F. Fannon, pastor of the Nativity Church, and the Right Rev. Mgr. P. C. Gavan, pastor of the Shrine of the Sacred Heart, will be guests of honor at the meeting. Mgr. Gavan was formerly spiritual director of the Washington Holy Name Union. Bernard E. Reichhardt is president of the Nativity Holy Name Society.

Plans will be outlined at the meeting for the great Holy Name rally to take place Sunday, October 26, at St. Peter's Church. This rally is an annual affair, arranged to honor the Kingship of Christ and to spread devotion to the Holy Name of Jesus. It is expected more than 5,000 men and women will assemble on this occasion. The Right Rev. Eugene L. Connelly, LL. D., pastor of St. Peter's Church, will preach the sermon on this occasion.

ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

The one hundredth anniversary of the construction of St. Peter's Catholic Church at Harpers Ferry, W. Va., is to be celebrated Sunday, October 12.

The program calls for the jubilee mass, 10 a. m., to be celebrated by the bishop of the diocese, the Right Rev. Andrew J. Brennan, D. D., in which the visiting priests will take part. The centennial historical sermon is to be preached by the Right Rev. Mgr. Edward M. Tearney, senior priest of Richmond diocese and a distinguished son of the parish of Harpers Ferry and the son of the late Edward Tearney, at one time sheriff of Jefferson County.

The evening centennial exercises are scheduled for 8 o'clock, to consist of solemn benediction of the Blessed Sacrement, with the Rev. Father Mullarkey, pastor of Harpers Ferry, as celebrant, and sermon by the Rev. F. Joseph Magri, M. A., D. D., of Portsmouth, Va. His subject will be "Harpers Ferry's Contribution to the Catholic Church."

St. Peter's Church was rebuilt 34 years ago and stands as one of the high points in Harpers Ferry approaching the famous Jefferson Rock.

BISHOPS TO CONDUCT PREACHING MISSION

Centers to Be Established Next Month in Capital and Maryland.

35 WILL BE IN CHARGE

Thirty-five missioners, including outstanding bishops of the Episcopal Church in 35 mission centers in the Capital and adjoining parts of Maryland, will conduct the Washington Diocesan Preaching Mission from November 16 to 23, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Dr. Anson Phelps Stokes, chairman of the diocesan commission on evangelism, who has opened headquarters for the Preaching Mission in the College of Preachers, Washington Cathedral Close.

The Washington Diocesan Preaching Mission, a movement designed to broaden the influence of the Christian church and to deepen Christian faith and life, is the outgrowth of the bishops' crusade, the organization of The Seventy, a group of clergymen under the leadership of the Right Rev. Irving Peake Johnson, Bishop of Colorado. It was authorized by the diocese by vote taken at the diocesan convention, May 15, 1929. Since that time the diocesan commission on evangelism has been working on plans to insure its spiritual success.

The mission centers will be established in 35 parish churches in Washington and in Maryland. One-half of these mission centers will be in the City of Washington and the other half in the country parishes of the diocese. Some of the strongest men among the missioners will be sent to the country mission centers. These mission centers as a rule will be made up of from two to five parishes, meeting in some large and strategically located church.

The missioners include some 30 clergymen from outside the diocese and five from within it. Among those who are to take part in the Preaching Mission are Bishops Quin, of Texas; Abbott, of Lexington, Ky.; Remington, of Oregon; Johnson, of Colorado; Cook, of Delaware; Dallas, of New Hampshire; Strider of West Virginia, and Booth of Vermont.

Churches Plan Sunday Night Union Services

All of the Protestant churches around and near Chevy Chase Circle will hold Sunday night union services throughout the winter. The first service will be held tomorrow evening at the Baptist Church, with the Rev. Henry T. Cocke, rector of All Saints' Episcopal Church, doing the preaching. The cooperating churches are All Saints' Episcopal, Chevy Chase Presbyterian, First Methodist Episcopal, Wesley Methodist Episcopal and the Chevy Chase Baptist.

After Dr. Cocke, the ministers of these churches will alternate as follows: October 12, the Rev. Edward O. Clark; October 19, Dr. J. Phelps Hand; October 26, the Rev. J. Turnbull Spicknall; November 2, Dr. J. Hillman Hollister.

Sunday School Class Has Annual Banquet

The second annual banquet of the Delta Class of Brightwood Park Methodist Episcopal Church, was held yesterday evening. John Thomas Kennedy, president of Benjamin Franklin University of this city, spoke to the members on the theme "Values in Life as Seen From a Layman's Viewpoint."

The class officers are Charles Otto Jorg, president; Russell Lehman, vice president; Russell Hebbard, secretary-treasurer; Edgar W. Harding, historian, and A. K. Wimer, teacher. The Rev. Walter M. Michael is pastor of the church.

Universalist Pastor To Be Honored at Party

Monday evening the parish house of the Universalist National Memorial Church will be all lit up with brilliant lights, and one of the anterooms will be all filled with lemonade and cakes and things, in honor of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Perkins.

Dr. Perkins is the minister of this church, and his people are coming out in full force and with vivacious smiles to tell him how much they like him and the mistress of the manse.

Epiphany Sunday Class Begins Work Tomorrow

Epiphany Episcopal Sunday School opens for the fall and winter season tomorrow morning, under the superintendency of the Rev. Alvin Lamar Wills.

After registrations and assignments to classes, Mr. Wills will make a short talk, Miss Mabel Pain will give a violin solo, and Dr. Phillips, the rector, will deliver an address. The kindergarten will also sing a children's hymn.

One Book in Bible Fails To Mention Lord's Name

There is one book in the Bible in which the name of God does not appear.

It is not for the Church Page to tell you which one, but one of our brightest ministers, the Rev. Harold E. Beatty, is going to talk on this book at his church tomorrow evening.

SENTENCE SERMONS

By DR. ANDREW REID BIRD.
(Minister of the Church of the Pilgrims)

GOOD NEWS

WE live in a world which needs good news. So did Our Lord. Long before His birth it had been written of Him that He should be "A Bringer of Good Tidings."

He is more than a bringer of good news. He is the good news. So intimate is His identification with glad tidings that His very names glow with gladness. Jesus, "He shall save His people from their sins;" Emmanuel, "God with us."

If you would experience joy, confront this "Morning Star" and let its five bright points bring good news to your heart. Its topmost pinnacle, the regal character of Christ, destroys sham and shows us ourselves. Before the standard of His perfect spirit, our sinful selfishness stands stark. It is gain to reach reality, however dark. The light of the right upper point of our star reminds us that, in understanding love, as our Redeemer, He died to save us. And, lest we think of Him only as perfect sympathy, the left upper point shines with recollection of the power of His Resurrection, and we know that He who rose can raise us from deadness of soul today to life abundant and unending. The lower right point may fitly symbolize our Lord's promise to reside within every heart that will receive Him, even as the left lower shaft of light suggests, in completing the star, the end of Christ's gracious news, the Reproduction of His glorious character in the conduct of our daily lives. And, as the morning star precedes the day, the good news we have received is the precursor of the fulfillment of God's good purposes through our Returning Lord.

Truly, we shall thank God and take courage and follow the gleam.

Women Will Hold Missionary Event

The most important interdenominational event which interests the church women of Washington each fall is the missionary institute held under the auspices of the Women's Council of the Federation of Churches. This year the dates are October 28, 29 and 30 and the meetings will be held in the First Congregational Church. The sessions will begin at 10:30 a. m. and conclude about 4 p. m., with an intermission for luncheon, which will be served by the women of the entertaining church.

The study classes will be taught by two of the foremost experts in the country, Mrs. William H. Farmer and Mrs. John Ferguson. The speaker at the luncheon on Thursday will be Dr. S. C. Michelfelder, a prominent Luthern pastor in Pittsburgh.

The officers of the institute committee are as follows: General chairman, Mrs. William L. Darby; vice chairmen, Mrs. William F. McDowell, Mrs. W. R. Metz; treasurer, Miss Fanny G. Childs; secretary, Mrs. Charles Hall; chairman program, Mrs. Harvey S. Irwin; vice chairman program, Mrs. H. M. Kendrick; chairman federation representatives, Mrs. Lamont A. Williams; chairman tickets, Mrs. Arthur Briscoe; chairman luncheon, Mrs. Frank E. Edginton; chairman entertainment, Mrs. William E. Boulter; chairman music, Mrs. Harvey Baker Smith.

Bible Class Will Hold Home-Coming Sunday

The Vaughn Men's Bible Class of Calvary Baptist Church, Eighth and H streets northwest, will celebrate tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock, in Vaughn Hall of the Samuel H. Greene Memorial Sunday School Building, a home-coming of one-time members and friends of the class.

Prof. Louis D. Bliss, dean of Bliss Electrical School, and who taught the Vaughn Bible Class for twelve years, will be the guest speaker; Dr. Homer J. Councilor will teach the Bible lesson; the chorus of the Burrall Women's Class is to sing; the orchestra will play, and other attractive features are arranged. The Vaughn Bible Class is famed as the oldest organized men's Bible class of record.

Open-Air Service Set For Temple Heights

Open-air religious services will be held at Temple Heights at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, directed by the Rev. Dr. John C. Palmer, chaplain of the grand lodge of Masons.

The Rev. Dr. J. Harvey Dunham, pastor of the Western Presbyterian Church, will deliver the address, and J. Walter Humphrey will direct the music.

Mrs. Askew to Deliver Series of Bible Talks

Mrs. S. H. Askew, a well known Bible teacher in the employ of the Southern Presbyterian Church, will conduct a series of Bible talks at Central Presbyterian Church, beginning Monday, October 13.

Dr. James H. Taylor, the minister, will give a series of Friday night lectures on "The Life of Christ."

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST MAKE PARLEY PLANS

Final Meeting of Chairmen Will Be Held on Next Monday Evening.

400 PERSONS AT WORK

Plans for the conventions of the Disciples of Christ are rapidly maturing and a final meeting of the chairmen of the different Washington committees is to be held at the Vermont Avenue Christian Church Monday evening.

About 400 persons in and around Washington constitute the full committee under the general direction of Maj. W. W. Kirby. He has as vice chairmen Judge John H. Connaughton and Earl Taggart, while A. G. Bishop is the treasurer and the Rev. C. N. Williams is secretary.

This committee is cooperating with the general convention committee of the churches all over the world whose headquarters are in Indianapolis, Ind.

With three conventions meeting within the period of ten days and the possibility of an attendance exceeding 10,000 and a program listing more than 150 special speakers, the duties of arrangements are not slight.

Dr. McCartney Plans Seasonal Addresses

Dr. Albert Joseph McCartney, minister of the united congregations of the Church of the Covenant and the First Presbyterian Church, announces a series of sermons of a seasonal character which will be an interpretation of the ministries of summer time with reference to the more prosaic and commonplace responsibilities which we all come back to face at this season of the year. The general theme is "Summer Is Ended," and the other subjects are as follows:

October 12, "Our Unclaimed Heritage;" October 19, "The World Is Waiting for the Sons of God;" October 26, "On the Wisdom of Acting Upon a Noble Intention;" November 9, "The Persistent Passion for Peace;" November 16, "The Repeal of Reticence;" November 23, "Militant Minorities;" November 30, "Come Before Winter."

Atlantan Will Speak At Baptist Churches

The Rev. Jacob Gartenhause, of Atlanta, connected with the Home Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, will speak from three Baptist pulpits here tomorrow. In the morning he will be at Temple Baptist Church, in the afternoon at the National Memorial Baptist Church and in the evening at the Highlands Baptist Church.

On Monday Mr. Gartenhause will address the Woman's Missionary Society of the Columbia Baptist Association at Bethany Baptist Church. Mr. Gartenhause is a former rabbi and is doing missionary work among the Jews. The Rev. J. W. O'Hara, superintendent of mountain missions, will appear here with Mr. Gartenhause.

Memorial Service Is Planned.

Annual memorial service of the John Marshall Harlen Relief Association will be held Sunday night at Lincoln Congregational Church. The pastor, the Rev. R. W. Brooks, will preach a special sermon after musical artists have given a special program.

LUTHER PLACE MEMORIAL CHURCH
At Thomas Circle
Carl C. Rasmussen, D. D., Pastor.
This congregation extends you a hearty invitation to be its guest tomorrow and to share its joy in the reception of 70 new members, which class brings the total number of new members since April 1 up to more than 200. They represent a splendid band of earnest Christian people who have enlisted for service.
The solemn service of the Holy Communion will be held after the reception of new members at 11 o'clock. All church members without a local church home are invited to share the solace of the Lord's Table with the members of the congregation.
The evening services for the fall and winter season will be resumed at 8 p. m. tomorrow. Dr. Rasmussen will preach at that service, his subject being "The Friend of God."
Sunday School will meet at 9:45 a. m., and the Senior and Intermediate Societies of Christian Endeavor at 6:45 p. m.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY

Mrs. Strong Will Receive New Honors

France to Bestow Cross Upon Capital Woman for War Work.

INTERNATIONALLY known for her philanthropic work, Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, of Washington, wife of the late Col. Strong, will receive further public recognition—this time for her services to the French government.

Col. Picot, French war veteran and officer of the Legion of Honor, has journeyed to this country to bestow upon Mrs. Strong the Cross of the Legion of Honor. This is in commemoration of her admirable services to the wounded veterans of the late war, to whom she recently gave a chateau in France, where they may receive care.

The ceremony will take place at the Strong Memorial, on the campus of the University of Rochester, in Rochester, N. Y., tomorrow afternoon. President Rhees, of the university, and Mr. George Eastman, with whom the late Col. Strong was associated, will be present. The Strongs have made large gifts to the university.

Only two years ago, Mrs. Strong incorporated an organization for the education of boys and girls—with no classification in its by-laws as to race, creed or color. Known as the Hattie M. Strong Foundation, the institution has headquarters in Washington at the Hill Building. With a flair for organization, Mrs. Strong has so incorporated her vibrant personality into the foundation that its activities have become nationally recognized.

It is endowed, with neither reward nor gains to be accrued by those engaged in furthering the project. In reality, Mrs. Strong has made a "family affair" of the project, as she engaged the interest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Corrin Strong, having enlisted the services of Mr. Strong as treasurer of the foundation. The Strongs are members of a smart coterie of young married folk who, perhaps, take their pleasures seriously yet devote much endeavor to philanthropic work.

Mr. George Eastman, known widely throughout the United States for his contributions to all sorts of public endeavor as well as cultural progress, was named a special advisory member of the board. Mr. Eastman expresses himself as in full accord with the aims of the organization, which lends money to exceptional students who desire the benefits of higher education. After achieving the goal of a university course the students are made honorary members of the association.

British Envoy Entertains In Honor of Marshal.

The British Ambassador entertained at a brilliant dinner Thursday evening at the embassy in honor of the marshal of the Royal Air Force and Lady Trenchard. DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

TAKING a tip from President Hoover, who asked that the broadcasting of his speech give way to the world series, Columbia, for the same reason, has moved forward a week the first of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra concerts, which was to have been given tomorrow afternoon.

Several Post readers have expressed dissatisfaction with the announcing of the world series games by Graham McNamee. Others have praised Ted Husing.

Although we get aboard a little late, Washington is to hear a portion of the program tonight of the Boston Symphony Orchestra which Koussevitzky, its conductor, has arranged in honor of the tercentenary celebration of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

The beginning of the concert may be picked up at 7 p. m. from WEAF, WTAM or WGY. From 7:45 until 8:30 o'clock WRC will broadcast it locally.

Among the compositions listed are a suite in E major by Arthur Foote; "Lilacs," by Edward Burlingame Hill, and "A Pagan Poem," by Charles Martin Loeffler. These three composers live within 10 miles of Boston.

THE midget sets are proving a boon to tube manufacturers.

"These sets," Edward T. Maharin, vice president of the CeCo Manufacturing Co. said, "bid fair to sweep the country. They use some five to seven tubes, almost as many as the conventional models of a year ago."

It relieves our mind greatly to learn from Columbia that, with the coming of fall, spats will be added to the attire of Freddie Rich, orchestra leader.

In response to an inquiry made by this department asking what the attendance was at the New York radio show last week, word came back that these figures had not yet been compiled.

In the meantime, Variety has printed the following:

"The New York radio show is reported having gone well into the red. Its attendance fell off 30 per cent. There were 100 less exhibitors this year than last.

"It was mainly a furniture exhibition. The lack of any innovation in radio or television to ballyhoo reacted. The public refused to pay attention or money."

RESENTING the criticism made by Oswald F Schuette, of the Radio Protective Association, of Secretary of Labor Davis, for speaking at the Camden Chamber of Commerce dinner at the dedication of the new RCA-Victor factory, C. L. Bardo, president of the New York Shipbuilding Co., who acted as toastmaster, declares an injustice has been done to the Cabinet member.

"Secretary Davis came at the invitation of the Camden County Chamber of Commerce to speak at a dinner which it gave and financed," Mr. Bardo said. "He devoted his talk to emphasizing the importance of constructive action as the only means for overcoming business depression. In this connection, he praised Camden industry for 'putting to work some additional 21,000 workers.'

"Mr. Schuette said: 'In his (Secretary Davis) speech, which was broadcast over the radio trust chain, Secretary Davis congratulated the trust officials on the fact that they had employed 21,000 workers in the plant.

"It is interesting to note that in his talk, a verbatim copy of which I have in my possession, the Secretary never once referred to any individual company nor to any group of companies."

Dari Interprets the Mode

Paris, October 3.

THIS is a season of interesting sleeves and necklines! It seems that now that the longer skirtline and higher waist have definitely come to stay, there isn't as much experimenting around to do with the silhouette as there has been for the last couple of seasons. Therefore, what would the couturiers do in order to express their need for change and fantasy other than taking it out in decorative sleeves and necklines.

But decorative sleeves with what a difference! Nothing near like the fancy-dress ball sort of sleeves that we used to immediately picture when we heard of decorative sleeves! Some of them are inspired by period sleeves of yore to be sure, but all brought up to date and modernized in a way which distinguishes them as of the twentieth century, and unmistakably.

• • • •

An this mode is a happy one for the fall dressmaker, because the addition of just the right sleeves to last year's dress makes a completely new outfit out of it. Or even this year's dress that hasn't got the chic you know it should have perhaps requires just a certain touch at the neckline such as Parisian dressmakers are so clever at affording a gown?

So, just for that I've made my dear public a whole 40 lovely neckline and sleeve ideas, some of them my own, some of them the pet ideas of the Parisian couturiers, as I remarked them here and there on the various gowns in the winter collections. A stamped, self-addressed envelope, and you've 40 ways to make a $16 dress look like a French importation! Send this envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post, you know.

• • • •

Everything went wrong today. I ask you, plaintively, why do conscientious landlords have things painted in the fall? And why, just when one has put away in moth balls one's fall coat, should one awaken to find at hand the seasonal phenomenon that plays such an important part in American history—Indian summer?

• • • •

And a few leaflets left for the two lovely long costume slips, if you make out the stamped, self-addressed envelope today to send to Dare!

• • • •

And tomorrow we have again, Dare's weekly fashion letter in The Sunday Washington Post, as usual.

Au Revoir!

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF October 4 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 1 p. m. to 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. to 8:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 10:30 a. m. to 11:45 a. m. and 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Your character will be tested on this date—follow your own conscience, and all will end well. An undercurrent of deceit and treachery. The astrological influences will set you in a working mood, and much will be accomplished. Keep clear of adventurous people.

The child born on this October 4 will have a pugnacious and a know-it-all nature. It will find its level in the university of life, and not before. It will have an all-round capacity, a boundless vitality, and considerable ambition. It will have a love for adventure.

You desire very much to be "it" at most places and occasions, and you do not accept a lesser role with any degree of grace. You would rather be a big frog in a little puddle than a little frog in a big puddle. The restlessness of your spirit forfends your falling into any rut of contentment. You plan for that day when you will settle down and refuse to struggle, strive or worry any more, but that time will never come. You are a born fighter, and you would be a very unhappy retired soldier. You are a little too aloof, too much of an intellectual snob to be a real man or woman of the people. You can step up out of your class, but you grudgingly step down.

You are a facile writer and speaker, and a convincing one. You exaggerate a little too much to be absolutely sincere—you do love the telling of a good story. You are not, as a rule, a good listener.

Yours is not a spiritual nature, and you seldom wander in the realms beyond reason. You could not be called a great or profound reader. Lighter fiction appeals to you as a mind relaxer, as do certain games. Your sympathies are not expansive, although your heart bleeds quickly when those near or dear to you are hurt. You are awkward during your playful moods, and you do not antic gracefully. A dignified "you" is the real you.

Successful people born October 4:

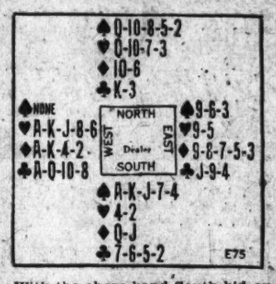

1—Frederick W. Gunn—founder of the "Gunnery" in Connecticut.
2—Rutherford B. Hayes—nineteenth President of the United States.
3—William Gilpin—territorial governor of Colorado.
4—Agnes Booth—actress.
5—Frederick Remington—artist.
6—Leon Moran—artist.

WORK ON BRIDGE

Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

A LESSON IN DOUBLING.

With the above hand South bid one Spade and West doubled. North, desiring if possible to shut out a bid by East, called three Spades and accomplished his purpose; South passed, but West was insistent and doubled again. This time North had nothing to say and, of course, East was compelled to bid; he called four Diamonds, which obtained the contract. This bidding was at Auction Bridge. At contract it would be varied to the extent that after the unusual strength shown by West's second double, East with a five-card suit would have been justified in bidding five Diamonds.

The point of the hand is that a second double of the same suit by the same player is informatory when the bidding has not reached more than three and the partner has not bid or doubled. A second double of No Trump, however, must be business because a double of two or more No Trumps is always business.

The play would be very simple. The original lead of Spades would be ruffed by West who would be fortunate enough to extract all the adverse trumps by two Diamond leads. He then would lead his Ace and King of Hearts, followed by another Heart which would not draw the Queen but it would be ruffed by East, who then would lead the Jack of Clubs. Declarer would lose the finesse but that would be all; regardless of whether North would lead a Spade, Heart or Club, the Declarer would take the remaining tricks, making twelve for an Auction small slam.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

For Enlightenment.

DEAR MISS McDONALD: I can hardly believe that you are still "Miss," for it seems impossible for any one who has not had children of their own to pour out their troubles to you. It surely is wonderful that there are people like you to whom they can turn.

If the mothers who bring these children into the world are going to continue to let them get all their enlightenment from cheap stories, newspapers and occasionally a kind friend, then we will always have plenty of heartaches. Mothers worrying away the hours, deciding whether or not the 4-year-old should be taught music, while these same 4-year-olds will grow to be 24 and still the mother would not think of teaching that poor child what she must know to live a normal life.

My baby is only 11 months old, a girl, but I can not allow her to grow up and get married, and be as unhappy as I was, just because she "didn't know what marriage really meant." My love and trust in my husband finally won back my heart, but it took a lot of grit to bear up, I'll say.

Time is surely coming when the schools will teach the vital problems of life, but I do not believe that either dear Miss McDonald, who has done so much to wake us up, or any of her readers will be here to see this wonderful accepted idea of sane reasoning concerning the welfare of our blessed children. May God bless you in your wonderful work, Miss McDonald.

Won't some more of our popular writers who write such wonderful things on other subjects, please take an interest in humanity and write their views on this subject, when, where and how much should our children be taught about facing the facts of life? "BIG JAKE."

The problems of young people today are enough to rouse any one's sympathies, the experiences through which they somehow find their way, leave them resentful of their elders and of life. Their parents blandly play bridge and assume that things are just as they used to be when they were young. The children know different. Where in the days of our parents, they knew the name and probably the family of every classmate at school, today a school is an institution where thousands come together from every walk of life, a few know each other, and hundreds meet and mingle, while other hundreds pass like ships in the night. A public school must receive whoever applies. Girls bred gently in the best of homes meet boys who know neither home nor breeding. And the reverse is true. From this circumstance alone most unfortunate situations arise. And it is almost unknown for a parent to be cognizant of such situations. They still seem to think in terms of the little red schoolhouse, when they think at all.

The young are learning all the facts of life in our high schools, but they are learning from each other instead of from trained and expert instructors. Instead of being taught what womanhood means to the world they are piling up cheap "experiences" at the expense of womanhood. Instead of being taught the responsibilities of manhood they are comparing notes on their conquests. They are to be pitied. They are hard because they are hurt. They think ill of each other because they have brought out the worst instead of the best in each other.

It is unbelievable that we cling to the old order in the face of such crying necessity for a new, but we do and probably will until those in the schools today as pupils have become parents and demand for their children what was denied them. Another ten years at most will see a working philosophy of life taught in every high school in the world.

$20,000 Allowance To Soup King's Son

J. T. Dorrance, Jr., to Get Liberal Education Before Entering Business.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—John T. Dorrance, jr., 11-year-old son of the late president of the Campbell Soup Co., who inherits under his father's will a quarter of an estate valued at $100,000,000 to $150,000,000, will complete a well-balanced education, it was said today, before being given the opportunity to follow in his father's footsteps in business.

Young "Jack" is a student at the Montgomery School in Wynnewood, a suburb. He is preparing for college and his education will be along both classical and technical lines.

Until the estate has been divided not more than sixteen years from now, according to the terms of the will, the boy will receive $20,000 monthly, which is twice the monthly income given to each of his four sisters.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me what to do for my marigolds. The plants are about a foot high and the center of each shoot fails to open as it should, the leaves being dry and curled.

MRS. J. A. C.

Better spray the plants with nicotine. Direct a forceful stream against the terminal ends of the shoots. You will have to make several applications before you note much improvement.

I want scarlet sweet williams. When shall I plant the seeds in order to have blooming plants next season.

H. D. W.

The seed of sweet william may be sown in midsummer or in the spring. This plant should be treated as a biennial and the seed sown each year. When not propagated each year, the plants and flowers are not so large.

Am inclosing the leaves of two different ferns. Please tell me what the brown spots are on the midribs of these leaves, also the remedy.

MRS. W. A. S.

Your ferns have been attacked by a small, hard-shelled insect known as scale. These are enemies difficult to dislodge. The only thing you can do is to scrub them away with a small brush and then spray the plant weekly in order to prevent a return of the pests. If you care to write again, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, I shall be glad to send you a circular on the care of ferns.

Please tell me how to get rid of quack grass. The leaves of my rosebushes turned very brown in the early part of the season. I could find no insects on them. What should I have done? MRS. JULIA B. B.

Iron sulphate is used to eradicate quack grass. This chemical can be purchased cheaply at any drug store and it is used at the rate of one and one-half pounds to a gallon of water. Mix in a wooden bucket and spray over the weedy areas. You should have sprayed your roses with Massey dust, a preparation containing nine parts of dusting sulphur and one part of lead arsenate.

Please tell me the name and necessary care of the plants from which the inclosed leaf was taken.

MRS. J. C. S.

Your plant is an oxalis. This plant, being a trailer, does best in a basket. It must be kept quite moist and in a rather sunny place. It will grow in a soil composed of good garden loam, sand and manure in equal parts.

Please tell me how to slip rhododendrons or hardy azaleas and name a few rock-garden plants for a shady garden. ELIZABETH W.

Native rhododendrons and hardy azaleas may be grown from seed, but the colored hybrids (the kind you probably mean) can not be depended on to come true from seed and are therefore propagated by grafting on seedling rhododendrons grown especially for the purpose. The propagation of both varieties requires experience, and the amateur is not likely to meet with success. Violets, forget-me-nots, phlox sublata and primulas will do well in shade.

Please tell me whether I should give my lilies lime at this time.

MRS. EUGENE T. L.

No. Most lilies resent lime, although lilium candidum, lilium elegans and lilium hansoni are thought to be indifferent to its presence.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

(Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.)

Another good way to serve milk to children is in soups. Milk-vegetable soups are made from cooked vegetables, chopped or strained, which in this form may be given to even the youngest children (whole or skim), slightly thickened. The vegetables may be asparagus, peas, beans of various kinds, celery, potatoes, turnips, carrots, spinach, kale, chard, beet roots or greens, parsnips, lettuce, cress, cauliflower or almost any other.

General Recipe for Milk-Vegetable Soups.

1 teaspoonful of flour.
1 tablespoonful of butter.
Salt.

Two-thirds of a cupful of a thoroughly cooked vegetable, finely chopped, mashed or put through a sieve.

Thicken the milk with the flour as for milk gravy; add the other ingredients. If the soup is too thick, as it may be if the vegetable is starchy, thin it with milk and water. Milk-tomato soup is not recommended for the youngest children. When it is served a little soda should be added to prevent the milk from curdling.

It would cost $2,250 to send postcards to all the readers that can be reached any morning by Post Classified Ads.

How to Keep Well

DIET FOR KIDNEY STONES.

IF a person has kidney or ureter stones he should interest himself in his diet, since diet is one of the factors in causing them. This is particularly true if the person has the kidney stone habit. Having had one he is anxious to escape a repetition, and this he can do, in some measure, even though infection is the major cause of his stones. The first step is to find out how his chemistry is running wild. This can be done by a chemical examination of any stone passed or, in the absence of that, by repeated urinary examinations.

In examining a large number of stones, Drs. Grant and Simpson found that 51 per cent were rich in phosphates, 24 per cent in oxalates, 20 per cent in urates, 13 per cent in carbonates and 6 per cent in cystin. This does not add up 100 per cent, but the apparent error is not due to the limitations of the authors. A stone usually contains more than one chemical. Having determined which chemical predominates in the stone, the next step is to choose a diet suited to the case. If the stone contains uric acid or urates the probability is that the person will be benefited by the following diet. That is, if he will stick to it for a term of years.

Permitted, but only in limited quantities: All ordinary meats and fish, including oysters, crabs and lobster; hominy, carrots, asparagus, string beans, turnips, radishes, celery, cabbage, American cheeses, cocoa, chocolate, coffee and tea.

The mainstays of the diet allowed are: Breads and pastries, fruits, eggs, milk, cheese of foreign types, creams, cucumbers, lettuce, cauliflower, beets, onions, nuts, olive oil, oatmeal and other cereals, potatoes, butter and sago.

Alcoholic beverages are usually forbidden. As a rule, distilled water or mild alkaline water is prescribed. The person who is of the uric acid diathesis is advised not to eat heavy meals and not to lead an inactive life.

Tomorrow's article will deal with those people with kidney and ureteral stones which are not rich in uric acid or urates.

DIET IS IMPORTANT.

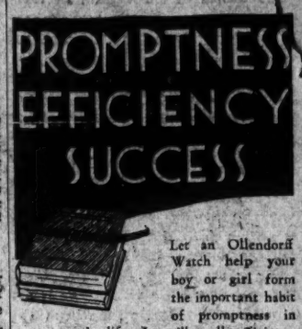

C. C. C. writes: Please give remedy and cause for gravel, with which my husband is bothered.

REPLY.

Chemical examinations repeated several times should point to the cause of the trouble, as well as its prevention. If the crystals are composed of oxalates, he should avoid rhubarb, sorrel, cranberries, sour fruits, pepper, cocoa and salads and greens. If due to uric acid or urates he should exercise more and eat more potatoes, sauerkraut and bananas. If due to phosphates and calcium he should eat more meat, eggs, bread and cereal.

MISS MYSTERIOUS

By LARRY LAWRENCE

CHAPTER XXXV.

A detective. "What on earth have I done?" Babe asked herself. "I thought I had finished with adventure."

A few weeks ago nothing would have startled her but now to have a detective seeking her was distinctly unpleasant. She got into her clothes in a hurry but had hardly had time to straighten the skirt when a hard authoritative knock resounded.

"Come in," Babe called. Her heart fluttered like a butterfly's wings. The landlady followed the big man inside the room.

"Are you Miss Thielma Townley who went to school at Madison?" the man shot at her.

"I will answer your questions when you show me your authority to ask them," Babe snapped, then looking at the landlady, added, "And then only when that woman leaves the room."

The woman slammed the door as she stepped out but Babe had an uncomfortable feeling that she was listening at the keyhole. She was moving in the morning, no matter what this call augured, Babe decided.

The man guessed the feeling and so he lowered his voice. "I've got authority if you want to see it," he said, "but I am not a city detective. I'm working for a private bureau and there's nothing to get frightened about. You sure did lose yourself right here in the middle of town all right."

"Please tell me what brings you here," Babe urged.

"I've been looking for you for two days," the detective took his time in getting to the point, then blurted out, "friend of yours is awful sick. His folks want you to come to see him right away."

"What? What's that?"

"I said this young man's folks have had me going day and night trying to find you. The old man himself was looking for you a couple of days but he didn't dare leave the boy's bedside any more and he called me in."

Babe suffered a sinking sensation. Pete was dying. She felt it. An all-gone feeling that sometimes overcomes one at hearing bad news almost had the mastery of her, but only for a second. She flung back a curtain that hid her clothes, snatched a coat and dashed out calling, "Come on, come on. Have you got a car?"

The detective was slow in following.

"Hurry, Hurry," Babe cried impatiently. "Don't stand there like that. Get me to his home."

The man began to show a little action. He hustled out to his car. Babe got in and he started with alacrity. It took them less than 20 minutes to reach the Jones home. Babe had forgotten her resentment against Mr. Jones and her fear of the Mrs. Jones she had never seen, but had pictured as a typical, haughty and proper matron of the ultra ultra aristocracy.

Nothing mattered to her now but that she get to Pete as soon as possible. They had asked her to come. That was strange, Babe thought, but dismissed it from her mind. There was no room in her thoughts for any one or anything but Pete now.

A nurse opened the door. Mrs Jones was right behind her. Pete's mother held out her hand. "Oh, I am so glad you came," she said. Her tired eyes testified that she was telling the exact truth when she said it, too. Mr. Jones came in. He held out his hand to Babe.

"Come on upstairs with me, please," he pleaded. He looked tired and gaunt. "The doctor is with him now. Go on in."

Babe entered the room. The doctor was sitting beside the bed. Another nurse was doing something at a table. Babe hardly saw them. Her eyes went straight to Pete, who was lying there looking like death itself.

"Pete, Pete, it's me, Babe. Babe," she whispered, leaning over him. Pete did not answer. Babe turned to the doctor. There was terror registered on her face. Terror and a pleading that said, "Do something, save him, save him," louder and more eloquently than words could have expressed the agonized prayer.

"There is a chance—now that you've come," the doctor offered, answering her unspoken question and trying to assure her. The doctor pointed to a chair. Babe sat down.

Pete stirred a little then in a voice too weak to sound human, he began. "Babe, honey, Babe. Answer me, Thielma. Answer me." Babe was at his side.

"Here I am, Peter. Here I am. I'm answering you." She took his dried, emaciated hand in hers. "Pete. You always saved me. Let me save you. Let me save you, honey."

Pete smiled. It was a very small smile. The muscles hardly moved, but it warmed Babe's heart. She had arrived in time to help a little. She had brought some comfort to him. He must have recognized her or he would not have smiled. She stood there holding his hand. The doctor watched his patient closely. Pete began to breathe more evenly. The doctor waved her aside.

"Asleep!" he announced. Babe followed the physician from the room. "Is there any hope?" she asked.

"All the hope in the world," he answered. "I think you got here just in time. If he sleeps a few hours he will be on the upgrade. He had been calling for you for two days He has not slept for two days and yet he was never fully conscious. The delirium of fever sometimes acts that way."

"May I go back in?" Babe asked. The doctor nodded. She was praying silently. Babe sat beside the bed. A night light made Pete's face seem more ghastly. The nurse sat some distance away but was alert. For two hours Babe sat there in absolute silence, thinking, thinking, praying, praying.

Pete slept on. The ghost of a smile that had come to his face remained. Now and then she heard quiet footsteps in the hall. Pete's father, waiting. Pete's mother waiting. They did not dare to sleep for fear the crisis had not passed. They were afraid to enter for fear they might awaken their son. So much depended on him getting sleep.

"What are they thinking?" Babe wondered.

Pete awakened. His eyes were like lakes of lava but his mind was clear. Babe was close to him. "I knew you would come," he whispered.

"I'm here now, Pete. I didn't know you needed me."

"Yes, I need you," he said simply. Babe took his hand again.

"Your hand is so cool."

The nurse was standing beside Babe.

"Don't talk any more," she ordered. "Close your eyes and rest." He didn't answer but closed his eyes and was quiet for a few minutes.

"Don't go, Babe!"

"I won't. Not until you're well."

Pete dropped off into a peaceful sleep again. Babe continued to hold his hand for some minutes, then moved quietly away and stepped into the hall.

Mrs. Jones was just outside the door. She put an arm about Babe's shoulders. Nothing was said for what seemed a long time. Babe saw that the mother was crying. "He is sleeping," Babe said. Mrs. Jones would not trust herself to speak. But she led Babe to a room next to Pete's. Once in the room she swallowed twice and spoke, "This is your room. You will stay until he is better, won't you?"

Babe nodded. After a minute she said "I'll not need a room. I'm going to stay in there with Pete until morning." With that she returned to the room where death had been hovering—was still hovering waiting to strike.

Mrs. Jones tiptoed in after her. She stooped over the bed. A tear dropped on the coverlet then she moved away. The nurse followed her. "You had better get some rest," the nurse suggested. "And make Mr. Jones sleep, too, if you can."

The nurse came back in the room and Babe started the battle with herself again.

It would be hard to live without Pete now. He had to live for her. She must not think of him dying. If he died she felt that she could not go on living. One minutes she was determined to marry him as soon as he got well no matter what his parents said. Then she thought that she had made a cowardly decision. She saw how much his mother loved him.

"I must not think of myself. I must not," Babe kept repeating to herself. "I must not think of myself now. It's a selfish crime at a time like this."

But the night was long. She wavered between anger at the parents who had kept her from Pete and sympathy for them. She could see their viewpoint. She was an unknown, a mysterious person, who had had the bad fortune to achieve notoriety. She had been mixed up with gangsters. She had seen a crook slain. The picture of that killing came to her again. It had haunted her before. And she remembered how she had been sorry for Forseith, the man who had stolen much of her money and had been trying to take the money her father had put in trust for her.

And yet she had been sorry for him and had been able to see his point of view. Perhaps that was her weakness—her ability to see the other side of the question. Maybe she should be more selfish. Life was indeed a problem.

Maybe she should be harder, more selfish. Maybe she should defy those who stood in her way. She stood up to rest. Pete moved uneasily. He called out "Babe, Babe."

"Yes. Here I am. Here I am," Babe answered. The nurse came to the bedside. Pete was breathing with difficulty now. Babe took his hand again. His fingers closed over hers in a tight grip, a grip that seemed to have the grim strength that comes to a man just before the soul leaves the body.

Babe was frightened now. She felt black death beating its wings. Pete was leaving her forever. She wanted to scream, to cry out in her misery, but her throat was dry. No sound would come.

The nurse administered a potion of medicine and then raced to the phone to call the doctor. She returned in a short time. Pete's grip had not weakened and he was breathing very faintly. It seemed impossible that he should be able to hold so tightly. Babe's hand felt crushed. The nurse put her fingers on his pulse and counted. She administered yet another potion and sat down.

Pete's grip began to weaken. He tried to speak, but was unable to make a sound. Tears were standing in Babe's eyes. She felt as if God had forsaken her. She felt more alone there in that room than she had ever felt before in her life. And she had suffered through many nights when loneliness seemed to be closing in on her to crush the life from her body.

Now she felt as if it had crushed the very life from her. Pete's mother and father had heard the nurse call. They were standing beside her now. Mrs. Jones was weeping audibly. Mr. Jones had his mouth set in a straight line, teeth close together.

They stood there beside the bed while Pete silently fought his fight with death. Not one of them thought he had a chance to win that fight. The nurse in the background felt certain that the end had come. She moved quietly from the room to answer the bell, let the doctor in. There was no need to disturb those who stood and waited for the end, no need to disturb the day nurse who had done much night duty, too.

The doctor arrived at last. He hurried up the steps. As he entered the room he heard Pete speaking distinctly, word at a time, "Babe—I—am—going—to win." The doctor motioned the parents away. They stepped back. Then the doctor took Pete's wrist in his hand. He counted the beats. "That's the stuff, Pete," he said. "Fight, boy, fight." The pulse was stronger.

Again Pete slept. "It was a close call," the doctor said. "A mighty close call. You had better stay beside him. He is not out of the woods yet, my girl."

"I'll stay," was all Babe said.

represented in court by counsel. An nence as head of the Daughters of the American Revolution from 1926 to 1929. During this term of office she made frequent visits to this city, where she was entertained.

Before her elevation to the presidency general of the organization, while serving as chairman of its finance committee, she played a major role in sponsoring the erection of Constitution Hall here, which was dedicated upon her last day in the highest office at the D. A. R. Congress here last year, with Mrs. Herbert Hoover and other notables as guests.

Unable by a rule barring succession in office to be reelected, she was accorded the honor delegated to retiring presidents general in being named an honorary president general of the organization.

In 1928, while head of the D. A. R., Mrs. Brosseau was a member of the small group of American women presented at the Court of St. James.

She has been an ardent advocate for national preparedness and has appeared at the White House on several occasions on this and like matters. One of the most notable occasions was in January of last year, when she accompanied delegates to the Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense on a call at the White House to urge President Coolidge to lend his aid to passage of the cruiser bill without the time limitation clause, and to sponsor all measures in Congress for national defense.

Behind the Screens

With DON B. REED

HAVING long been one of the staunchest admirers of Fred Waring and his Pennsylvanians, it is a real pleasure to report that the boys scored another triumph yesterday in their first appearances on the stage of the Earle in what will be an eight-day engagement.

Mixing fox trots with sentimental ballads, hot stepping with glee club songs, blue songs with all kinds of individual specialties, the Pennsylvanians presented a program which hardly can fail to please. Yesterday every number was greeted with prolonged applause, and when Fred stepped down into the orchestra pit to direct both his own gang and the Earl Concert Orchestra in the "Southern Rhapsody" it was almost too much. The folks threatened to burst out the sides of the house. Because of the popularity of the Waring outfit, five complete shows were given yesterday and will be today, and it looks as though a sixth might be in order.

Reviving one of the oldest of amusements is George Prize, on this week's bill at the Fox. Prize does a "Punch and Judy" act in the Fanchon-Marco "Gyp, Gyp, Gypsy" Idea which keeps the customers chuckling and roaring. His characters are a cat, a monkey and Punch, with the cat getting the better of Punch to lend a unique turn to the usual act. Prize, who dropped in this office last night, says he began practicing his trick when only 12 years old. Appearances at benefits for hospitals and orphanages in Pennsylvania brought him into the public eye and he became a regular "Punch and Judy" man. Then in Chicago a contest was held and Prize was selected as the fastest in the business.

That contest was followed by continuous vaudeville and revue contracts. After closing his engagement here this week, Prize will play Chicago for a short time and then is booked on a two-a-day vaudeville circuit in Europe for the winter. It is an unusual honor for an American to be booked in Europe with a "Punch and Judy" act, because it was in the Old Country that such performances originated.

Three instead of two stage performances will be available for Washington moviegoers beginning a week from today, when the Earle opens a new policy. True the Warner house this week is playing Waring's Pennsylvanians on the stage, which is plenty of attraction, but the actual opening of the new season is set for next Saturday.

At least three acts will appear each week in conjunction with the feature picture. Bill Ewing's official announcement on the new policy says Ted Healy and his Rascals will feature the first week's bill. Incidentally, Saturday openings will be the rule instead of Fridays, as has been the custom. Other acts and personalities due for early booking at Thirteenth and E streets include Nick Lucas, the crooning troubador; Horace Heidt and his Californians; Lillian Roth, screen star; Tom Patricola, Rae Samuels, Irving Aaronson and his Commanders and Benny Davis and his Gang. Sounds interesting.

Some things about the movies that you may or may not have heard: Marguerite Churchill, who has the feminine lead in "The Big Trail," coming to the Fox soon, has been chosen in a similar role for "The Seas Beneath;" Will Rogers is back in Hollywood after six weeks at Lake Tahoe filming "Lightnin';" Reginald Denny will sing in "Stolen Thunder" in which he plays opposite Jeannette MacDonald.

Denny has also been selected to play opposite Mary Pickford in her new United Artists' picture, "Kiki;" Irving Berlin worked nine months on the songs for "Reaching for the Moon," which will have Douglas Fairbanks in the leading role; all the scenes in "The Bat Whispers," a United Artists' picture featuring Chester Morris, were filmed at night.

Louis Wolheim and Mary Astor are cofeatured in Radio's latest feature to be called "Sheep's Clothing;" William "Buster" Collier has joined the cast of Radio's "Cimarron," now in production; Ruth Etting will appear in a special two-reel musical drama to be issued as a Vitaphone Variety; Claud Allister is growing a mustache for his assignment in "Reaching for the Moon."

"Rube" Walberg and "Wild Bill" Hallahan. Brings back memories of other great "Rubes" and "Wild Bills" and it ought to be a great left-handed game.

"All Over Town" PEOPLES DRUGSTORES —The Better To Serve You

Forward Washington

THE Washington Gas Light Company feels a deep and sincere appreciation of the confidence the public of Greater Washington places in Gas, as shown by last month's record-breaking sale of Gas Appliances.

Fifty thousand dollars more Gas Appliances were sold in September than any previous month in the history of the company. This was an increase of 150% over the same month last year. August, 1930, had previously shattered all records by the substantial sum of $25,000.

We hope, with the support of the public, to do the same thing this month and to sell more gas home heating jobs this year than had been sold here during the last ten years.

Washington will take tremendous strides in the next few years. The future is bright.

Your Gas Company hopes to play its part in the Forward Washington Movement.

PASSAGE OF GERMAN FINANCE PLANS SEEN

Dr. Dietrich Says Reichstag Will Be Forced to Adopt Reform Program.

SCHACHT MAKES SPEECH

Berlin, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Dr. Herman Dietrich, German finance minister, today discussed the financial situation and Chancellor Bruening's proposed remedies, in an interview with newspapermen.

Dr. Dietrich emphasized separation of the unemployment insurance problem from other budget items as the most vital point of the government's reform program. He explained that but for the persistent increase in unemployment—an increase no more persistent than in other countries he could mention and not at all peculiar to Germany—there would not have been at this time a deficit demanding such drastic action.

He said that only by keeping this item separate and making it "stand on its own feet" could any cabinet hope to balance the budget.

Silent on Tariffs.

Dr. Dietrich recalled that the government in this decision naturally was bound to meet with social democratic opposition. "But I feel that regardless of party differences," said the finance minister, "the Reichstag in this case will feel itself forced to adopt the program."

Lest this be misunderstood as a reference to iron-handed dictatorial intentions, the minister said it was a common experience in politics that Reichstag members, after an election would not allow their campaign promises to prevent them from making a necessary decision.

Dr. Dietrich declined to discuss any specific tariffs but said that Germany's foreign trade policy was forced upon the country by reparations which Germany must pay. He added that "no country can continue to pay reparations except by keeping its imports below its exports."

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, former head of the Reichsbank, told a gathering of German-American business men today [illegible] wants peace and economic security "either the repara- [illegible] must be solved or it [illegible]

Dr. Schacht said the success of the [illegible] in the recent elections was due to the fact that "the working class is just realizing that it too, and not the wealthy class alone, has to help pay off the reparations."

"Let us consider these things without pressure," he said. "If you want peace and welfare, and I assume you do, either the reparations problem must be solved or it must disappear. We are in a time of world trade depression all over. Germany can not find a market for her goods because those who could take her goods don't want them and those who would like to have them have not the means, and there is no provision made to help them get these means."

Luther Place Sets Membership Mark

Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen Will Receive 70 in Church Tomorrow.

Dr. Carl C. Rasmussen, minister of Luther Place Memorial Church, is setting a record for the reception of new members. Tomorrow he will receive 70 into the church. In addition to these, he has a waiting list of a number who will join this church in November and December.

Last Easter Dr. Rasmussen received 46 new members, and in July, one of the hottest months on record, he received 92.

The attendance at Sunday school was 71 per cent greater than it was on the corresponding Sunday of last year, and the offerings increased 200 per cent. No emphasis was placed on the collection; it just naturally dropped into the plates. Two ministers will serve communion tomorrow, aided by an elder and a deacon. Dr. Rasmussen will deliver a brief communion meditation.

Navy Ship Cancels Radio Call for Aid

(Associated Press.)

The U. S. S. Montcalm, an ocean tug, after running into heavy seas off the coast of Florida which caused it to radio to the Navy Department for aid, was proceeding last night under favorable conditions to Charleston, S. C., its requests for convoys canceled.

The U. S. S. Concord was ordered to proceed immediately to the Montcalm's position. Meanwhile the S. S. Orbita, bound for Europe via Bermuda, messaged she was steaming to aid the Montcalm and render such assistance as might be necessary in saving lives.

At 6 a. m. the Montcalm reported she was riding the storm comfortably head to sea, with no mechanical trouble. The Navy Department immediately broadcast to all ships that the Montcalm no longer needed assistance, and at the same time directed the Concord to proceed to Charleston.

Bernhardt Art Objects Acquired by Ohio Hotel

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Many of the dollars, francs and shillings that audiences poured into box offices to see Mme. Sarah Bernhardt, the actress, found their way to the coffers of antique collectors. Her collection of art treasures, valued at more than $100,000, was acquired from her estate by a hotel here.

Notable among the pieces, which include furniture, statuary, paintings and bric-a-brac, are canvases from the brushes of Borione, H. Malfroy, Henner and Maillard. There is also a clock, one of twelve which Napoleon gave to his successful generals.

Alabama Timber Output Six Billion Feet Yearly

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Forestry ranks with agriculture as an important industry in Alabama, in the opinion of Col. Page S. Bunker, State forester. The forest lands of the State, he said, are capable of producing a minimum of 6,000,000,000 board feet of timber annually, valued at not less than $24,000,000.

He pointed out that Alabama has been forging to the front in development of forest lands, which cover two-thirds of the land surface in the State and afford employment to over 20 per cent of the wage earners.

Model Chicago Airport Is Financial Failure

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Sky Harbor, called a model airport, and intended to be an exclusive resort for air folk, was so exclusive it went into bankruptcy. The indebtedness was more than $1,000,000 when a trust company put it up for sale.

During the endurance flight of the Hunter brothers, Sky Harbor was popular and profitable. The Hunters used the port as their base.

The airport cost $750,000 two years ago. In addition to 220 acres of ground with hangars, improved runways and lights, there was a modernistic clubhouse which, in summer, housed the fashionable Petruska Club.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

U. S. Dept. of Agri., Weather Bureau.

Washington, Friday, Oct. 3—8 p. m.

Forecast—For the District of Columbia—Fair Saturday and Sunday; not much change in temperature; gentle northeast winds.

For Maryland and Virginia—Partly cloudy Saturday and Sunday; not much change in temperature; moderate to fresh northeast winds.

Pressure continues low over the southern Rocky Mountain region, El Paso, 29.74 inches, with a slight trough extending northeastward to western Nebraska. The disturbance that was southwest of Bermuda Friday morning is advancing northeastward. It is probably of considerable intensity and caution has been advised to vessels in the region of its path. High pressure prevails over Ontario, the Lake region, the Ohio Valley, and the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, Sault Ste. Marie, 30.44 inches. During the last 24 hours showers have occurred in the middle Rocky Mountain region, the Plains States, and portions of the Lake region. Temperature changes have been unimportant.

The outlook is for mostly fair weather Saturday and Sunday without material change in temperature in the Washington forecast district, followed by showers on Sunday in the lower Ohio Valley, and the extreme west portions of Ohio and Tennessee.

MEDIATION REFUSAL STIRS STRIKERS' IRE

Mill President Accused of Misrepresenting Case to Gov. Pollard.

UNION ORGANIZER GOES

Danville, Va., Oct. 3.—The refusal of H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the Dan River Mills, to meet a meditation committee which Governor Pollard offered to appoint late last night quickly ended the first overtures looking to settlement of the strike of union workers here and brought this afternoon a strong statement from the managing committee of the strikers.

The mill president was charged, in a statement issued from strike headquarters with "misrepresenting to the Governor of Virginia the actual facts concerning the textile industry and labor organizations connected with it in the United States." The mill workers had expressed a desire to become unionized, it was said.

The Virginia executive late last night offered meditation to both sides. The union executive committee went into session and expressed readiness to participate in such a conference. Mr. Fitzgerald, however, in his reply authorized by the directors and addressed to the governor said: "There is absolutely nothing to mediate. There is no real grievance and if there was our employes will know that they can handle it through their own committee any time."

Investigate Organizers, Plea.

Continuing, the Fitzgerald reply ran, "If you are without authentic information as to what highly-paid professional labor organizers have done to the textile industry in the New England state, we suggest you investigate their record.

"After the tragedy of discontent which they have created and the permanent loss of more than 50,000 jobs along with millions of dollars in wages, they have only one mill in New England under their control. Having failed at home, they now direct their efforts toward the new industrial South, and they turn to Virginia's textile center as a strategic point for their Southern invasion.

"The property of our company belongs to the stockholders. The stockholders continue to shape its policies and whether the mills run or not they will have nothing to do with these outside professional trouble makers."

Little Change in Situation.

The strike situation here showed no change today. Three nonunion women workers entered the shipping department today without molestation. It was said they were needed for clerical work. Yard men and firemen also were admitted as usual. Pickets maintained their vigil, but obeyed the terms of the recently served injunctions and operated off mill-owned property.

Francis J. Gorman, chief organizer of the union, left today for New York to discuss the strike with National Union officers, more especially, it is believed, the provision for funds or material for the strikers. He will attend the convention of the National Federation of Labor in Boston and is to present a report to that body on the strike.

Near East Farm Belt Hit by Locusts, Mice

Damascus, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Conditions are desperately hard for agriculture all over the Near East this year. Locusts and field mice, combined with low wheat prices, have reduced the farmers to a sad plight. In Iraq, the ancient Mesopotamia, renowned for its fertility, the fellaheen have started to refuse payment of taxes in cash. They are prepared to pay in kind only.

In Syria, one of Rome's granaries, the farmers informed the government of their inability to pay taxes. After investigating the situaiton of the fellaheen the Palestine government is this year remitting 30 per cent of the agricultural taxes.

GALVESTON IS SAFE FROM HURRICANES

COST WAS $20,000,000

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Thirty years ago this September Galveston felt the full force of a tropical hurricane which roared out of the Caribbean Sea with devastating strength against the island town.

The result was 6,000 dead, a wrecked city, the most disastrous flood toll in the Nation's history.

Today Galveston stands guarded by a wall of steel and concrete, 17 feet high, 16 feet thick and 7 miles long.

The city has literally lifted itself by its own bootstraps to the height of that seawall, raised streets and alleys, houses and buildings and warehouses.

These protective devices cost approximately $16,000,000.

Private expense of raising buildings and changes necessary in the sewerage system, water, gas and electric lines easily brings the total to about $20,000,000.

Engineers, citizens and weather observers now are confident that Galveston is secure behind its seawall, safe if another tropical blow finds its way into the gulf and veers toward this coast.

This confidence was justified fully when a storm of even greater force struck the coast in 1915. The hurricane gave the seawall its most severe test, but it withstood every onslaught of wind and wave.

Another reason for an added sense of security is the increasing knowledge of the Federal Weather Bureau on these tropical hurricanes and the bureau's ability to trace and forecast their course well in advance.

Dr. Shelton to Arrive In Capital Next Week

Dr. W. A. Shelton, the new pastor of Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, will arrive in the city from Atlanta the latter part of next week and will occupy his pulpit next Sunday morning, October 12.

Dr. William A. Lambeth, the retiring pastor, has gone to his old home in Thomasville, N. C., to remain until the meeting of the North Georgia Conference in November. His children are in school at Thomasville.

"Now I Feel 100% Better"
"People told my mother how good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was for young girls, so I took it. I used to feel miserable at certain times but now I feel 100% better and have gained a little in weight too. I am only nineteen years old. I do not work but of course I help mother with the housework. We are both much pleased with the results from the Vegetable Compound and we recommend it to other girls who need it."—Bernice M. GUGGENHEIM WILL FILED FOR PROBATE

$8,000,000 Outright Bequests Made and Balance Left to His Widow.

RELATIVES ARE AIDED

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—After leaving more than $8,000,000 in outright bequests and trust funds to relatives and charity, Daniel Guggenheim, copper magnate, left all his millions, of undetermined number, to his widow.

The will was filed today, naming Mrs. Florence Guggenheim, the widow, as sole executrix and trustee, with the provision that if she was unwilling or unable to serve, the testator's three brothers should replace her.

The largest bequests for which the figures were given in the will were to the three children. Harry F. Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba, and Gladys G. Straus were given $2,000,000 outright and M. Robert Guggenheim was left a trust of $2,000,000.

Trust funds of $250,000 each were established for Mr. Guggenheim's sisters, Mrs. Rose G. Quicke and Cora G. Rothschild, and for his niece, Mrs. Nettie G. Knox. Trusts of $50,000 each were set aside for his sister-in-law, Mrs. Salvina S. Grant and Mrs. Claudia S. Frankel.

The will left $1,500,00 to the Daniel and Florence Guggenheim foundation, a charitable corporation.

Mr. Guggenheim directed in the will that if at the time of his death the full sum of $2,500,000 had not been turned over to the Daniel Guggenheim Foundation for the Promotion of Aeronautics, which he founded, the balance should be paid on request. All the money had been paid, however, and the foundation was recently brought to a close.

Dean Inge Attacks Luxury Spending Engaged in By U. S.

Calling Himself Unrepentant Victorian Philosopher of St Paul's Asserts Americans' Pleasure Outlay Last Year Would Pay British Debt.

Oxford, England, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Describing himself as "an utterly unrepentant early victorian," the very Rev. William Ralph Inge, popularly known as "the gloomy dean" of St. Paul's, today attacked "luxury spending," especially in the United States.

He spoke to a meeting connected with the national savings movement and repeated his previous assertion that "two years of American play would suffice to pay the whole of our national debt."

He also asserted that part of England's present economic difficulties was due to the excessive sums spent by Englishmen in unproductive fields.

"I was brought up to think that a good citizen was a man who put by as a rule one-third of his income, invested in sound securities, and in his old age looked forward to a moderate competence which he could leave his children.

"We have lived to see a very different state of things. We have lived to see the virtue of prudence utterly derided. Everywhere we see enormous sums spent on pleasure and amusement.

"This is more or less a world-wide phenomenon. There is one country, however, the United States, in which it is most marked.

"The amount last year spent on amusements in America was estimated at $21,945,000,000—more than the whole aggregate income of the people of this country.

"Two years of American play would suffice to pay the whole of our national debt—not only what we owe America, but the whole of it."

Speaking in London last night Dean Inge said he believed the Lambeth conference of the bishops of the Church of England could be developed into a great anglican general council or synod, on the order of the imperial conference.

He said the United States would not be sorry to find another word to replace "anglican" if one could be thought of. He thought there was a real prospect that all Episcopally governed churches in the near future, with the exception of the Roman Catholic church, would accord each other full and mutual recognition.

Girl Sees Man Plunge To Death From Plane

Sottorf, Germany, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—A girl working in a field near this village today saw what she thought was a parcel dropping from an airplane flying about 2,000 feet high. When it struck the ground she found it was the body of a man.

Paul Keppler, a Hamburg chauffeur, fell or jumped from the plane, a Hamburg-Frankfort passenger ship. A fellow passenger, who said Keppler sat behind him, told the authorities he felt a sudden drop, looked around and found Keppler gone.

Youthful Flier Killed When Glider Crashes

BODY IS IDENTIFIED BY CHAUFFEUR CARD

DEATH HELD ACCIDENTAL

The body of a white man found Thursday morning between the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad tracks and the Washington-Baltimore boulevard near Ammendale Station, Md., was last night identified as that of Arthur Le Gear, of South Portland, Me.

Maryland State police made the identification by receipt of a telegram from the secretary of state of Maine, stating that a chauffeur's license which was found on the body was listed to a person of that name and address. The license contained nothing but a number.

Justice of the Peace Henry M. Scott, acting coroner at Laurel, held an inquest last night, with twelve men acting as jurors. Their finding was that the man had come to his death in a "manner unknown to them, but not by foul play." While no definite opinion was advanced by the acting coroner, he said that it was his opinion the man had fallen from a box car while stealing a ride.

The man was attired in an old brownish gray suit, but was without a shirt. His age appeared to be between 30 and 35 years. Maine authorities had been unable to get in touch with the family of the man last night, but are to advise the Maryland investigators on the disposition of the body.

BABY SLIGHTLY HURT BY FALL INTO WELL

IS TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Thomas Edward Mitchell, 16-month-old son of Mrs. Florence Mitchell, is recovering from slight injuries received when he fell into a 19-foot well near his home at Landover, Md. In spite of the depth of the well, the child received only a tissue fracture of the skull, which doctors at Providence Hospital, where he was taken, said was not serious.

The child was going with his mother to "feed the pigeons," as he expressed it, when he ran from her side and climbed on the windlass over the hole. Losing his grip, he fell, and landed on dry earth, as the well had not reached the water depth.

Little Thomas was rescued by a boy of the neighborhood, who climbed down the rope. The mother immediately put the child in a passing automobile and had him taken to the hospital. After an X-ray he was allowed to return to his home.

Holdup Men Clean Out Bank in Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Announcing they were Chicago gangsters who would shoot to kill if resistance was offered, two men held up an outlying branch of the Bank of Italy today, obtaining approximately $9,000.

E. A. Seeley, manager of the branch, and four other employes were bound and gagged by the robbers. The men apparently entered the building during the night, hiding until the vault was opened. Seeley said the robbers got every dollar in the branch bank.

ONE will always stand out!

Nothing can take the place of the right use of the right tobaccos. Chesterfield's long-tested methods of mellowing and blending the choicest cigarette tobaccos have no counterpart. Thus Chesterfield stands out for—

MILDNESS—the entirely natural mildness of tobaccos that are without harshness or bitterness.

BETTER TASTE—such as only a cigarette of wholesome purity and better tobaccos can have.

MILDER BETTER TASTE

Williamsburg Mystery of 1930!

Recent news dispatches revealed the finding of the skeletons of 100 bodies in Williamsburg, Va. Now, Bessie Wilmarth Gahn produces evidence, in the form of hitherto unpublished correspondence of Gen. Washington, that they are the remains of soldiers of the Revolution who died in the military hospital that was established nearby . . . the story is not only of possible historical interest but engrossingly written as well.

STOCK PRICES RALLY ALONG WITH GRAINS

Advances Average Around 1.9 Points and Cancel Thursday's Loss.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY OFF

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The stock market rallied with wheat today in the dullest trading since September 23.

Gains averaged 1.9 points, which was exactly the extent of yesterday's net decline. However, final prices were considerably below the day's top as the result of late realizing. Sales totaled 2,053,280 shares.

The rise in wheat amounted to 2 cents a bushel, making the total advance from the year's extreme lows about 7 cents. Buying was prompted by reports that Russian offerings were drying up and that the Soviet's current stocks were little more than sufficient to care for its home consumption. Corn, with an advance of 1⅜ to 1⅞ cents, was lifted several cents above the Monday lows. In the case of the December future the gain from early in the week was 9⅛ cents. Cotton, on the other hand, turned heavy and lost 6 to 14 points net.

Sentiment Apparently Better.

Sentiment in stock market circles seemed a trifle more sanguine. Commission houses were encouraged by the weekly and monthly loan figures, and several expressed the opinion that President Hoover's Cleveland address would help dispel pessimism, permitting a more reasonable appraisal of the business situation.

Reviewing the week in trade, Bradstreet's said the period as a whole "hardly measured up to anticipations, based on the arrival of real shopping weather," adding that September, although showing undoubted gains over July and August, "left something to be desired in the way of definite seasonal trade and industrial advancement." Dun's was of the opinion that failure of commodity prices to reach the stabilization point, the unsettlement of the stock market and the resultant confusion of sentiment were "among the major elements acting as barriers to business progress."

Stocks rallied from the opening and met with only a couple of setbacks. There was a dip around noon coincident with selling of Southern Railway and the mail order shares, and then the reaction at the close, accompanied by weakness in some of the motion picture shares, but by the beginning of the last hour the market was generally 2 to 3 points higher.

U. S. Steel edged across 160 and American Can topped 125 before traders began to play safe and take profits. The realizing reduced many of the gains to a point or slightly more.

Montgomery Ward Hits Low.

Montgomery Ward broke to 26⅝, a new low for the present stock, but closed nearly a point above the bottom. Southern Railway tumbled more than 3, to 73¼, the lowest since 1924, and held its loss. Selling of both was attributed to nervousness over dividend prospects. The railroad company plans to maintain its present rate this year, so that fears in that direction are for 1931. Montgomery Ward's directors meet late this month. Sears Roebuck broke 2 points but recovered most of the decline.

Allied Chemical, Macy, Case and American Tobacco were strong, closing 4 points higher. Eastman Kodak, American Power & Light and Johns-Manville were up 3 and National Biscuit, Gillette, Houston Oil, Delaware & Hudson, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Woolworth and International Harvester 2. Shares retaining from 1 to 1½ of their extreme gains included U. S. Steel, Borden, Westinghouse, Bethlehem Steel, American Can and American Telephone. Montgomery Ward's net loss was 1⅝ and Sears Roebuck's ½. Fox Film slumped 2½ and Loew's eased fractionally.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Buying on a big scale took place in wheat future-delivery contracts today and lifted all grain values much higher. A notable stimulating influence was a statement from a Government sponsored corporation that in view of extreme shortage of corn and pasturage an advance in grain prices was to be expected. Besides, unofficial estimates were current that feed-stuff losses other than corn have reached a staggering amount, and that the direct drought loss in corn coupled with the corn equivalent of hay and sorghum decreases make an estimated aggregate of 933,000,000 bushels.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled, but at nearly the day's top level, 1⅜@2⅛c per bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1⅜@2c up, oats 1@1¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20c.

Only for a brief time at the opening did the wheat market here show a distinct downward trend. This exception was ascribed to forecasts of rain in Australia, where the wheat crop has been deteriorating because of drought. However, offerings on the declines here were readily absorbed, and the Chicago market soon began to soar notwithstanding lower quotations at Liverpool. Meanwhile continued references to possible large purchases by foreign interests on long-term credit were heard and considerable stress in some quarters was put on announcement that Farm Board allies were ready to loan money for the holding of wheat.

A decided disposition which friends of higher prices for wheat showed today to urge that the grain markets have definitely turned the corner and that liquidating sales have run their course had an additional stimulating influence. Another encouragement to buyers was word that France had definitely prohibited the importing of Russian wheat except under licenses which would require Russia to take equal imports of goods from France. Inasmuch as France is generally believed to be in need of large quantities of foreign wheat, the license system was construed as bullish regarding wheat from North America. Export business in North American wheat today, however, was slow.

Corn and oats prices surged upward with wheat and met with but slight opposition. The strength of the wheat market appeared to be all that was needed to make corn buyers aggressive.

Provisions, although inclined to sag early owing to lack of buyers, rose later with grain and hogs.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—H. S. Wherrett, president of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co., said today that the company had no definite plans for construction of a plant at Marysville, Mich., and that it did not plan any use at the present time of property purchased there recently. Reports had said that the concern was considering a $20,000,000 construction program at Marysville. Wherrett said the reports probably were due to a desire on the part of real estate operators to sell property in the vicinity of the company's holdings.

D. A. Dobry, president of D. A. Dobry Securities Co., Davenport, Iowa, has been suspended from the Chicago Curb Exchange pending investigation.

Sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat for $258,000, or $2,000 below the last previous transaction, recorded yesterday, was announced today.

The American Petroleum Institute announced today that the Phillips Petroleum Co., the only large producing and marketing company which had not signed the producers' national code for marketing refined products, had accepted the provisions of the code and would sign immediately. The decision was announced by Frank Phillips, president of the company, in a letter to W. R. Boyd, jr., executive vice president of the Institute. Mr. Boyd expressed the opinion that this action forecast signature of the code by the Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation, which recently withdrew.

Cotton goods were quiet today, a lower cotton market helping to lessen the demand in gray goods channels. Finished goods were in moderate request. Clothing manufacturers report a subnormal demand from retailers. Raw silk was steady in spot markets. Silk merchandise was quiet. Rayon was selling more freely to knitters and weavers. Burlaps opened unchanged after the holidays in Calcutta and were quiet and unchanged here.

Raw silk futures closed firm; sales, 2,000 bales: December, 225; March, 226; May, 226. Open market quotations (60-day basis): Shanghai steam extra B, 285; Canton double extra A, 14-16s, 155; Japanese crack double extra, 250.

Directors of Hupp Motor Car Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock due at this time. Du Bois Young, president, said the action was taken "in view of the uncertain conditions prevailing in the industry and in order to maintain the strong cash position" of the company.

Approximate deliveries of raw silk to American mills in September amounted to 55,649 bales, the Silk Association of America reports. Stocks in storage October 1, as reported by the principal warehouses in New York City and Hoboken, N. J., were 47,621 bales, compared with 44,978 bales September 1. Imports during September totaled 58,292 bales.

Announcement was made today of the organization of Seaboard Continental Corporation, an investment company of the general management type which is to be publicly financed through an offering of 6 per cent guaranteed convertible gold bonds. Public offering of the bonds is expected shortly.

After last week's small decrease, the insolvency record for the current week shows more marked improvement, R. G. Dun & Co., reports. The number of failures declined this week to 447 from 488 reported last week. Relatively, the best showing was made in the South. Compared with the 396 defaults reported a year ago, however, this week's figures disclose a considerable increase.

Thomas C. Powell, president of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railway, said that the general mortgage 5 per cent bonds of the road are in a better position than they were a year or two years ago by reason of the better physical condition of the property. "Funds already have been reserved for the November 1 interest payment," he said. "In my opinion the reason for the recent declines in the 5s of 1951 consists of adverse conditions in the coal industry which supplies about 50 per cent of our freight traffic, combined with other unfavorable developments affecting our earnings."

Sales of pig iron in the New York district this week may exceed last week's total of 10,000 tons providing some business now actively under negotiation is closed, the trade reports.

Reduction of inventories by sheet steel consumers has been accompanied by increasing demands for prompt shipment of sheets, officials of the Michigan Steel Corp., report.

The decline in cotton attributed to the increased volume of hedging which made its appearance here during the latter part of September continued until the new October contract sold off to 9.97 and March to 10.48 last Tuesday. Near-month liquidation incident to the circulation of October notices naturally contributed to the easier ruling of the market, but the pressure abated while buying increased at the new low levels. At 9.97 for the new October contract the market was at the lowest price reached for any delivery here since the autumn of 1915, and there was an increase of trade or investment buying, apparently, as well as covering. The latter became a little more active as prices advanced and may have been promoted by more or less uncertainty as to the showing of the Government crop report, which is scheduled for publication on Wednesday of next week. The more urgent demand, however, seemed to have been supplied on an advance of approximately half a cent from the low levels and the market was rather irregular toward the end of the week.

Curb Review

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The curb market worked moderately higher as the volume of trading diminished further today, total sales aggregating 478,000 shares.

Oils continued to rally, and several of the utility, natural gas and investment trust issues reflected fresh operations for the rise. Week-end profit-taking whittled down some of the gains in the final dealings.

Electric Bond & Share was active and strong, reflecting the June 30 statement, showing a moderate gain in earnings and an increase in the holdings of the stocks of client companies. The stock sold up 2½ points to 69½ and closed at 68⅞. United Light A was a strong feature, rising 4 points, and closing near the top. American Gas & Electric and Middle West Utilities were also in good demand.

In the oil and natural gas issues Arkansas was firm, reflecting announcement of the acquisition of Louisiana Oil for its account by H. L. Doherty & Co. Cities Service rose a fraction, getting above 27. United Gas, Duquesne and Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line were active and firm. Gulf Oil shot up more than 3 points. Cosden rallied more than 2, but the preferred, infrequently traded, appeared on the tape at 15½, a drop of 36½ points since it last sold.

Industrials were less active, but inclined to work higher. Trading was not resumed in the Rainbow Luminous shares after suspension in connection with the Piperno failure. Empire Fire Insurance, in which the firm acted as specialist, rallied 2 points. Deere, Technicolor, Libby-McNeil and U. S. Gypsum sold up about 2 points each.

A feature of the investment trusts was strength of Blue Ridge preferred, which sold up more than 2 points. The Shenandoah and Goldman Sachs issues were higher. Prince & Whitely and Prudential Investors were also firm.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—An early decline in cotton here today was followed by recoveries, but the demand, which was attributed largely to covering, tapered off after the advance from 10.50 to 10.72 for December contracts and prices eased again later under increased Southern and local selling. The new December closed at 10.58, or 14 points off from the best, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 6 to 14 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 13 to 19 points and the more active positions showed net losses of some 18 to 22 points during the first few minutes under overnight selling orders and in sympathy with the relatively easy Liverpool cables. There was some further near-month liquidation owing to the circulation of new October notices representing about 1,200 bales, which helped to unsettle the general tone of the market but the early offerings were quite readily absorbed by trade buying and covering.

Contracts then seemed to become comparatively scarce and the market worked upward during the middle of the day on a renewal of covering promoted by the steadier ruling of some of the other commodity markets. New October sold up from 10.24 to 10.46 on a comparatively small volume of business, while March advanced from 10.75 to 10.97, making the general list about net unchanged to 4 points higher. Offerings increased at this level, with a little more selling in evidence during the last hour, and closing quotations showed reactions of 9 to 14 points from the best on the more active positions.

No further private crop reports were published, and the trade seemed to be paying comparatively little attention to the weather news or the current progress of the crop. Part of the demand on the early afternoon advance was attributed to rebuying by sellers of yesterday and a renewal of prebureau covering.

Liverpool cables said that continental buying in that market had been supplied by hedging and realizing and reported a moderate demand for cotton cloth for the home trade and South America, but a slow business in yarns. Exports today, 15,678 bales, making 1,339,428 so far this season. Port receipts, 119,028. United States port stocks, 2,722,827.

Freight Volume Statistics Given

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.)—The volume of freight handled by American railways this year was almost identical with the volume handled in 1920, the Railway Age reported today.

The publication pointed out that railroads had an average daily car shortage of 81,592 cars ten years ago while with the same amount of freight there has been an average daily car surplus of about 450,000 in 1930.

"This is the first year," it said, "in the entire history of the railroads of the United States when their freight business has been as small as it was ten years before." Calling attention to the carriers' record for furnishing car service this year, the Railway Age said that from October 31, 1929, to August 31, 1930, the railways furnished every shipper in the country every car he wanted when he wanted it. The improvement in service, it reported, was accompanied by improved speed and management, for there are 400,000 less freight cars in the country today than in 1920.

FLOTATIONS CHECK TURNOVER IN BONDS

FOREIGN GROUP STRONG

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—The appearance of several large pieces of new financing had a moderating influence upon the pace of the bond market today.

While the volume of business was fairly large, there is a noticeable slackening in the rate at which bonds moved forward and many issues held slightly under their best prices of the year.

The quietude that reigned in the domestic section was attributed to the public sale of approximately $36,000,000 worth of bonds of American corporations, the largest portion being offered by utilities. This tended to divert some of the demand for investment issues from the listed market. Offerings for the week totaled $70,636,000, as compared to $125,381,000 last week.

Few New Highs Recorded.

The list of bonds at new highs for one year, consequently, was rather slim. It included American Telephone debenture 5s, Canadian National 5s of 1954 and 1960, and the 4½s of 1968; Atchison Stamped 4s, Carthage & Adirondack 4s, Chicago & Northwestern general 3½s, Laclede Gas Light, 5½s, Brooklyn Union Electric first 5s, Nassaue Electric 4s, Pittsburgh & West Virginia 4½s and Wabash Terminal 4s, the latter up 3½ points.

A good buying developed for Chesapeake Corporation 5s, Chesapeake & Ohio 4½s, Chile Copper 5s, Houston Oil 5½s, New Orleans Public Service 5s B, North American Edison 5s, A; Missouri Pacific 5s, F 77, and New York Central 4s were among the high-grade issues that were slightly lower.

The industrial group harbored several weak spots, liquidation continuing in some oil, sugar and rubber companies' issues. Cespedes Sugar 7½ slumped nearly 5, and Frisco Sugar reacted 1½. B. F. Goodrich 6½s slid 2⅞ to a new 1930 low. U. S. Rubber 5s sold off 2 points.

Shell Union 5s at Low.

Shell Union 5s of 1947 reached a new year's bottom on a decline of more than a point. Richfield 6s recovered 2 points from its minimum price.

Several foreign bonds that have plumbed the depths in recent sessions swung back sharply. Argentine 6s of June, 1969, soared 3¼ points. Bolivian 7s rallied 3, Chile 7s, 3¼, and Peruvian first and second 6s, 1 to 2 points. German issues remained spotty. Italian governments and municipals were well bought. Sharp declines of 5 points or more carried Hungary municipal 7s and Hamburg State 6s to new 1930 lows.

U. S. Government issues maintained their upward trend on a reduced turnover. Liberty fourth 4¼s were the most active and slightly higher. Liberty 3½s equaled their high of the year at 101 7-32ds.

STREET CAR INCOME CONTINUES TO DROP

GAS DEVICE SALES RISE

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Net income of Washington Rapid Transit Co. continues to decline. Its statement of operations for August, filed yesterday with the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia, shows a deficit of $6,795.49 under this item for the month, against one of $6,434.25 for the month a year ago, an increase of $361.24. For the eight months of the current year a deficit of $16,739.12 is registered against a surplus of $1,071.92 for the corresponding period last year, making a net deficit of $17,811.04.

Gas appliance sales by the Washington Gas Light Co. for the month of September have broken all records with a total of $151,000. This amount, according to the report made by the president of the company, George A. G. Wood, is nearly three times the total sales made this time last year and almost $50,000 more than the August record, which had broken all previous records. The sales included 150 water heaters, 429 ranges and 233 house-heating jobs.

Returning Prosperity Seen.

"We believe this enormous increase in the sales of gas appliances is convincing evidence of returning prosperity," Mr. Wood said.

In accordance with the expansion program of the company, gas mains are being extended in various parts of the city. Mains are now being laid from Twenty-seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast to the 1300 block on Twenty-seventh street; from Michigan avenue and Upshur street to the 1400 block on Michigan avenue northeast; from Fourth and Concord streets to Third place and Longfellow street northwest; from Twenty-fourth and Quincy streets to the 3900 block on Twenty-fourth street northeast; from the 1500 block on Evarts street northeast to west of Seventeenth street; from Seventeenth street south of Douglas street to Channing street northeast.

All officers of the Bank of Commerce & Savings were reelected yesterday at the annual organization meeting of the board of directors. They are as follows: Maurice D. Rosenberg, president; Joseph Sanders, vice president; Irving Owings, vice president; John M. Riordan, executive vice president; Thomas J. Groom, vice president and cashier; Oliver Exline, assistant cashier; Francis Robey, assistant cashier; Joseph H. Milans, secretary; Dr. Clarence A. Weaver, auditor.

"Guarding the Bank Portfolio Against Speculative Hazards" is the subject of an article appearing in the current Trust Companies Magazine, written by President Robert V. Fleming, of Riggs National Bank.

General satisfaction was expressed locally by bankers with the speech of President Hoover at the American Bankers Association convention at Cleveland. The local delegation was due back here late yesterday.

Seven-Story Apartment On N Street Is Planned

Application for a permit to build a seven-story brick apartment building at 1417 N street northwest was filed yesterday with the office of District Building Inspector Oehmann.

Lee Properties, Inc., will be the builder and owner of the structure, and Frank Tomlinson, the architect and designer. The building will have 84 apartments, totaling 182 rooms. It will be 61 feet wide, 146 feet deep and 68 feet high. The estimated cost was not listed.

SOUTHPAW BATTLE LIKELY IN THIRD GAME AT ST. LOUIS; GEORGETOWN GRIDMEN IN VICTORY OVER LOYOLA, 16-6

Westbrook Pegler Says

By CONNIE STREET
(Westbrook Pegler)
Special to The Washington Post.

EN ROUTE to St. Louis, aboard World Series Special, Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 3.—As we speed on our way en route westward from Philadelphia to St. Louis, where the World Series classic will be resumed, I have been devoting a great deal of serious thought to what has happened since the beginning of the current blue ribbon event of the National game. Before going any further, I want to impress on one and all of you fans, that we are confident but not overconfident. There is a great distinction there, one which I learned very early in my life.

In my home town there used to be a saloonkeeper by the name of Patrick Cahill, an old Irishman, who was a great "fan" for baseball and other sporting events of all kinds. Now, while I never drank, smoked or chewed in any way, shape or form, I used to go to Cahill's saloon to meet some of my followers and friends including some, I am forced to admit, who drank, smoked and chewed in every way shape and form.

Patrick Was Called "Pat" or "Paddy."

Now, Patrick Cahill, whom we used to call "Pat," or "Paddy," for short, was a very philosophical old fellow and a very smart man in a crude way and many were the witty sayings that he used to get off, right "off the bat," without thinking while serving his customers with beer, whiskey, gin, or in some cases, where people preferred them, mixed drinks. I might say just here that I do not go into saloons any more nowadays, believing them to be illegal and being a great believer in all the laws of the land, right or wrong, but in the days that I am speaking about it was not illegal and moreover, the beer, whiskey and gin of these days were of a wholesome character, whereas the liquor you are likely to get nowadays, you can never tell what you are getting, or so I understand, as I never touch it myself.

Mind you, I am not anarrow-minded and I am for personal liberty, but I just do not care for intoxicating stimulants and every man to his own taste is my "motto." Now, to get back to Cahill's or "Paddy's," as we always called it. I never will forget the time when I went in there this night.

Was Picking Up A Nickel.

I do not know just what prompted "Paddy" to make his remark, but he was stooping down to pick up a nickel from under the buck-boards, which were a kind of platform that they used to have behind the bars, and when he straightened up he fixed me with a shrewd twinkle and said, "Faith, take care of the nickels, and the dollars will take care of yez." That started me thinking, but I have never been very careful of my nickels. I used to like to talk to him because two heads are better than one. For example, the shrewdest thing he ever said in his life, and a thing which I have often remembered and applied to the problems of my career, was when he said one night, "Never get overconfident. Too much confidence sometimes is as bad as no confidence at all." I don't see what put me in mind of this today, but as I have been riding westward, speeding en route to St. Louis, the gateway of the great Southwest, I was wondering what the future had in store for us. Will we come out of this series champions of the world, or will we be just "second best."

Mind you, it is not that I lack confidence. Not at all. I have just been wondering if I didn't have too much of it, which, as "Paddy" said that night so long ago, was just as bad as no confidence at all.

Boys Have Proper Psychology.

I don't think I need to tell you that my boys have just the right amount of proper psychology. Psychology is one of the most important factors in any competitive situation. Without it, where would we be in the daily battle of life, which is practically the same as the battle of baseball, on a larger scale? I am mighty proud of the showing my boys have made so far. While we did make some mistakes, I am not one to hold it up against my men as long as they are giving the best they have, because it has been my policy to always try to absolutely overlook any mistake on the playing field as long as it was an honest mistake. There is nobody impervious

Varied Attack Wins Night Contest

Scalzi, Danieu Star as Hoyas Annex Second Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

Maczees' Pass to Scalzi Nets Touchdown.

Taking the ball at the 20-yard line after the kick-off had passed the goal line, Loyola failed in three line plays and punted to midfield. Maczees gave Georgetown a first down in two tries at right tackle, and Mooney got another first down in two plays at left tackle.

Loyola braced and took the ball on downs, but, after a single first down was forced to punt.

A Georgetown advance faltered when three passes failed, but late in the quarter another Loyola punt gave Georgetown the ball on Loyola's 47-yard line. Mooney, Maczees and Gillis alternated to step over left tackle for three successive first downs, bringing the ball to Loyola's 20-yard line. Maczees threw a 20-yard pass to Scalzi, who fell over the goal line for a touchdown. Scalzi place-kicked goal.

Danieu's Fumble Costs G. U. Score.

Scalzi interfered with Malloy's long pass to give Loyola a first down on Georgetown's 40-yard line as the second quarter opened. Scalzi intercepted the next Loyola pass on his 25-yard line, but two tries at the line failed and Scalzi punted to midfield.

A 40-yard pass, Malloy to Walsh, gave Loyola a first down on Georgetown's 15-yard line, but Loyola made only 9 yards in four tries at the line, and Scalzi punted out of danger. On the first play, Malloy fumbled and Leavey recovered on the 50-yard line.

Danieu replaced Mooney at right half back for Georgetown and he and J. Bozek made three first downs and carried the ball to the Loyola ¼-yard line between them.

Danieu fumbled and Walsh recovered, Malloy punting to mid-field on the first down. They traded punts as the half ended.

Scalzi Place Kicks Field Goal.

After an exchange of punts had followed the kick-off by Georgetown in the third quarter Maczees slashed over left tackle for twelve yards and a first down on Loyola's 35-yard line. He moved the ball to the 23-yard line for another first down when he circled left end on the next play, and Scalzi dropped back to the 35-yard line and place-kicked a field goal, making the score read—Georgetown, 10; Loyola, 0.

Malloy took the ensuing kick-off on the Loyola 25-yard line, and on an end around play, Walsh gained 45 yards for a first down on Georgetown's 30-yard stripe.

Furness, going in at right half back for Loyola, made two successive first downs off the tackles to give Loyola a first down six inches from the goal line.

Connelly took the ball over for a touchdown on a quarterback sneak. A run by Lutzenkirchen failed for the extra point, the reading Georgetown, 10; Loyola, 6.

Danien Stages Great Drive to Touchdown.

Georgetown took the ball early in the fourth period, Brennan recovering a Loyola fumble on Georgetown's 40-yard line. Danieu, back at right half for the Washington eleven, staged a one-man offensive on short end runs that gave Georgetown three first downs in a row and brought the ball to Loyola's one-yard line.

He slipped off right tackle for a touchdown on the next play. Scalzi's place-kick for the extra point was blocked, score, Georgetown, 16; Loyola, 6.

High School Gridmen To Play Away Today

Although some of the outstanding scholastic teams of the District see action today, local fans must travel if they are to witness the activities. Tech, Central, Emerson and St. John's all swing into action this afternoon, but beyond the limits of the city.

Tech High, the District champions, will pitch their football tent nearest to Washington's boundaries when the strong Episcopal High Eleven is encountered at Alexandria. This game looks like the best of the lot. The kick-off is scheduled for 2:30.

Ty Rauber takes his young army of Centralmen to Richmond for a clash with John Marshall High. Emerson Institute, untouched by their bout with Business, swings down to Mercersburg to engage the gridsters of that town's famed academy. St. John's eleven will be baptized in the fire of 1930's particular season at Mount St. Joseph's, in Baltimore.

MISS FORDYCE GOLF WINNER.

Philadelphia, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Miss Lois E. Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, today won the Bertheliyn Golf Cup, defeating in the final round Mrs. Helen B. Stetson, Philadelphia, 5 and 4.

NOTRE DAME IN OPENER TODAY

Southern Methodists Foes; Fray Feature of U. S. Card.

By TED VOSBURFH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Some of the biggest intersectional football games ever staged on an early October Saturday are on tap in different parts of the country tomorrow as the big fellows of the gridiron lose no time tackling foes of their own size.

Knute Rockne's latest Notre Dame creation opens against the galloping mustangs of Southern Methodist University at South Bend, Ind., in a game that is sure to hold a major share of the spotlight.

Some idea as to how much of a chance Rockne's 1930 entry has to duplicate its unbeaten performance of 1929 will be gained from its showing against the formidable eleven from Dallas, a team, incidentally, which was barely nosed out for the championship of the Southwest Conference last season.

Several other strong teams from the Southern part of the country are sallying forth to seek their fortunes in intersectional combat.

Tulane to Tackle Northwestern.

Among them are Tulane, Southern Conference champion last year, which tackles Northwestern at Evanston; Vanderbilt opposing Minnesota at Minneapolis in another interesting test of Southern Conference football against the Big Ten variety; Baylor, a powerful Southwest Conference outfit, which has high hopes of beating Purdue, the Big Ten title holder, at Lafayette, Ind., and Maryland, one of the less highly rated members of the Southern Conference group, but a thorn in the side of Yale in recent seasons.

This Maryland aggregation, containing many of the men who figured in last year's surprising 13-13 tie with the Bulldog, invades the bowl at New Haven in one of the two outstanding games scheduled for the East. The other headliner in the Eastern section is Pittsburgh vs. West Virginia at Morgantown.

D. C. Colleges In 3 Local Contests

C. U. Battles Franklin and Marshall; Two Games Away.

American U. Host to Shepherd; Blues Face Tanks.

WASHINGTON'S collegiate football fare today consists of three games, in two of which the home teams will be making their debuts. Catholic University meets Franklin and Marshall, of Lancaster, Pa., in Brookland Stadium in its first local game; Gallaudet engages the Fort Meade (Md.) Tank School eleven in the opener at Kendall Green, and American comes to grips with Shepherd College, of Shepherdstown, W. Va., in its second game in Central Stadium. The starting whistle in each contest will sound at 2:30 o'clock.

On foreign fields George Washington will inaugurate its campaign opposing Rutgers at New Brunswick, N. J. and Maryland tackles Yale in New Haven.

C. U. Under Dog in Game Today.

The Catholic-Franklin and Marshall game, which looms brightest of the local attractions, should result in a victory for the invading eleven. Gallaudet appears to have an edge on the Tank School Club, while American and Shepherd should wage battle on equal terms.

The Catholic U. Eleven, the first edition of Head Coach Dutch Bergmann, former Minnesota back field tutor, does not measure up to the standard of C. U. elevens of the last three seasons. The loss of seven letter men by graduation and the recent injury of its two best linemen—Capt. George Menke, guard, and Hugh Flynn, tackle—has sadly crippled the Cardinals' 1930 prospects.

But there is nothing lacking in the spirit of Bergman's players and they may be relied upon to give a fighting exhibition today. Their eagerness to improve is another of their qualities and this may result in a better showing than they made against Boston College last Saturday.

Franklin and Marshall, coached by Dr. Jonathan K. "Poss" Miller, is the team that held Pennsylvania to a 14-7 score in one of the early season surprises last fall. It is a young team, but still an experienced team, for the 1929 personnel remains almost intact. There is only one senior on the team—McCleary, a guard.

Card Hopes Rest on Trio Of Players.

The hopes of Catholic U. will rest mainly on the performances of Johnny Ambrose, rugged center; Johnny Oliver, shifty running half back and passer, and Nick Monaco, a converted tackle who stood out last season in the Cardinal line at guard.

Oliver is the lone remaining member of the 1929 C. U. back field. His new running mates are Lou Bertoni, quarter back; Frank Donalser, half back, and Buster Sheary, full back. The last mentioned bids fair to gain a place in the Brookland sun before the season closes. He is a sturdy defensive player as well as a reliable man on attack.

A veteran team will take the field for Gallaudet against the Tank School on the Florida avenue field. The Blues are starting off with better prospects than in any opening game of the last six or seven years.

According to an announcement last night of the probable starting line-up, Johnny Ringle, star of the 1929 Gallaudet Team, who was eighth among the country's leading scorers, will not see action until the game gets under way. His place in the ball-toting crew will be filled by Boyce Williams, a promising newcomer.

Ringle reported late for practice and is not as far advanced in training as others of the Blue squad. However, if he gets a chance to play he should be good for a thrilling run or two.

American Figures to Turn In Victory.

The Tankmen are a slow, inexperienced aggregation that will prove stronger on defense than offense. They have plenty of weight. Gallaudet should overcome this handicap with speed if nothing else. Coach Hughes has plenty of capable reserve material also.

American does not fear Shepherd, but does look for tough opposition. Coach Young has made changes in his line-up during the past week that may bring an improvement over the Eagles' first-game performance against Shenandoah.

Fred Johnson, formerly a guard, will be in a half-back position along with Bill Fuchale, who has been shifted from an end. These changes give the Eagles greater offensive strength while also providing better defensive play against passing.

Shepherd comes here something of a mystery. Little is known about it except that it retains most of the array which fell before Gallaudet, 25 to 7, last year.

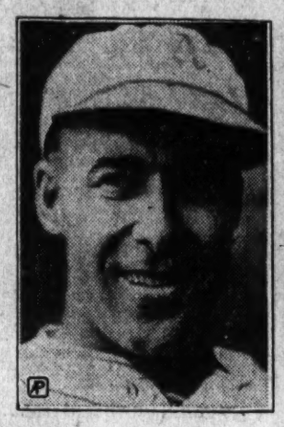

Bowling Mark Beaten By Hyattsville Star

Pierce Wolfe, one of the best bowlers Hyattsville has developed in recent years, has been burning up the little pins during the last week, turning in a neat 1207 as a result of three appearances in local and nearby leagues.

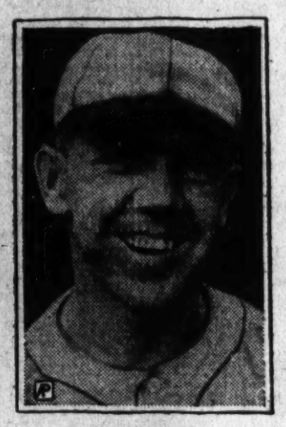

This mark eclipses by five pins the highest three set mark established at the national duckpins tourney last year in Bridgeport, Conn.

Holling in the Virginia-Maryland Suburban League Tuesday night Wolfe shot a 411 for the three games. Wednesday night produced a 399 for the benefit of the Hyattsville team of the District League. Last night he bowled to the tune of 397 for the Dixie Pigs in the Prince George's Country League.

Cards Cheered as Wilson Returns to Line-Up Today

By PAUL MICKELSON.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Just when the clouds looked the darkest over the Cardinal world series horizon today, a rainbow burst through that sent Red Bird chins up and fired players and fans alike with renewed determination to halt the march of Connie Mack's Athletics.

The rainbow was the announcement by Manager Gabby Street that Jimmy Wilson, first string Cardinal catcher, would be back on the firing line tomorrow when the third game of the fight for the baseball championship of the world opens at Sportsman's Park.

Wilson, considered one of the best handlers of pitchers and batters in the National League, has been out of the game several weeks and his absence has been mentioned as one of the big reasons for the poor showing of the Cards in the series so far. His return, even the dejected Cardinal fans insisted, promised a return of the fighting Cardinal spirit that emabled them to come from far behind in the National League race to victory. In addition to a smart catcher, Wilson owned a reputation for hitting in the pinches, one of the outstanding shortcomings of the Red Birds so far. His average stood at .320 this season, until he was incapacitated by an injured leg in the final series with the New York Giants.

Loyal Fans Greet Cardinals.

No little dejected over the two setbacks their favorites fell victims to in Philadelphia, St. Louis tonight took the renewal of the classic here soberly and hopefully. Only a small but loyal delegation of fans greeted the Cardinals on their return today, and tonight the city didn't look much different than a convention city, except that there was probably less noise. All or the largest and most prominent hotels were jammed, but what celebrating there was came from the Athletic fans section.

Absent were the usual groups of red-hot baseball fans arguing over the merits of the two teams. Cardinal fans kept a discreet silence when Athletic boosters praised Grove, Earnshaw, Simmons, Foxx and Cochrane.

But there was hope and a lot of it in the Cardinal camp, especially because of the return of Catcher Wilson.

Line Forms Early At Bleachers.

All seats for tomorrow's games were sold tonight except the customary bleacher and pavilion seats, numbering 6,500. A line formed at the bleacher gates this morning and was headed by a St. Louis electrical worker, who brought a box, tarpaulin, some sandwiches and an extra shirt for the long vigil. He was joined by others tonight.

Manager Street, glum but determined, tonight said he intended to stick by the line-up that won the National League pennant, except for Wilson, who will supplant Gus Mancuso.

"The line-up stands and we're not through yet," the grim "Sarge" said. "Bill Hallahan will lick the A's tomorrow and we'll be right back into the fight feet first. We haven't surrendered by a long shot."

Street Expects Hallahan To Stop March of Macks

By WILLIAM HENNIGAN.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Those two fighting ball clubs, the Athletics, winners of the American League pennant, and the Cardinals, champions of the National League, arrived here today, and tomorrow will resume their world's series struggle at Sportsman's Park. The Athletics came with smiles on their faces and the winners' end within their reach. The Cardinals came with sad faces and the losers' end right on their heels.

There was a fair sized gathering of loyal, royal and hopeful St. Louis fans waiting at the station for the National League champions. As they came strutting down the platform and out in the station, there was a mild cheer. Street led the way and with him was Frankie Frisch, holder of a new world's series hit record, and "Wild Bill" Hallahan, the southpaw.

In case you don't know it, much depends upon this young man, "Wild Bill," as far as the Cardinals are concerned. Manager Street and all St. Louis is hoping nad praying the southpaw has one of his real good days and beat the world's champions in the third game tomorrow. If he does, he'll put the Cardinals back on their feet. If he doesn't, then it will be all over but the shouting and in all probability another four game world's series.

Bill and Street Side by Side.

Bill and Street sat side by side most of the way during the ride from Philadelphia. They discussed this and that Philadelphia batter and ways and means were devised to keep Mickey Cochrane, Al Simmons, Jimmy Foxx and Jimmy Dykes from hitting the ball out of the lot.

"Going to beat them tomorrow," yelled a kid at Hallahan as he was stepping into a taxicab.

The young southpaw merely smiled. But as Street said later, it looked like a winning smile to him.

It will break old Gabby's heart if the Athletics beat Hallahan. The southpaw has been a pet of the manager of the Cardinals ever since he became coach of the club in 1929. When Street went South with the Cardinals this year he had a long talk with his young southpaw.

"You're a great pitcher, Bill," he told Hallahan, "and you're going to win a lot of ball games. Here's one thing I want you to know; whenever you start a game, you're going to finish it, no matter how wild you are and how many base hits the other fellows make."

Hallahan Boasts Control.

That seemed to help Hallahan in his pitching. He knew that if he started a game he was going to finish it. Therefore, he knew that he needed his control. And if you look at the records, you'll find that Hallahan had control this year and was one of the outstanding southpaws of the year.

Now young Mr. Hallahan, a typewriter salesman in the winter time in Binghamton, N. Y., is going to get a chance to show Street and St. Louis fans how great a pitcher he is. And if you listen to the other Cardinals here tonight you would be willing to pawn your wife's wedding ring to bet the National League champions will win here tomorrow.

There is no doubt the Cardinals are a bit discouraged at their failure to win one game in Philadelphia. But they point out that the breaks were against them in the opening battel and that with any kind of luck, Grimes would have beaten Grove. Then, too, both Jimmy Bottomley and Chick Hafey expect to do a little clouting tomorrow.

Hafey and Bottomley have been the "bust" of the series so far. "Sunny Jim" has only hit one ball out of the infield in the two games and Hafey only one little hit. That has been so far overshadowed by Cochrane, Foxx and Simmons, Mack's big three, that they have looked like Singer's midgets standing alongside of Primo Carnera.

"Jim and I will start hitting tomorrow," said Hafey on his arrival. "We always hit well at Sportsman Park. In fact, I believe the Cardinals will show their real strength tomorrow and beat any pitcher Mack starts."

Frisch was all smiles as he stepped off the train. Frankie's lumbago has entirely disappeared.

Frisch Has Recovered From Lumbago.

"We'll beat the Athletics with Hallahan," declared the second baseman. "And Jess Haines will win the fourth game. You know I was a member of the Giants when they lost the first two games to the Yankees in 1921, and then we went on to beat them. That's what's going to happen in this series. We'll win in the end for we have a hitting and fighting ball club. We came from far behind to win the National League pennant and we're going to do the same thing in this world's series."

The Athletics arrived about the same time as the Cardinals. They were the "happy warriors," smiling and sure the series was going to be a breeze for them and in four games Mack seemed like a man at peace with the world in this room at the hotel.

"We're sitting pretty right now," said Connie, "but don't get it into your head the Cardinals are not a Sportsman's Park they'll probably be be harded to beat."

Cubs Rout White Sox, 2-1, in City Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Bud Teachout, a kid left-hander, started a baseball game against Red Faber, 43 years old and a veteran of seventeen seasons with the White Sox, and when it was finished Teachout was still there. Faber had been succeeded by two other hurlers and the Cubs had a 12-to-1 victory in the Chicago city championship series.

Teachout allowed just four singles, and only in the eighth, when three of them were bunched for a run, did he have trouble. Carl Reynolds, one of the ranking American League batsmen, drilled the southpaw for a single in the first and from there on until the seventh not a hit was collected off his stuff.

Cub Bats Make Teachout's Task Easier.

The kid southpaw's task was made easier by the emphatic hitting of Rogers Hornsby's Cubs, who slammed Faber, Jim Moore and young Ed Walsh for eighteen hits of all sizes and shapes. Hack Wilson had a double, two singles and a pair of walks; Gabby Hartnett got a triple and two singles, and Lester Bell got three singles and was hit by Walsh.

Faber kept away from the Cubs in good shape outside of Charlie Grimm's homer, for the first three innings. In the fourth, however, he started to wobble and in the fifth was driven from the box. His successor, Jim Moore, lasted less than one inning, and while Walsh stuck to the finish, he was batted hard and frequently.

Today's victory put the Cubs out in front by two games to one in the series and made it possible for them to finish the set and win the title on their own field.

Guy Bush probably will pitch for the Cubs in the fourth game tomorrow, with Garland Braxton doing it for the White Sox.

American Leaguers Given Welcome in Mound City.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 3 (AP).—The rampant herd of white elephants, under the command of Mahout Connie Mack, rumbled truculently into the enemy's stronghold late today, confident they will continue their wild charge toward another baseball championship in the third game of the world's series tomorrow at Sportsman's Park.

The Pennsylvania Special bearing the Athletics rolled into St. Louis after a 21-hour trip from Philadelphia but the world's champions who have struck terror so far into the camp of the Cardinals succeeded only in arousing curiosity among the citizens. Instead of running to the cyclone cellars, hundreds of the populace stood by and cheered such stars of the big herd as Lefty Grove, Al Simmons, Mickey Cochrane and George Earnshaw.

With two straight victories packed away, half the number needed to clinch the winner's money for the second successive year, the Athletics feel certain they will end the battle in St. Louis, despite the efforts of their veteran leader to discourage any spirit of overconfidence.

2 of 3 Victories Would Satisfy A's.

The A's would like to make it four straight to celebrate the third clean sweep of National League forces in a four-year span and at the same time square accounts for the trouncing the old White Elephants absorbed at the hands of the Boston Braves in 1914. They will be satisfied, however, if they manage to take two out of the three contests scheduled here.

Mack has decided definitely not to attempt to win the series by relying solely on the two pitching aces who have beaten the Cardinals so far—Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw.

There was much speculation on the train today as to Mack coming back with Grove for the third game and Earnshaw in the fourth, but those closest in the veteran's counsel understood he had decided not to run the risk of sending Grove back to the mound after only two days of rest.

Mack Could Start Grove Sunday.

Under this plan of strategy, Mack will start Grove again on Sunday and nominate Earnshaw for Monday's game, if the series is still on.

The A's expect to face Wild Bill Hallahan in the third game. Hallahan has been Manager Gabby Street's selection right along and it is altogether possible that the speed-ball left-hander may be the man to turn the tide of Cardinal fortunes, at low ebb as they went away from Philadelphia last night. He has a world of fast stuff.

The world's champions have combed the offerings of two seasoned right-handers, Burleigh Grimes and Flint Rhem, with a long-range barrage that has been extremely effective. The A's made only twelve hits off these two flingers, but they made them count for eleven runs. Not a hit has been wasted by the heavy artillery, featuring Cochrane, Simmons, Foxx, Dykes and Miller. These sluggers were stopped cold in the second game by two relief men, Lind-

Workman Rides Dark Hero in Opener for 7th Win of Meet.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Oct. 3—The Melody, a mile-and-70-yard feature that attracted a crowd of 15,000 here today, saw Ral Parr's Her Grace, 3-year-old chestnut daughter of Bright Knight—Markiluna, step the distance in 1:44 4-5 to soundly thrash G. L. Stryker's Aziz and H. P. Whitney's Dustemall.

Karl Horvath had only to break Her Grace with the leaders and then take her in hand going around the clubhouse bend to bring her home in front.

Her Grace Well Engaged At Laurel.

Trainer Elmer Trueman has Her Grace well engaged in the various stakes to be run during the 23-day meeting, beginning Tuesday, at Laurel, and she is going to be hard to keep out of the money if she retains her present form.

Sonny Workman, of Washington, registered his seventh riding victory of the meeting when he drove H. Teller Archibald's Dark Hero home ahead of Back Gammon and Dunfern in the day's 6-furlong opener. Alert at the gate, Workman gave Dark Hero a vigorous hand-ride down the back lane, and when he turned for home he had a two-length lead over the field. Passing the eighth pole, Workman started easing up his mount, to be home an easy winner.

William Garth's Bonnie Bard, paying $8.50, led eleven other 2-year-olds over the 6 furlongs of the second. Well up with the pace throughout, E. Kennedy put up a rousing finish to have Bonnie Bard home ahead of Royal Rock and Korax. Fly Guy, the favorite, was fourth. W. P. Gaines claimed Bonnie Bard for $2,700 after the race.

The Sagamore Stable's Al Green ran 6 furlongs in the third in 1:13 to lead home Crystal Domino and Line Rider to net his followers $9.70. Johnny Bejshak kept Al Green right close to the early pace, but at the turn for home he let out a wrap to run into a long lead. At the end, he was going easily, while his opponents were driving, but could not close the gap he opened from the head of the lane to the pay-off line.

—Havre de Grace Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Oct. 3.—The fall season of racing at this track comes to an end tomorrow. The sport moves over to Laurel next Tuesday, when the Maryland State Fair, Inc., will begin its annual 23-day fall meeting. The Harford Agricultural and Breeders Association's valedictory feature tomorrow is the $20,000 added Havre de Grace Handicap. Nineteen have been named overnight to start and, should all go, a lot of crowding is likely to occur and the race may not be truly run.

Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Beau, winner of his last three starts, including a Toronto Autumn Cup, is at his best now. In fact, many are of the belief Sun Briar's son is better now than he was at the same time last year, when he beat Glen Wild, Bateau and other good ones in a Havre de Grace Handicap revival.

Sun Beau doesn't care to be messed about in a race and he's an awkward going horse. If nineteen go in the feature, the going is going to be tough for him. With clear sailing, it is our belief Sun Beau can lick any horse in the country going a route right now. QUESTIONNAIRE is one of the year's best 3-year-olds, and Trainer Andy Schuttinger says the son of Sting is sharper now than at any time this season. If the feature is truly run, SUN BEAU and QUESTIONNAIRE should be fighting it out for top honors through the last furlong of the mile and an eighth journey.

Joseph E. Widener's CURATE is nicely weighted, but he has had many chances under light weight in stakes and couldn't make good. He's been in the money many times. SPINACH has only to repeat his Potomac Handicap race to hold the others safe.

FIRST RACE—Cheap platers, all nonwinners at the meeting, will race a mile and a sixteenth in the first and second numbers. Anything can happen when such bad ones hook-up. There's always a chance of grabbing a long shot, however. COL. SETH raced fairly well over Maryland half-mile tracks. In Canada the past summer, COL. SETH could beat the kind he meets in the day's opener going any route.

SECOND RACE — CYRANO'S last two efforts have been good. Royal Charge was too much for him Thursday. He ran a good race, nevertheless. CORBEAU wound up third to Fire Opal and Daddy Nelson last Tuesday. He might have been closer had he not been ridden all over the track.

THIRD RACE—POLYDOR is coming back to the races after a brief rest. He's one of the fastest sprinters in the country when he's right. His recent good trials are evidence that he is fit. One hundred and fifteen pounds is a light package for him.

FOURTH RACE—Walter J. Salmon's LADDER will be asked to go a mile and 70 yar for the first time this year in the Long Meadows. He's the class of the field and he's bred to run all day. For this reason, we rate him the most probable winner of the day. HIBALA turned in a nice mile trial for the race. He received a good conditioner with good juveniles early in the meeting. JOLLY KING came from behind and beat Blind Bow Boy last Wednesday. It looked like a very good effort, but Blind Bow Boy was eased through the final 70 yards.

SIXTH RACE—NED O and WILLIAM T are entered in two races, the day's feature and the Virginian. Both are better suited in the latter contest. NED O has had bad luck his last two starts. He has only to run back to his winning effort of opening day, when he licked a good field of 3-year-olds to be the winner of the Virginian. WILLIAM T was back of Dr. Freeland and Golden Auburn Wednesday. That wasn't his race. IOLLAN had bad luck in his only race of the meeting. He looked very good that day.

SEVENTH RACE—RUBAN ROUGE and ROYAL CHARGE were both easy winners of their races. They both beat Cyrano four lengths. This brings them close together, but going a mile and a quarter we lean slightly to RUBAN ROUGE. ROYAL CHARGE is very fond of this track and he went in his best form Thursday. FRANCES COOPER has only to repeat the race she ran back of Wayfarer to hold the others safe.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DARK HERO, $3.60, $2.40, $2.30; BACKGAMMON, $2.80, $2.50; DUNFERN, $5.50.

DARK HERO, rushed to the front shortly after the break, was steadied along, saved a lot of ground and had enough left to withstand BACKGAMMON. Latter followed in nearest pursuit of the winner, was inclined to bear in toward the inside, and could not get to the front. DUNFERN went well placed, but was held perfectly safe. SWEET SENORITA was never able to menace the first three. SANDPLAY raced evenly. ROSE GRAND broke poorly and showed speed.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:52½. Winner, William Garth's ch. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—BONNIE BARD, $8.50, $4.80, $4.60; ROYAL ROCK, $17.70, $10.70; KORAX, $12.70.

BONNIE BARD left the barrier slowly and Kennedy permitted him to get settled in his stride before making an effort; moved up stoutly when called on rounding the far turn and finished full of courage. ROYAL ROCK, hustled along from the start, had a lot taken out of him making the pace and racing BRONCO into submission in early stages. Workman hugged the rail with KORAX entering home stretch, where he saved much ground. FLY GUY made a wide turn at top of home stretch and hung right at end.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:25. Winner, Sagamore Stable's b. g. (3), by Sweep On—Pola. Trained by J. H. Stotler. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:13.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—AL GREEN, $9.70, $5.70, $2.90; CRYSTAL DOMINO, $8.40, $4.80; LINE RIDER, $3.00.

AL GREEN moved up with a rush on inside in run to half-mile pole and carried LAMP BLACK along, racing the latter off his feet, drew away when straightened out in home stretch. CRYSTAL DOMINO dropped out of it first quarter, but closed with a rush next the inside rail in stretch run. LINE RIDER, a forward contender all the way. VACATION finished full of courage. DUNROCK was closing on inside when he was blocked at seventy-yard pole. TOKI and FLYER eased up when they tired.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:56½. Winner, Ral Parr's ch. f. (3), by Bright Knight—Markiluna. Trained by E. Trueman. Value to winner, $1,075; second, $250; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 3-5, 1:14, 1:40 2-5, 1:44 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HER GRACE, $3.90, $2.90, $2.10; AZIZ, $7.90, $2.70; DUSTEMALL, $2.30.

Horvath rated HER GRACE along under slight restraint and raced head and head with AZIZ until straightened out in the home stretch, where she went to the front and drew away without effort in last furlong. AZIZ raced at top speed from the start. She was on the inside of winner to the furlong pole. DUSTEMALL could never get up.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:25. Off at 4:26. Winner, J. P. Jones' b. or br. f. (4), by Crimper—King's Belle. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 1-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15 2-5, 1:42, 1:48 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—YOSAN, $10.80, $6.00, $3.80; STANDARD BEARER, $11.60, $5.50; VOWED VENGEANCE, $2.80.

YOSAN, rated along within striking distance of the leaders, gained swiftly when called on, took the lead with a rush when entering into the home stretch and, kept under pressure, drew into an easy lead. STANDARD BEARER finished resolutely, but could not menace the winner. VOWED VENGEANCE was used up racing with TEWSENELDA and tired. COTTAGE BOY hung after reaching contention. CUT STEEL closed a good gap. DON TINKY was held safe. TEWSENELDA quit.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:56. Off at 4:57. Winner, J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MY SCOOP, $9.20, $5.20, $4.40; FRANCES ST. L., $7.10, $5.20; LA GRANGE, $5.00.

MY SCOOP gradually improved his position rounding the far turn and came through next the inside rail entering home stretch. He closed with a good burst of speed last sixteenth and outgamed the tiring FRANCES ST. L. Latter, racing at top speed all the way forcing the pace, hung after disposing of LA GRANGE. The latter was hurried to the front, was rated along, but weakened when challenged. OLD KID, slow to begin, closed fast. PARTNERSHIP had speed in spots.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won ridden out; place, driving. Went to post at 5:25. Off at 5:29½. Winner, Sagamore Stable's ch. g. (4), by Golden Guinea—May Lilly. Trained by J. H. Stotler. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:15 3-5, 1:42 3-5, 1:54.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—COIN COLLECTOR, $7.60, $4.90, $3.40; BLAZING CINCH, $7.90, $5.50; YANKEE DOODLE, $11.20.

COIN COLLECTOR went to the front soon after the break and opened up an easy lead rounding the turn into the back stretch. Bejshak had him in hand until final furlong and was doing his best at end to stall off BLAZING CINCH'S determined challenge. Latter saved ground all the way, but could never get to leader. YANKEE DOODLE hugged the rail entire trip. ORMONBIRD went wide at all of the turns and finished out in the middle of the track. FAIR BILL showed a flash of early speed and was eased up when he tired.

D.C. Gridmen Outweighed, Outplayed

Virginia Touchdowns Scored in First and Third Periods.

Mortimer, Eaton Star Behind Powerful W.-L. Line.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

WASHINGTON - LEE HIGH'S heavy young football team plunged through Eastern High's lighter forces yesterday at Eastern's field by a 12-0 margin. Two thousand far from taciturn students filled the stands. The Balstoners' band entertained with many renditions of the Washington and Lee swing.

Capt. Stan Mortimer, who showed an intriguing mixture of clever signal calling, line battering and around-the-end sprinting, drove his Virginians to the limit throughout the entire fray, rarely faltering in the constant attack on Eastern's not so impenetrable frontal barriers. Mortimer improved even as the game progressed. Toward the end he was frequently seen rising over the assorted backs of both enemy and confrere.

Little Generals Off to Early Start.

Washington-Lee wasted little time in scoring on the Lincoln Parkers. Eaton kicked off well into Eastern's territory and the Northeast lads found themselves commencing operations on their own 10-yard line. Wells called for a kick after two unfruitful plunges at the Virginians' steadfast line. Eastern's line gave badly and Taylor's boot was blocked by Chase, who recovered the ball on Eastern's 3-yard line. Eastern held valiantly twice, but Bill Eaton was not to be denied on the third attempt through center. He missed the placement try.

Both Eastern and Washington-Lee fumbled badly for the remainder of this quarter and well through the second. But while Eastern's line showed sagging tendencies, the Balston crew was held scoreless.

Mortimer and Eaton, alternating on gaining Eastern territory in line plunges, carried the ball down the field after indecisive midfield skirmishes had marked the start of the third quarter. Mortimer broke away for one open field run of 25 yards that planted the oval on Eastern's 15-yard line. Eastern was here penalized 5 yards for Davis' offside. Mortimer, in the background of a clever shift, ran the ball around right end for the touchdown. Goodwin failed in an attempted pass to Chase.

Eastern's Line Bolsters In Final Period.

Eastern's line improved noticeably in the last period. Wells, Wade and Corridon gained slightly and were able to get away for some fairly telling runs. While they were faced with a better brand of ball carrying than the Virginians had displayed in the opening periods the light front line defense of the Lincoln Parkers held staunchly until the final whistle.

South American Zone Draws Five Cup Teams

Paris, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Five nations have entered the newly organized South American Zone of Davis Cup tennis competition, Paraguay, Argentine, Uruguay, Brazil and Chile.

The draw for the new zone was made today and resulted as follows: First round—Paraguay vs Argentine, winner meeting Uruguay in second round. Third round—Brazil vs Chile, winner to meet survivor of competition among Paraguay, Argentine and Uruguay. The zone champion will meet the survivor of play in the North American Zone.

ALEXANDRIA SPORTS

ALEXANDRIA, Oct. 3.—Episcopal High school gridders, of this city, and Technical High eleven, of Washington, will clash in their annual football tussle on Hoxton's field near here Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The game is expected to attract a large crowd.

Charlie Hooff, Alexandria boy, is playing right end for the Episcopalians. He is one of the mainstays of the team and did exceptionally good work in the Eastern High game, which was won 20-0 by Episcopal. Captain Mitchell, who was kept under cover in the initial contest, is expected to start against "Tech." He is a plunging full back and is good for several yards whenever he carried the leather.

The Virginia Athletic club will hold an important signal drill Sunday morning at the shipyard field in preparation for the Apaches battle in the afternoon. All players are urged to be present by coach "Buck" Beach.

The Central Athletic Club was organized last night at a meeting held at the home of Broaddus Carver in Braddock. They will place a basket ball team on the floor this season. Dick Perry, former Del Ray Athletic Club star, was elected as coach, while B. Carver was named manager.

Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the St. Mary's Celtics will hold an important baseball practice to make ready for the title ball game with Northerns, independent champions of Washington. All players are asked to report to Coach Langford at this time.

The St. Mary's Lyceum Basket Ball Team held an important meeting at Lyceum Hall last night. Jake Preston, coach of the team, presided and outlined plans for the season. Bob Vogt is manager of the S. M. L. Five.

Dixie Pigs Aiming to Tie Capital City League Race

Takoma Tiger Nine Can Clinch Honors by Victory in Intercounty Clash at Mount Rainier Tomorrow.

INTERCOUNTY sandlot baseball rivalry, which has flared on several occasions this season hereabouts, will reach its climax tomorrow when the Takoma Tigers, champions of Montgomery County, tackle the Dixie Pigs, champions of Prince Georges County in an all-important battle in the play-off series for the Capital City League championship and The Washington Post's gold baseballs, emblematic of the honors.

With the Anacostia Eagles, District Section champions, and the Bauserman Motor Co., winner of the Virginia group, eliminated by virtue of two defeats, the Takoma Tigers can clinch the major sandlot title today with a victory over the Pigs.

That result would give the Tigers a clean record in the play-off. On the other hand, should the Prince Georges club come through with a victory another game a week from tomorrow would be necessary, with the championship going to the winner of that fray.

Both clubs are primed for the battle and each has at least two outstanding sandlot pitchers ready to march into the box at Mount Rainier, where the struggle will be staged, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

The Tigers will use either Ray Davidson or Dick Hughes. Both of these hurlers have series victories to their credit. The Dixie Pigs can counter with Blackie Adair and Babe Clapper.

Gledhill Upsets Dope In Coast Net Tourney

Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 3. (A.P.)—Young Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, staged the biggest upset of the Pacific Coast tennis championship here today by eliminating Edward G. Chandler, of San Francisco, State Champion, 2-6, 6-3, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4 in a semifinal match.

In the womens division Mrs. Helen Wills Moody swept into the final round by eliminating Edith Cross, San Francisco Whightman cup player, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. L. A. Harper, of San Francisco and Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, star won two matches in the mixed doubles event. They defeated Miss Patsy McCoy and Neil Brown, both of San Francisco 6-4, 6-3 in a third round match and then eliminated Marjorie Gladman, of Los Angeles and John Van Ryn, Orange, N. J., 6-2, 8-6 in a quarter final battle.

In another third round doubles match Dorothy Weisel, Sacramento, and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, defeated Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stratford, San Francisco, 8-6, 6-2.

Brown and Huat Fight For Bantam Title

Paris, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Al Brown, the "Panama Ghost," and Gene Huat of France, meet tomorrow night in a 12-round bout, described here as a "Battle for the bantamweight championship of the world."

Brown is recognized as the present champion by the majority of the American boxing commissions and other fistic bodies. Both men have agreed to weigh in at 118 pounds.

C. U. Coach Selects Grid Winners Today

Yale to beat Maryland, Rutgers to down George Washington, Southern California to conquer Oregon State and Vanderbilt to subdue Minnesota are some of the predictions on today's football games made by Arthur "Dutch" Bergman, head coach of Catholic University. Bergman's list of selections is printed below, the first named team in each game being picked to win:

BAUSERMEN VS. QUICKSTEPS

The Bauserman Motor Nine will meet the Green Valley Quicksteps tomorrow on the Arlington diamond at 1:30 o'clock. Lem Owens and George McQuinn have been added to the motormen's roster.

This is the third game of a three-game series. The Bausermen took the first game, 5-4, while the Quicksteps captured the second, 4-1.

HARRISONBURG HIGH WINS.

Harrisonburg, Va., Oct. 3.—Harrisonburg High Blue Streaks ran wild against the Green Waynesboro High Eleven here this afternoon in scoring a 52 to 0 win. The local second team played the first quarter. Capt. Charles Weaver twice ran 50 yards for touchdowns, while Riley and Dundore also contributed long runs. Capt Day was the Waynesboro star.

Clemson Eleven Wins From Citadel, 13-7

Florence, S. C., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Clemson College, with the aid of a fumbled punt and a batted pass that landed squarely in the arms of Woodruff, Tiger end, today managed to win a 13-to-7 victory over Citadel at the Pee Dee Fair Grounds.

The blue clad team from Charleston, doped to give Clemson only a good workout, put up such a determined fight that Josh Cody's men were considered fortunate to add another mark to their win column.

Capt. Ed Wilson, whose toe kept the Tigers at bay time and again, with kicks good for 60 yards, fumbled Welch's punt on his own 30-yard line in the first period and paved the way for Capt. Justus to score when the Tigers recovered the ball. Welch kicked the point. A Clemson pass that a Citadel player batted in an effort to ground, fell in the arms of Woodruff who carried it to the 8-yard line. Harvin bucked center for the touchdown. This was in the last quarter.

Citadel's score came in the third quarter on a pass from Wilson to Carlisle. Wilson kicked the point.

Italian Tennis Team Lead Germans, 6-5

Florence, Italy, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Capturing two of the three matches completed today, Germany's tennis team trailed Italy tonight by only one match in the international series between the two nations. Italy held a lead of six matches to 5.

De Stefani recorded Italy's only triumph today, beating Kuhlmann, 7—5, 6—1, 2—6, 8—6. Bush, to Germany defeated Del Bono, 1—6, 6—3, 6—1, 6—4 and Hourney defeated De Minerbi, of Italy, 6—4, 7—5, 7—5. The French-Sortlo match was interrupted by darkness.

Sweeney and De Labre Signed by Mohawks

Joe Sweeney, half back, and "Snail" de Labre, full back, of the 1929 Apache Eleven, District independent football champions, will be seen in uniforms of the Mohawks, their erstwhile deadliest rivals, when the Indians and the Lansdowne A. C., of Baltimore, take the field Sunday afternoon in Griffith Stadium in the opening of the independent season. This announcement was made last night by Patsy Donovan, Mohawk business manager.

APACHES AND HAWKS IN DEBUTS

Lansdowne to Invade Stadium; Champions at Alexandria.

WASHINGTON'S big time sandlot football teams, face their first tests of the season tomorrow. The Mohawks, with their season's objective the scalping of the Apaches, District champions, will open their season at Griffith stadium, meeting the Lansdowne eleven from Baltimore.

The Apaches, who will alternate with the Mohawks at Griffith stadium this season, will be making their 1930 debut in Alexandria, marking the first time that Manager Seymour Hall has taken his club to the Virginia City. The Apaches will tackle the Virginia A. C. Eleven on the Ship Yard Field.

The Mohawks will be meeting a strong club in Lansdowne, which is coached by Nate Weinstock, former Western Maryland star. The Baltimoreans already have a victory under their belt, having defeated the Hampden Club last Sunday.

Mohawks Add Star Players.

Manager Patsy Donovan of the Hawks has added a number of sandlot and college stars, including Lombardi and Wondrack, of Maryland, and Connelly, of St. Vincent's. He also has Hooley Gass and Delaney, stars of last year's Northern A. C. Team, and Pepco Barry, from the St. Mary's Celtics. Among the holdovers are Colliere, Howard, Eddinger, Dewey, Browning and Cox.

The club will be coached by Eddie Abbie, former Mount St. Mary's star, who has played brilliant ball for the Hawks for several seasons.

Leesburg, Warrenton Battle to 6-All Tie

Special to The Washington Post.

Warrenton, Va., Oct. 3.—Warrenton High and Leesburg High ushered in their 1930 season today on the former's grounds with a 6 to 6 tie. Leesburg scored first, carrying the ball the length of the field, mostly on off-tackle plays, with Lintner finally going over for the touchdown.

Warrenton evened matters shortly afterward. Two passes put the ball within scoring distance and Kirby, diminutive red-haired half for Warrenton, went over in two line plays. Both teams elected to try for the extra point via the kicking route, but failed.

The last quarter was played most in Warrenton's territory, but in a last-minute stand they took the ball on down just before the final whistle.

Little Generals Tie W.-M. Freshmen, 0-0

Lexington, Va., Oct. 3.—Two good teams clashed on Wilson Field this afternoon and played to a scoreless tie as the Washington and Lee and William and Mary freshmen opened their 1930 season.

It was a good exhibition of football, as both elevens exhibited a natural defensive that did not give easily. The better football was played by both lines, as there was not a backfield man on both teams that came up to the play of the two forward walls.

Navy Grdimen Ready For William and Mary

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Navy finished its preparations for the initial game of its season today, Coach Bill Ingram putting his men through a signal drill on formations before meeting William and Mary tomorrow. The Virginians, who last year gave the Middies a tough struggle, arrived today and went through a workout on Farragut Field.

EAGLES' NINE IN INTERCITY CONTEST

Pittsburgh Champs in Fray Tomorrow at Heights.

DISTRICT fans will be given the opportunity tomorrow of comparing sandlot baseball as played in Pittsburgh and Washington, when the Edgewood Club, champions of the Smoky City, meet the Anacostia Eagles, District champions of the Capital City League, in an intercity battle on the Congress Heights diamond, starting at 2:30 o'clock.

The invaders, who survived an interleague play-off of more than 50 teams, are being given the trip to Washington as a reward for their triumphs by the Pittsburgh Press.

While it had been the hope of the Edgewoods to play the winners of the Capital City League play-off, they chose the Eagles as their opponents when it was found that the Dixie Pigs and Takoma Tigers could not settle their diamond feud by this Sunday.

Eagles Backed By Fans.

The Eagles, backed by Congress Heights and Anacostia fans, are anxious to climax their brilliant season with a victory over the Pittsburgh champions.

Jimmy Goodwyn probably will do the hurling for the Eagles. The Edgewoods have sent word that they will use "Circus" Barnum, their star pitcher, who bats in the clean-up position for the club.

St. John's Eleven Off For V. M. I. Contest

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Oct. 3.—Keyed up by their victory over Franklin and Marshall College last Saturday, the gridders of St. John's College left Annapolis today for Lexington, Va., where tomorrow they will face old rivals of Virginia Military Institute. The Johnnies hold only hopes of making a creditable showing, as V. M. I. has practically the same team that romped through every Virginia opponent last year and had one of the highest scoring combinations in the entire South.

However, St. John's showed real form last week in trimming Franklin and Marshall, and the same line-up will face the Virginians with the probable exception of Walter Dulin, who was badly battered in that game. The probable line-up is: Willis Lynch, quarter back; Bob Lynch, full back; Armacost, half back; Casassa or MacArtee, half back; ends, Carpenter and Ziegler; tackles, Joh and Lotz; guards, Parks and Bruno or Bean; center, Noblett.

Charlottesville High Is Tied by Culpeper

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 3.—Today's game between the Charlottesville and Culpeper High School elevens resulted in a 6-to-6 tie. The visitors led until the final quarter, when Hahn, son of Archie Hahn, Virginia track coach, shot a pass to Jones, who raced 60 yards for a touchdown. Quantico Team Wins Over Langley Field

Special to The Washington Post.

Quantico, Va., Oct. 3.—The Quantico Marines nosed out the Langley Field Eleven here today, 7 to 0, in a game that was hotly contested from start to finish. Maj. Gen. Smedley Butler was among the 3,000 fans that lined the Quantico field.

Quantico's winning tally came in the third period after Dailey had taken the ball down the field in line plunges and finally through center for the touchdown.

Devitt Prep Eleven Holds C. U. Freshmen to 0-0 Tie

Both Teams Show Tight Defense But Only Mediocre Attack; But Three Scoring Threats Mark Game.

SHOWING midseason defensive work but only mediocre efforts on offensive, the Devitt Prep and Catholic University Freshmen Elevens battled to a scoreless tie yesterday in the opening game for both teams in the Brookland Stadium.

The Cardinal yearlings twice advanced to the shadows of the Prepmen's goal line, while Devitt threatened the Freshmen's goal once. The threat of Devitt, however, did not materialize until the last minute of play, when Rose, end, intercepted a pass thrown by Charley McVean, C. U. quarter back, formerly a mainstay for Gonzaga High School, and struggled through a mass of tacklers to the 15-yard line. The Freshmen stiffened their defense here, however, and yielded no ground before the concluding whistle sounded.

Cronin Consistent Gainer For Devitt.

Devitt outrushed the Freshmen in the first half, with Full Back Cronin, a triple-threater, making most of his team's gains. The first downs in this half were five for Devitt and one for the Freshmen.

With an improvement in line play, the Freshmen carried the battle to their opponents almost throughout the second half, only once falling back into their own territory, as previously mentioned.

Johnny Jancowski, 175-pound full back hailing from Worcester, Mass., proved the star of the yearlings' second half attack. He was ably supported by Lauer, half back, and McVean. Early in the third quarter the Freshmen staged a drive that carried to the Devitt 3-yard mark before crumbling on a vicious Devitt line.

The second Freshmen march occurred early in the fourth quarter, Devitt retreating before the onslaughts of Jancowski to its 15-yard line, where a fumble by Lauer was recovered by Tangora to pull the Prepmen out of danger.

Jem, Choice, Takes Hawthorne's Feature

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Mrs. E. Denemark's consistent 4-year-old colt, Jem, easily accounted for the Canyon Purse, the attraction at Hawthorne track today. Mrs. R. Pollard's Ladrone was second and F. M. Grabner's Tyrol was third.

The event was an allowance affair for 3-year-olds and upward over the mile and 70 yards distance and carried a net value of $950 to the winner. The journey was covered in 1:45 2-5, over a track classed as good, and the winner, a heavily played favorite, paid $4.62 to $2 in the mutuels.

Jem, cleverly ridden by J. M. Jones, was rated behind Best Man to the turn into the stretch, where he was given his head and drew out to win by five lengths Ladrone trailed along in fourth place to the stretch, where he came strongly to take the place by seven lengths from Tyrol. The latter ran evenly throughout to beat Best Man four lengths for third money.

A peculiar accident which marred the hopes of Blushing Maiden occurred after the horses had entered the back stretch. Jockey Depeso, who had the mount on Blushing Maiden, who was running prominently at the time, was struck by a clod of mud and partially blinded. He was forced because of the pain he suffered to cancel his engagement to ride Fern P in the last number, and the mare was then withdrawn.

NEWMARKET RACE TO CAROLA.

Newmarket, England, Oct. 3 (A.P.). Mrs. Corlette Glorney's Carola, at odds of 10 to 1, won the Rous Memorial Stakes, valued at £300 sterling (about $1,500) with extras, today by half a length from Lord Woolavington's Balance, Mrs. Beers' Twelfthnight and eight others. The distance was 5 furlongs.

National Training Boys Defeat Alexandria High

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Va., Oct. 3.—The National Training School's Crandall-trained eleven pulled a major surprise today when it swamped the Alexanderia High School gridders 19-0 at Baggett's Stadium. About 1,200 attended.

Let by Captain Kiski the alleged incorrigibles played a flawless brand of football that carried the Virginians before them. Lewis and Ross of the Winners also put up a sterling game.

Only once did the losers threaten to score. Jannier and Travers figured in two ground-gaining aerial monoeveurs which placed the oval on the Instutution's 15-yard line, but a fumble by Bruin, which was recovered by Merryman, dissipated the Virginians' hope of scoring.

Singer Fights Mack In Chicago on Oct. 14

Chicago, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Al Singer, new lightweight champion of the world, will battle Eddie Mack, the Denver boxer-lawyer, in his first Chicago appearance in the stadium October 14.

On the same card King Levinsky, who surprised every one, including himself, by knocking out Leo Lomski last month, will meet Tom Kirby, Boston heavyweight.

DUKE IS HOST TO VIRGINIA TODAY

Defense Only Angle Worrying Coaches of Cavaliers.

Special to Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Oct. 3.—Virginia's varsity football squad left at noon today for the first game of the season away from home. It plays Duke tomorrow afternoon in Durham. Including players, coaches and managers, 36 are making the trip.

The Cavaliers had to do without practice today, but were given a blackboard drill tonight after reaching Durham. Because they had only four days this week to drill on Lambeth Field, they have been training intensively while they were at it.

Defense against Duke plays has been stressed during the last three afternoons. The scrub squad, drilled in Blue Devil tactics, has been pitted against the varsity A and B teams.

Defense Worrying Virginia Coaches.

It is the defense rather than the attack that has been causing the coaches worry as Virginia goes into her first Southern Conference contest. In the two opening games the gridiron tutors figured that a good offense would be the best sort of defense. That policy brought results against Roanoke College and Randolph-Macon, but it hardly will be enough against Duke, Pennsylvania and the teams that follow.

Virginia has been preparing a check for speed in the opposing backfield. Duke has been reworking its offense and up on Franklin Field backs are being given equipment lightened by eight or nine pounds in order not to cut down their speed.

But at the same time the Cavaliers have not been lightening up on preparations to display a colorful attack in the new Duke stadium. Thomas, Bryant, Sippley, Beury, Sackett, Gravatt, Pinder and the other backfield candidates have been put through their paces often enough for the coaches to be sure that they will be on their toes against the Blue Devils.

Churchill Downs Races Start Today

The principal event on the opening day will be the South Louisville Handicap, $1,500 added, for 3-year-olds and upward. Hal Price Headley's Pigeon Hole and the Audley Farm's Easter Stockings are favorites around the seven entries. Seven races will be run daily.

The meet will end October 16 with the Kentucky Jockey Club Stakes in which Equipoise, Botafabo and other star 2-year-olds are expected to compete.

MACKS HOPE TO SWEEP SERIES

Veteran Manager May Cross Dope on Pitchers.

sey and Johnson, but not until after the damage had been done.

The A's have no fear of Hallahan, least of all their truculent backstop, Cochrane, who has been a special target of Cardinal "jockeying," and so far been "dusted off" at the plate by both Grimes and Rhem.

"Let 'em keep trying that 'snoozle ball' on me," remarked Cochrane, "and I'll belt a few more out of the park." Mickey has hit a homer in each game so far in setting the pace for the sluggers.

First St. Louis Appearance.

This is the first world's series appearance of the A's in St Louis, but they will be on familiar ground at Sportsmen's Park, where they play their regular season games. The field has been a happy hunting ground for American leaguers in previous world's series battles. The Yankees, in their first two visits, won two out of three here in 1926 and two straight in 1928.

The Cardinals made a great recovery to win the last National League victory in 1926, and they hope to stage another comeback, even though the odds are all against them. They must take four out of five games to capture the series. In 28 years only two other teams have done so, the Boston Red Sox of 1903 and the New York Giants of 1921, both doing so, however, in an eight-game series.

NOTRE DAME OPENS GRID SEASON TODAY

Illinois entertains Iowa State, the Wolverines of Michigan get a chance to show their mettle against Michigan State, and Iowa plays host to Oklahoma A. & M. in some of the other games involving leading teams.

Nebraska and Missouri, figured as two of the best in the Missouri Valley, are arrayed against Texas A. & M. and Colorado University, respectively, in intersectional games.

The quality of the opposition for the big fellows rises also on the Pacific Coast, where Southern California plays the dangerous Oregon State combination. California meets Washington State, and Stanford takes on Santa Clara.

Half a dozen Southern Conference games are in order, while in the East most of the outstanding teams are dallying with practice opponents.

Harvard, for example, has booked a doubleheader with Vermont and the United States Coast Guard Academy fearing that the Green Mountain boys alone would not give them sufficient oposition. Princeton, however, is not at all certain of beating little Amherst.

The Army and Navy both meet southern antagonists the Cadets playing Furman and the Middies making their debut against William and Mary.

SAYS PEGLER

to mistakes because none of us are perfect. Besides, baseball is only a game, after all, and not a matter of life and death, although sometimes it is a mighty serious thing when you are giving your all in order not to throw down your fans and all the others who have been pulling for you through thick and thin during the scramble for titular honors of your own league, respectively. Anyhow, why cry over spilt milk? Now, I want to take occasion to say a few words of praise about the fine team of boys who are grappling with my fellows for world series fame and glory.

Remember the Old Trainer.

Also, let me tell you about the men on my ball club who are not known to the general public at all, and by this I mean old "Doc," our club trainer, and old Phil, our faithful box-office man and traveling secretary, who has slaved and toiled like a trojan throughout the long, hard grind, and that without recognition from the public. It is men like these who go to the making up of the backbone of a perfect machine, and I mean any machine, whether it is a baseball organization, devoted to sport, or a commercial concern, out to make money. The pitching prospects for tomorrow are rather a problem. I have been giving this a great deal of thought practically ever since I got on the train because I am in this position now: If I send in a port-sider, they might come back at me with a right-handed batting order, which would be more effective against a left-handed flinger. On the other hand, a right-handed slab artist might find himself up against an array of southpaw hitters. I don't think I need to go any further in telling you how serious this problem is, particularly at this stage of the series, with everything depending on the outcome of the games.

The Good Old Days Of 1893.

I will never forget when I was a young man and I saw the series of 1893 between the old Atlantics and the Pacifics on the old Highland grounds. There was a "great crowd" for those days. The stands were packed. The Atlantics sent out a left-hander and a great hush went through the stands. The fans knew their baseball in those days, and from somewhere off behind third base a well-known sporting character of the time known as "Jeem the Bummer" yelled out suddenly, "Say, manager, it's 23, skidoo for you." The repartee was rough and ready in those days, but the parks were smaller and the fans felt more intimate with the players. I needn't go into the result of that series.

Volumes have been written about it and history will have to give the verdict. So, in making their pitching selections, a manager has to be very careful not to make the wrong choice at the wrong time. The old saying goes, that the best laid plans of mice and men do not always turn out as you think, and that applies to baseball with a vengeance. Fans, you do not see all the problems that a manager has to contend with, just by seeing the players out there on the old ball ground, in the heat of battle. It is when the manager is doping out his strategy and pitching selections, racking their brains to the very bone, before the game, that the hard part comes. But I love the old game in spite of everything for it has been good to me and I am proud to be associated with it, however humbly.

Columbia Title Golfers Reach Semifinal Round

Frizzell, Frost, Albert Mackenzie, Porter and Asher Beaten in Upsets; Mrs. Angwin Winner in "Service" Club Tourney.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE shades of night were falling fast when the last pair in the six divisions which participated yesterday in the annual club championship of the Columbia Club came up the eighteenth fairway. When all the scores had been turned in, the quartet of players who will compete in the semifinal round this morning in the championship flight are Thomas P. Bones, jr., against Commander C. B. Hatch, U. S. N., in the upper bracket, and Commander A. H. Douglas, U. S. N., vs. Everett Eynon in the lower half.

The upsets in the two matches played yesterday, were the defeat of Paul J. Frizell and Norman B. Frost, who tied in the qualification round with scores of 76, and the elimination of Albert R. Mackenzie, Austin M. Porter and Clyde B. Asher, all of whom were expected to survive.

Douglas Sinks 40-Footer To Beat Mackenzie.

The closest match in the championship flight was between Mackenzie and Douglas, both of whom were all even on the eighteenth tee, but Douglas won when he ran down a 40-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the final green.

In view of the fact that all contestants in this tournament met players in their own divisions, it was not surprising that five of the matches went to the nineteenth hole and that two were extended to the twentieth hole. In the 20-hole match between E. L. Bono and John E. Powell, jr., the latter was 4 down and 4 to play but won four holes in succession, only to lose on the decisive hole when he took three putts. Many of the other matches were closely contested, as, for instance, the contest between John P. Holzberg and Herbert T. Shannon in the second sixteen, when Holzberg was 2 down and 3 to play and won the last three holes in succession; the match between E. W. Gableman and J. H. Batt in the second round of the fifth sixteen which Gableman lost by 1 up, having knocked his opponent's ball into the cup for a win, and the match which was won by E. D. Krewson in the fifth sixteen against C. L. Conradt, when he putted his ball into the cup from off the green. No less than nineteen matches were decided on the final green. The summary:

FIRST DIVISION.

First round—Martin R. West defeated E. L. Bono, 3 and 2; Thomas P. Bones, jr., defeated John E. Powell, jr., 3 and 2; Clyde B. Asher defeated W. Carlton Evans, 2 up; Commander C. B. Bells, 4 and 3; R. A. Shepard defeated E. D. Krewson, 2 up; J. A. Selby defeated C. L. Conradt, 4 and 3; G. C. Hammond defeated Thomas W. Brahany, 2 and 1; J. W. Murphy defeated C. B. Pierce, 2 and 1.

Second round—Batt defeated Gableman, 1 up; Rogers defeated Kemon, 1 up; Shepard defeated Selby, 3 and 2; Murphy defeated Hammond, 1 up, 19 holes.

Consolation—Dulin defeated Hartz, 4 and 3; Bell defeated Baltz, 5 and 4; E. D. Krewson defeated Conradt, 1 up; Pierce defeated Brahany, 1 up.

SIXTH DIVISION.
(Handicap 24.)

First round—Harry T. Peters defeated Charles Boteler, 3 and 1; Thomas Shipp defeated B. P. Holzberg, 1 up; E. B. DeGraw defeated Dr. Ernst, 1 up; Chris Heurich, jr., defeated A. Telford, by default; J. C. Whiteside defetaed G. R. Shields, by default; G. W. McClellan defeated Grant Lett by default; Frank Govern defeated Newman Little, 5 and 4; R. W. Burklin defeated bye.

Second round—Shipp defeated Peters, 1 up; DeGraw defeated Heurich, 1 up, 19 holes; Whiteside defeated McClellan, 1 up; Govern defeated Burklin, 4 and 3.

In order to give contestants an opportunity to play through this afternoon, the golf committee has provided prizes for 48 out of the 96 players, so that the defeated four in the upper flight of each sixteen will compete this afternoon, and the contests will go through the defeated eights into the defeated fours and the defeated twos. The prizes will be presented at the conclusion of the rounds at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The weekly tournament of the women players at the Army, Navy and Marine Corps Club, 18 holes, medal play, handicap allowance, yesterday afternoon, resulted in a victory for Mrs. W. A. Angwin with a card of 51—10—41. Mrs. W. H. Hale, with 52—10—42, was runner-up. There was a quintuple tie for third place between Mrs. Paul Ransom, 51—8—43; Mrs. Lewis Coxe, 52—9—43; Mrs. L. F. Frazier, 54—11—43; Mrs. John Lynch, 60—17—43, and Mrs. A. E. Howard, 54—11—43. In the draw for the prize Mrs. Ransom won. The prizes in the women's tournament were presented yesterday at a luncheon at which Mrs. Berkley Merchant, chairman of the women's golf committee, presided, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Angwin, Mrs. Lewis Coxe, Mrs. R. R. Glass and Mrs. Robert Phinney, members of the golf committee. The future weekly women's tournaments at this club will be held on Friday until November.

SERIES FOES IN 3D FRAY TODAY

row was given when the slim sachem of the Philadelphia dugout turned to the wry necked left-hander for warm-up duty when it seemed that Earnshaw was in difficulties in the last innings of Thursday's game. But Mack's penchant for crossing the dope is too well known to preclude the possibility of him sending "Lefty" Grove back into action tomorrow, or pinning his faith on either of the two youngsters, Shores or Mahaffey. The Philadelphia pitcher who faces the Cardinals will be rid of the ominous specter of facing a lambasting larruping Cardinal team that carried a team average of .321 into the world series. Grove and Earnshaw in the first two games apparently tore the ferocious mask from the batting prowess of the St. Louis players, and it is to utter futility of Jim Bottomley, Chick Hafey and Taylor Douthit to hit Philadelphia pitching that St. Louis supporters can point as the reason in a great measure for the collapse of the house of Cards.

Frisch Alone Hits Well.

Frankie Frisch alone of the highly touted Cardinal hitters, and he always a great world series batter, has carried his punch into the championship games. No more eloquent testimony to the weakness of the Cardinal sluggers is needed than the composite box score of the first two games, which shows no hits for Bottomley in eight times at bat, none for Douthit in seven and one for Hafey in eight, for a grand total of one hit in 24 appearances of these three sluggers, and an average of .041.

And the opportunities that were presented to all three to produce even a single with men on bases might well have swerved the tide of victory to the Cardinals in both games.

On the inevitable other hand, the heavy hitters of the Athletics' line-up have come through nobly, and even their supporting cast has been far from a loadstone about the necks of the team's pitchers.

Grimes, who started the first game, and Rhem, who started the second, were quickly initiated into the ways of Simmons, Cochrane and Foxx with a bat. The larruping triplets pierced the pitching that baffled National League pennant contenders in the same manner that they battered down all opposition in their own league with the extra-base hit put to noble use. It is a last-ditch stand that the Cardinals will make in their home bulliwick. They must win at least two of the three games played here to force a return of the series to Philadelphia for the sixth and possibly the seventh games. Two victories for Philadelphia in St. Louis will bring the series to an abrupt halt. And that is the prospect tonight.

NAVY LOOKS FOR HARD GAME

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 3.—With the football team of William and Mary College, of Williamsburg, Va., already on the scene, and indications of a crisp early autumn temperature prevailing, the stage is all set for the inauguration of the football season in Annapolis tomorrow. The Indians will clash with the Navy varsity eleven at 2:30 o'clock, and as a prelude to the contest between the Navy Plebes and the Kiski Preps.

William and Mary has benefited from one test, that with Guilford College last Saturday, which game it won impressively, 24 to 0. Navy's only opposition thus far has been furnished by the squad B shock troops and Plebes outfits.

Both Teams Eager For Fracas.

Both the Tars and Indians are eager for the fracas, with the visitors confident of at least holding the score down to a low margin. They have practically a veteran group, while the Navy machine has undergone considerable rebuilding, because of losses suffered by graduation last June.

Last year the Indians held the Middies to a score of 15 to 0. The visitors probably will be without the service of their back field ace, Scott, but local fans vividly recalled the stellar performances of Maxey, Badlacci and others in the Virginians back field.

The Indians headed by their coach, "Billy" Gooch, former University of Virginia star, arrived in town this forenoon and went through an extensive formation and signal drill on Farragut Field in the afternoon. The Middies had a similar program for their final tapering off. Navy coaches are not looking upon the visitors as a set-up by any means. Bill Ingram, in fact, plans to throw his strongest troops into the breach at the outset.

Indians Using Notre Dame Style of Play.

One of the features of the game will be that William and Mary will, to a large extent, flash Notre Dame's style of play, both offensively and defensively. They have adopted Rockne's system, and using it against the Middies should prove of material advantage in view of the fact that the Tars will face the Ramblers at South Bend next Saturday.

WOLVERINES VS. ALCOVA.

In preparation for their game tomorrow against the Alcova Motor Co.'s gridmen the Wolverines will practice tonight under the direction of Coach Rice. Sunday's game will be played on the Arlington gridiron at 2:30.

AZTECS SCHEDULING.

STENOGS 32-6 VICTIMS OF SWAVELY

Kengla Takes Pass, Runs 35 Yards for Business Tally.

Special to The Washington Post.

MANASSAS, VA., Oct. 3.—Business High School, outweighed and outplayed by the Swavely School Football Team, went down to defeat here today by a score of 32 to 6. The game was the first on the Swavely schedule and was full of spectacular plays made mostly by the local eleven.

Business played a plucky game and fought to the finish and in the last minute scored its lone touchdown on a beatifully worked pass play with Duryee hurling the oval and Kengla receiving and going over after a 35-yard run.

Swavely's Line Makes Big Holes.

Swavely's line opened hole after hole and its backfield went through for one long gain after another.

Kengla, Duryee, Levy and Strasser wer outsanding for Business High, while McDevitt, the Carey brothers, Noble, and Carr starred for Sawvely.

Virginia Poly Eleven Plays Tarheels Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va. Oct. 3.—Elevens of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and University of North Carolina wound up their training tactics here this afternoon and rest tonight near Miles Stadium, where tomorrow the Techmen will make their bid to turn back Carolina's aspirants to the Dixie gridiron title and keep unmarred the winning traditions of the home battleground.

The Tarheels of Coach Chuck Collins arrived by bus late this afternoon and went through a brief drill to take out travel kinks. Orville Neal, now head coach of the Gobblers, tuned his attack and fashioned his defense with the hope of halting the scoring drives of Johnnny Branch and other fleet engineers of Tarheel touchdowns.

V. P. I.'s probable line-up will be Al Seamon and Johnny McIntire, ends; Buckner Green and Jim Swart, tackles; Gene Hite and Harry Stark, guards; Gene Brown, center; Capt. Bird Hooper, quarter back; Phil Spear and Sam Hardwick, half backs; Mit Owens, full back. If the first set of backs falters before the powerful Carolinians, Coach Neale has another set composed of Bus Hall, Cushman Haggerty, Bunt Ottley and Frank Howard, ready for the fray.

Coste in St. Louis Five Hours Late

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 3. (A.P.)—The French transatlantic fliers, Maj. Dieudonne Coste and Lieut. Maurice Bellonte, visited the home city of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh today and viewed the trophies presented to the man who made the first solo nonstop flight across the Atlantic.

They landed their travel worn biplane, the Question Mark, at an airport at East St. Louis, Ill., across the Mississippi River from here, at 3:07 p. m., coming here from Kansas City.

A tired reception committee from the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce, which had waited five hours, welcomed the fliers and brought them here in motor cars for the city's official welcome. They had been expected about 10:30 a. m., and a luncheon for 500 persons had been arranged at a hotel, but due to confusion or something the plans went awry. The luncheon was held without the honored guests.

They plan to leave tomorrow before noon for Memphis, Tenn.

Irigoyen Loses Court Plea for His Freedom

Buenos Aires, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—Efforts to obtain through the courts freedom for former President Hipolito Irigoyen, held prisoner aboard the cruiser Buenos Aires, failed today when Federal Judge Jantus ruled out a habeas corpus plea.

The former President maintained he had been illegally arrested by the provisional government that overthrew his government last month.

THE MAN WHO KNOWS

608 12th St. N.W.
Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.
Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

ORIGIN OF FLAMES THAT COST LIFE OF WOMAN UNCERTAIN

Apartment Fire May Have Started in Crates, Is Marshal's Belief.

MELTING GAS METERS HELD SPREADING AID

Investigators of the fire which cost the life of Miss Jessie Cammack, 70 years old, and temporarily made homeless more than 200 residents of the Denver Apartments, 1418 Chapin street northwest, were still undetermined as to the cause last night.

However, Acting Fire Marshal C. G. Achstetter yesterday afternoon stated that, in his opinion, the fire started in some crates which had been used to pack electric refrigerators which were being installed in the building. Spread of the fire, he stated, was aided by melting gas meters in the basement which forced the flames up through the halls to the roof.

Fire Followed Stairs.

The fire followed the stairways, cutting off any means of escape there. By the time firemen arrived flames were shooting up through the roof, but work, which was highly praised by all persons concerned, enabled the firemen to get the flames under control quickly.

One of the first acts of the Fire Department men was to start getting the occupants of the building to safety. They were brought out of windows, lowered from balconies and thrown to safety.

Victim Was Semi-Invalid.

Miss Cammack, the dead woman, was a semi-invalid, partially blind, and occupied an apartment on the fourth floor of the five-story structure. Near her window was a fire escape, and it is believed that if it had not been for her condition she would not have lost her life. She was found later, her body badly burned, after a check-up of the dwellers in the apartment house failed to account for her.

Owners of the building proper estimated that the damage done by the flames and water would amount to at least $50,000, exclusive of the personal property belonging to the tenants.

New Indictment Found Against H. V. Haynes

Harry V. Haynes, former president of the Farmers and Mechanics Bank of Georgetown, yesterday attacked the new indictment returned against him Tuesday in which he is charged with defalcations approximating $170,000.

Haynes has been indicted twice before. The first indictment was renewed because of a faulty grand jury, but in reindicting the man last Tuesday the Government declared that the old indictment was perfectly good and that the new move had been made in order to include additional items totaling $44,369.39. Originally Haynes was indicted on charges involving $125,978.

As in the former indictments, Haynes is charged with misapplying funds of the bank and making false entries on the books of the institution.

Trade Body's Drive Opens Wednesday

Five-Year Expansion Plans of Commerce Chamber Are Prepared.

The five-year expansion program of the Washington Chamber of Commerce will be opened Wednesday with a campaign which will last a week, it was announced yesterday by Rudolph Jose, chairman of the program committee, at a luncheon in the Willard Hotel.

Thomas P. Littlepage, chairman of the general campaign committee, announced that the meeting was for the purpose of forming team organization for the intensive membership and expansion drive.

Edward G. Bliss, lieutenant colonel in charge of campaign organization and his team captains, H. A. Brooks, George E. Kneipp, Ernest J. Spitzer and Darrell P. Aub, held a discussion on a plan of action for the campaign. Mr. Jose will discuss highlights of the campaign in a radio address at 6:45 o'clock tonight over WMAL.

Salesman Is Arrested In Card-Game Fraud

Edward Lee Thompson, 33 years old, an insurance salesman from Atlanta, Ga., was yesterday turned over to Alabama authorities after being held in Washington since his arrest about a week ago at Union Station.

According to the local detective bureau, Thompson was accused by Col. T. Oyama, Japanese military observer now traveling in the United States, of fleecing him out of $800 while in a card game on a train en route from New Orleans to Washington. It was said that Thompson admitted the charges. He was released to the custody of the sheriff from Tuskegee, Ala.

Two Shoplifters Plead Guilty; Are Sentenced

Five women and two men were arraigned in Police Court yesterday on charges of petty larceny as a result of police activities in efforts to break up alleged shoplifting.

Two of the defendants, Bernice Henderson, of Georgia avenue northwest near W street, and Terrell Manning, 55 years old, pleaded guilty and were sentenced. The former was given a 365-day sentence, while the latter was sentenced to serve 60 days in jail. Others arraigned, who pleaded not guilty, are Robert Brown, Thelma W. Hill, Lula Brown, Louise King and Irene Marshall.

Phi Delta Zeta Convenes.

Phi Delta Zeta opened its national convention at the Hotel Mayflower yesterday. Sessions are to continue through today and tomorrow. William J. Shaw, of Washington, national president, has general charge of the convention arrangements.

CITIZEN FEDERATION TO RESUME ACTIVITY

Interest Centers on Clayton as Fall Ushers In New Election Campaign.

HE IS URGED TO RUN

The Federation of Citizens' Associations will inaugurate its winter meetings in the board room in the District Building at 8 o'clock tonight with interest centered on the question of what the friends of William McK. Clayton, veteran defender of the public in utilities battles, will do about the rebuke administered him recently by the Federation executive committee in secret session.

Until the committee, headed by B. A. Bowles, vice president of the Federation, and also a vice president of a bank in Georgetown, undertook to give Mr. Clayton a spanking, Federation politics apparently were dormant.

Dr. George C. Havenner, president of the Federation, is a candidate to succeed himself for a third consecutive term. This is said by veteran delegates to the Federation to be a precedent in its history, although in the past at least one man has served three terms but not consecutive terms.

Opposition Lacks Force.

Opposition was expressed in various quarters to Dr. Havenner's desire to control the Federation for a third year in succession but apparently the opposition had not come to an effective head, one or two persons who were approached having refused to permit their names to be put in nomination. One of these, W. I. Swanson, was the candidate of the so-called liberal wing of the Federation which was beaten by the Havenner machine two years ago.

Dr. Havenner was out of the city when Mr. Bowles and members of the executive committee administered the rebuke to Mr. Clayton in secret session, but the federation president gave his approval to the action on his return to the city when he formally advised the Public Utilities Commission of the committee's action disavowing Mr. Clayton's demand for a valuation of the Washington Gas Light Co. before approval was given to any new rate schedule. The rate schedule since has been approved by the commission.

Mr. Clayton has not been in the good graces of the Havenner group and at the last election there was an effort to unseat him as chairman of the public utilities committee, which he had headed for years. Reports of such a plan, however, resulted in such a rallying about the veteran utilities expert of the federation that Dr. Havenner reappointed him chairman of the committee, but selected for the committee personnel delegates who were generally known to be antagonistic or not overfriendly to the chairman.

Clayton Is Urged to Run.

Efforts have been made in the past to persuade Mr. Clayton to run for the presidency of the federation, but he has declined to do so. Angered by the action of Messrs. Havenner, Bowles and members of the executive committee, friends of Mr. Clayton are said to be endeavoring to persuade him to be a candidate this year. If they are not successful it is likely they will turn to some other delegate about whom they hope to rally sufficient support to make at least a respectable race.

Charles I. Stengle, who has been one of Dr. Havenner's lieutenants, may be a candidate. He is represented as being in a "Barkis is willin'" mood. Mr. Stengle was one of those who took part in the committee meeting which sought to limit Mr. Clayton in the performance of his duties as utilities committee chairman.

The annual election of the federation is to be held next month, and even if Dr. Havenner is reelected his third year as czar of the federation will be much rougher than have been the last two years if threats of delegates who have been listed as his supporters are carried out. Several have predicted that things will be "much livelier" this year than last and added that "there have been several things in the past that I'm not going to see done again this year."

SHIP BOARD TO HELP FIND JOBS FOR 750

No Danger Many Workers Will Be Thrown Out at Once, Says Chairman.

ORDER IS POINTED OUT

The United States Shipping Board will do its utmost to find jobs for the 750 employes who are to be dropped as a result of the reorganization of the Merchant Fleet Corp., it was announced yesterday. Many of the employes, it was said, will be able to land positions with the companies that have taken over the Fleet Corporation ships.

Chairman T. V. O'Connor, of the Shipping Board, made it clear that there was no danger that a great many employes would be abruptly thrown out, and he called attention to an order issued to department heads by J. Caldwell Jenkins, vice president of the Fleet Corporation. This said:

"In connection with the inauguration of the Shipping Board's plan of placing into effect the lump sum agreement and the necessary reorganization to meet this new arrangement, you should take steps to see that employes in your department do not get the impression that there is to be a wholesale dismissal of those who have rendered long and faithful service with the corporation.

"The necessary readjustment is simply a continuation of the liquidation program which has been going on for some years past, during which most of our employes have been successful in making outside connections or transfer to other departments of the Government. Every consideration will be shown employes in assisting them to obtain employment, as in the past, with steamship operators who have taken over Shipping Board lines, and other private owners. Generous treatment will be shown all employes affected, and every assistance given them to obtain transfer to other and perhaps more lucrative positions with outside agencies."

Baptist Campaign Announced.

Dr. John E. Briggs, rector of the Fifth Baptist Church, announces an evangelistic campaign to begin in that church October 19 and to continue until November 2. It will be conducted by the Carey Barker-Martin party.

Rosicrucian Services Planned.

Rosicrucian services will be held at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning at 2040 S street. The sermon will be on "Faith."

SCHOOL'S PLATOON SYSTEM REVIEWED

HIGHLY LAUDS PRINCIPAL

The platoon school program which has been in existence at the Park View School for nearly ten years is an excellent program, but the accommodations at present are not entirely satisfactory for a platoon type of elementary school.

This is the gist of a report made to school officials by Miss Alice Barrows, school specialist in the United States office of education of the Department of Interior. Miss Barrows supplements her praise and criticism with suggestions for a platoon school program at the Park View School. The report was drawn up by Miss Barrows at the request of the Board of Education.

High praise is given Miss Emily Scrivener, principal of the school. "She knows the needs of her school," says Miss Barrows in the report, "and is well equipped to plan an admirable school program. Full latitude should be given my suggestions on behalf of the principal. The principal agrees with the survey staff as to the capacity of the school, and she has proved her ability in the past to plan an excellent platoon program. Therefore, she will know how to modify the suggested program to the best advantage in view of any conditions that may be different now from what they were at the time of the survey."

Miss Barrows' criticism centers on size of classrooms. Some of the rooms are too large and others are not uniform for platoon work, the specialist points out. Two additions to the school are now being used. Miss Barrows indicates that all setbacks can be overcome at the school, leading to a good platoon school program. She points out that no platoon school comes under the category of "best."

$7,000 Declared Too Much For Model of Civic Center

The sum of $7,000 is too much to pay for a cardboard model of the proposed $35,000,000 Municipal Center, the District Commissioners agreed yesterday when they concurred in the recommendation of Albert L. Harris, municipal architect, and rejected bids submitted to supply a model of the center.

When specifications were drawn by Mr. Harris they called for either a plaster or a cardboard model. One bid of $3,500 was submitted for a plaster model. One bid of $7,000 was submitted for the cardboard model.

After the bids were opened, however, Mr. Harris urged their rejection because the cardboard model is really the type desired, so that it will conform with the Federal building Mall development group, and for various other reasons.

Purchase of two lots for the Municipal Center was approved by the Commissioners yesterday on recommendation of Maj. H. L. Robb, assistant Engineer Commissioner. One lot was offered by Thomas Terrett and Maude E. Terrett for $14,400, and the other by Mason P. and Louise H. Morfit for $13,430.

SMITH WITNESS SAYS PITTS PAID HIM TO HIDE OUT

Former Janitor Brought Back From Florida to Aid Case of Government.

EXPRESSES GREAT FEAR, BUT HE IS REASSURED

Joseph Howard Is Alleged to Have uBrned Records of Firm in Question.

Joseph Howard, missing witness in the F. H. Smith conspiracy embezzlement case, was returned to Washington yesterday and following his appearance before Justice Joseph W. Cox, was released under $1,000 bond.

Howard, former janitor of the Smith Building on Fifteenth street near H street northwest, is alleged to have been apprehended in Florida several days ago. He returned to the District without resort to process of law, but expressed so much fear that Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw told him to pay no attention to any one who sought to question him except two Department of Justice agents, the deputy marshal who had him in custody at that time, and his bondsman.

Howard, according to the Government, is alleged to have hidden and burned the records of the Smith Co. In April this year he testified before the grand jury and immediately afterward disappeared. Since then, the Government claims, every time he has been sought he has been missing.

Fortunately, Government agents state, Howard was captured several weeks ago in a speakeasy raid in Florida. Since then he has been held in custody.

On the stand before Justice Cox yesterday, the Negro stated that on at least one occasion Pitts had paid him $200 to hide away. Howard was brought to Washington early yesterday morning, but was not arraigned until later in the day. He stated that any statement which he was supposed to produce would be forthcoming only from the United States Attorney's office or the Department of Justice office.

Virginian Out on Bond In Car-Crash Fatality

George H. Snyder, member of a prominent Winchester (Va.) family, was released on $2,500 bond yesterday charged with manslaughter and reckless driving in connection with the recent death of Raymond L. Bowly in an automobile accident near Winchester.

Bowly had stopped on the highway to assist Mrs. Eleanor Walter and E. C. Johnson, of Washington, from a wrecked car when Snyder's car is said to have careened down the road, striking Mr. Bowly and Vincent Hollis, of Winchester. The latter was seriously injured.

Girl, 17, Given License To Run Radio Station

Miss Barbara Russell Sprague, 17 years old, of 1201 Massachusetts avenue northwest, yesterday was granted a commercial radio operators license. She is said to be the youngset woman operator ever licensed by the Government.

She was the only girl among 300 pupils at the Loomis Radio School of this city. Miss Sprague is particularly interested in radio identification and crimnology and has expermented with radio since she was a small girl.

Former District Girls See Red Riot

Letters Here Describe Recent Communist Outburst in Hankow.

Letters from two Washington girls, Mrs. J. Lewis Clark, the former Anne Covington, and Mrs. George M. Graves, who was Winifred West, recount harrowing experiences during the recent Communist riots in the teeming city of Hankow, China, where they are now living. Mrs. Clark tells of beheaded Communists' bodies lying in the streets for hours, and Mrs. Graves, while motoring through the city, had the terrifying experience of seeing a score of rebels beheaded by Orientals, who set about their crime in a nonchalant manner.

Life in Hankow, declare the former Washington society girls, offers little inspiration for gaiety, even among the fortunate foreign colonists living there.

Mrs. Clark is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. J. Harry Covington. Her marriage to Mr. Clark, who is attached to the consular office at Hankow, took place in Washington last spring. Mrs. Graves is the daughter of Mrs. Frank West, of Georgetown. Mr. Graves, also in the foreign service, is vice consul there.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

CIGAR CHAIN STORES AND LITERATURE.

CHAIN cigar stores are now selling books. This may or may not do something to disprove the old adage that you can't tell a book by its wrapper.

* * * *

When a clerk sees a customer enter a cigar store these days he doesn't know whether he is a tobacco addict or a bookworm. He is at a loss to classify him as a heavy smoker or a light reader. The hardest job a cigar store clerk is having is to break himself of the habit of saying, when a customer picks out a book, "Could we interest you in a box of those at a special price for this week only?"

* * * *

An executive of a leading chain of stores is quoted as saying he is having great difficulty stopping clerks from offering a packet of matches with every novel.

* * * *

"I'm sure you'll like that one," the clerk is apt to say to a man who has just selected the book of the month. "It will burn evenly."

* * * *

Or conversely, "It's a pleasure to sell you that cigar, sir. It has suspense, power, action and plenty of color. I don't know a smoke on the market that portrays life more vividly. You can tell before you are half way through that cigar that the author has lived it."

* * * *

* * * *

"WHAT kind of a book do you wish" asks the clerk of the customer who asks for a novel.

"I can't quite make up my mind," replies the customer.

"Fairly strong," replies the customer.

"I inhale the lighter novels, but not the stronger ones. My doctor says I shouldn't."

"Are you a heavy reader?"

"Oh, I smoke two or three novels a day."

* * * *

"I want something in a good panatela," he says.

"Fiction, nonfiction or biography?" asks the clerk.

"I don't quite follow you. What do you recommend?"

"We are selling a lot of Ludwigs, Fannie Hursts and Van Vechtens just now. I have one customer who buys Ludwigs in lots of 500."

* * * *

Customers are as confused as the clerks. It frequently happens that a man comes into a chain cigar store and tries to light a novel at the electric lighter. And then there is the trying problem of the customer who tries to open a cigar and see if there are any illustrations.

Add similes: As ambitious as a man who insists on going around a demitasse golf course with his wooden clubs.

THE business situation must have improved. One of the unmistakable signs is that fewer people are showing resistance when Pullman porters offer to brush their hats.

GAS STATION KILLING SUSPECT RETURNED

HUNTED FOR TWO YEARS

Joseph Hardy, 22 years old, a Negro classed as a desperado by local police and under indictment for murder in connection with the slaying of Philbert H. Bitner, manager of the Lord Baltimore filling station at Sixth street and Rhode Island avenue northwest on November 30, 1928, was brought back to the District from Baltimore last night. He was captured there three days ago.

The search for Hardy began two years ago, when he was linked with the shooting case by three other Negroes who were arrested for the murder. He dropped out of sight the day following the killing.

The three men, Carl Terry, 22; James E. Crawford, 17, and Benjamin A. Branson, 26, told police that Hardy was the one who shot Bitner in the abdomen with a .45-caliber revolver when he resisted their attempt to rob him. Bitner died soon after being taken to Garfield Hospital.

Terry was tried on a murder charge and was acquitted by a District Supreme Court jury. The same jury found Crawford guilty and he was sentenced to be executed, but the sentence was later changed to life imprisonment. Branson was sentenced to serve twenty years in the penitentiary.

It was said yesterday that information which led to Hardy's capture was supplied Baltimore police by an inmate in the city jail in that city, who overheard Hardy bragging of his part in the affair.

District Asked to Run Tuberculosis Clinic

The District government should take over the children's tuberculosis clinic and the occupational therapy service for patients at the Tuberculosis Hospital, a committee of the Washington Tuberculosis association told the District Commissioners yesterday.

Dr. George M. Kober, president of the association, headed the comittee and presented its request. The work now is done by the association at a cost of $5,000 a year, Dr. Kober said. This money is raised through the sale of Christmas seals. The District should do the work and the association could expend its funds for other problems in the fight against the disease. The Commissioners said they would consider the proposal. Members of the committee included Mrs. Ernest Grant, Dr. F. C. Smith, Walter S. Pratt, jr., Dr. Viola Anderson, secretary of the association, Miss Gertrude Bowling and Walter Hatch.

Boy Injured by Auto.

John Adams, 15 years old, of 652 F street northeast, was knocked down by a hit-and-run auto while riding a bicycle on Bladensburg road and Eighteenth street northeast. He was taken to his home, where a private physician treated him for a sprained back. His condition is not believed serious. Police are looking for the driver of the car.

35-CENT TAXICABS PROFITABLE, CLAIM

People's Counsel Issues Data Bearing on War Against Business.

7 PER CENT HELD RETURN

Efforts of the Public Utilities Commission to drive the 35-cent flat rate taxicabs out of business in Washington, will not have the support of Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel.

Justification for the efforts to drive the flat rate cabs out of business has been sought on the ground that the operators of the cabs could not make enough money to provide a decent profit or living.

Reports received by Mr. Keech from two companies operating a number of 35-cent flat rate cabs show that the companies are making a profit of 7 per cent on their investment.

So far as the earnings of the drivers go, the companies reported that the average daily wage of a driver has been $5.35 a day since the introduction of the flat rate taxi system in the District. The companies employe 200 drivers, their reports to Mr. Keech show. In February and March, when business was at its peak, drivers earned from $45 to $50 a week, it was said.

The figures made public by Mr. Keech were the first which indicated such a profitable condition in the 35-cent flat rate taxi business. Commission officials have declared that financial reports filed by large and small owners show that the business has not been a profitable one and that the drivers are in some cases in desperate circumstances, some having to depend on charity for necessities for their families.

The figures furnished Mr. Keech yesterday were given by companies which rent cabs at $4.80 a day to drivers, with 100 miles allowed.

Pratt Launches Drive To Keep City Cleaner

Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of the Metropolitan Police Department, yesterday issued a plea to members of the force and citizens of Washington to join in a movement to keep the city cleaner.

In issuing the statement to the members of the force the superintendent said: "Our purpose at all times is to do our individual parts in keeping the city in the cleanest possible condition. Personal effort and pride in the appearance of Washington will accomplish this result."

Eight Mules Bought By Commission Order

This may be the age of machinery and motor cars and Old Dobbin may be a thing of the romantic past but the old-time mule still is a useful animal the District Commissioners decided yesterday.

Purchase of eight mules for use at the District penal institutions at Lorton, Va., was authorized by the Commissioners. The mules were offered the District by A. Rice Son & Co. for $247.50 each. This was the lowest bid submitted. The mules are to be delivered from time to time as needed.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA stood in the doorway, arguing with a young fellow trying to sell her something. I've warned her against this, time and again. You never can tell when a bandit is liable to show up.

"What was all the converse about?" I asked, as she resumed her sewing. "Did you know that young man?"

She looked at me over her handiwork, expecting the usual rebuke.

"What did he want?" I asked.

"He wanted me to send him to college."

The nerve of these fellows.

* * * *

"HE wanted you to send him to college? And what did you tell him?"

"What would you have told him?" she countered.

As wrath gripped me, she cautioned quiet. "Never mind," she said, "I told him the same thing, only in much politer language."

Well, I'm glad of that. These fellows who seek to earn a college education by going from door to door, pestering good housewives, should find other means of realizing their dreams; borrowing money from the bank, for instance.

The door bell rang again, and this time Luella remained at the threshold somewhat longer than usual. Another handsome young man engaged her attention.

"And what did he want?" I asked, as she resumed her sewing once more.

"He, he," she giggled, "he wants to go to college, too."

Well, I'll be doggone. What's going on around this neighborhood? Has everybody suddenly decided on a college education? As I pondered this weighty thought the door bell rang again. This time, I answered it.

* * * *

"I'M trying to work my way through college——" the young man stammered.

"And I'm mighty glad you called here," I told him, "for I'm estblishing a college, and as soon as you make your collections I'd like to have you join the student body."

That was enough. The young man vanished.

"What did he want?" asked Luella.

"Well, he didn't want a college education," I answered.

"How do you know?"

"Because I offered to give him one and he 'beat it'."

"Isn't it too bad," mused Luella. "Those who really want to go to college you run away from the house, and those who can get a college education won't take it."

That sums it up. The perversity of human nature.

GAZERS TO GATHER ON "TIN CAN" ISLE

Eclipse of Sun Will Last 93½ Seconds There on October 22.

4 MILES IN DIAMETER

New York, Oct. 3 (A.P.).—For a 93½-second view of the sun's eclipse October 22, American and European astronomers will gather on an island in the antipodes only 4 miles in diameter.

The place is Niuafou, near the Figis, one of two small islands which are the only land the total trail touches.

There is no other celestial or earthly view so brief and uncertain as a solar eclipse upon which man spends so much effort and money.

Astronomers notoriously have little money, so that to raise funds for these trips they need alluring prospects.

Those prospects largely are based upon man's future, the possibility of observing something in the sun that may point the way to practical achievement.

Helium Was Discovered.

This has been done in the past, notably in the discovery of helium.

One future prospect concerns power. The sun's radiation—which causes loss of 250 million tons of its mass every minute—is so intense that astronomers have estimated the temperature at its center at possibly 75 million degrees Fahrenheit.

No kind of earthly fire is known which could produce this vast power, and there are speculations that the sun and other stars possess some mechanism as yet unknown to account for their radiation.

This kind of radiation is attributed by some scientists to annihilation of matter.

For example, when coal is burned, most of it goes into smoke, gas and ash, which is merely a change of form. But annihilation of a piece of coal the size of a pea is estimated to produce enough power to run a liner across the Atlantic.

Effect of Annihilation.

Total eclipses, are in some respects, the only opportunities astronomers have to study the sun's make-up.

So at Niuafou they will observe the white corona of light far outside the edges of the sun; the red chromosphere close in; the "reversing layer;" the sun's usrface that in spectroscopes is ordinarily black because of absorbed light, but which can be seen just before totality as a white hot surface; and the sun's power to bend light rays from the stars that Einstein predicted. They also will undertake numerous delicate measurements, such as trying to determine the amount of dust between earth and sun.

Prof. S. A. Mitchell, director of Leander McCormick Observatory of the University of Virginia, directs the scientific work. Commander C. H. J. Keppler, of the Navy, is in administrative charge. The United States Naval Observatory sponsors the expedition.

Capital G.O.P. Unit To Meet on Monday

Absentee Voters League to Discuss Congressional Elections at Event.

A meeting of the League of Republican Organizations will be held Monday afternoon at 1010 Seventeenth street. The subject of the meeting will be "Congressional Elections."

Speakers will be Mrs. Virginia W. Speel and Edward F. Colladay, members of the national committee for the District of Columbia, and E. A. Chaffee, reading clerk of the House of Representatives.

The League of Republican Organizations, under the direction of the Republican State committee, maintains a bureau of information for absentee voters at 1331 G street northwest. A special meeting of the league will be held on Tuesday, October 21, in honor of Senator Simeon E. Fess, chairman of the Republican national committee.

Talley Named Chairman Of Scout Committee

J. Wallace Talley has been named chairman of the planning and program committee for the third annual scout leaders' training conference, to be held October 26 and 27, for District of Columbia leaders.

Woman Badly Injured When Struck by Auto

Mrs. Julia S. Hopper, of Bon Air, Va., was in a serious condition at Emergency Hospital last night after being struck by an automobile at the intersection of Fourteenth and K streets northwest yesterday afternoon.

Roy O. Rule, of Baltimore, driver of the car, told police that the woman stepped from the curb directly in front of his car. The woman suffered a possible fractured skull and probable internal injuries. Rule was held at the Third Precinct station.

Miss Merritt Will Speak.

An address by Miss E. F. G. Merritt, former supervising principal of public schools in the District, will be the feature of the promotion day exercises at Zion Baptist Church School Sunday afternoon. The pastor, the Rev. W. L. Washington, will install the newly elected officers.

Woman's Jewelry Is Stolen.

Jewelry valued at $170 and a small amount of change were stolen from a beauty parlor operated in the Kreage Building by Mrs. Evelyn Wenrick, of 2005 Columbia road northwest. Mrs. Wenrick reported the theft to police yesterday.

Rural letter carriers in the United States travel 1,302,105 miles daily and 398,444,130 miles annually.
